PREPARE yourselves for thrill number 2. Mr. Tuney is up. Mr. Dempsey is down. They will fight again next spring. The noble-minded "prize-fight fans" will have had time to collect two millions more for tickets.

Perhaps Mr. Dempsey will be up next time, Mr. Tunney down, in which case think of the intense excitement and joy of a third fight to come soon thereafter.

THE moving picture world, a big one with tens of millions that look upon it as the only world of importance, wonders what Estelle Taylor will do now that the champion she [illegible] champion no longer. Everybody knows what Napoleon's second wife did. When he ceased to be champion she forgot all about him. But no moving picture actress could do that and beside he may be champion again — Napoleon came back from Elba.

MORE shooting and killing in China with the United States mixed in the row. In the league of nations council China's spokesman accuses Great Britain of killing Chinese coldly, wrecking Chinese ships and small boats, drowning 100 passengers.

What Great Britain does to China and the other way 'round is not our business.

WHY must we interfere? Admire Judge Wilbur F. Bryant, seventy-five years old, a just man obeying the law of Nebraska he sentenced criminals to jail on a bread and water diet and is called "inhuman."

He replies by sentencing himself to a bread and water diet, losing ten pounds in five days, and telling the world, "if I can stand it at seventy-five years of age, bootleggers can stand it at thirty."

ARTHUR FORREST DIES WHEN HIS SKIFF HITS SECTION OF 'BEAR TRAP'

New Cumberland Man Loses Life While Working "Day Off" of Fellow Employe.

TRAGEDY OCCURS IN DARK HOURS

"I am All Right" He Tells Co-worker, and Then Victim's Body Disappears.

Arthur Forrest, 60, clerk at dam No. 9, near New Cumberland, was drowned in the Ohio river at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after he had been thrown from a skiff in which he and another workman were raising the "bear trap" in the locks. His body had not been recovered at 2 p. m. today.

Jarred from Skiff.

Forrest, who has resided in New Cumberland for many years, was substituting for another dam employe, who had been given a day off. Accompanied by Zella McIntosh, another employe at the locks, Forrest set out in a skiff shortly before daybreak to raise the "bear trap."

The boat, McIntosh said struck a section of the trap, the sudden jolt throwing Forrest into the water. McIntosh claimed that he called to Forrect and the latter replied: "I'm all right." A few seconds later Forrest sank.

McIntosh hurried to the dam house and notified other employes. The river was dragged with grappling hooks all day Sunday.

Forrest is survived by his widow and on son, Edwin Forrest, at home. He was a member of the New Cumberland Christian church.

POLICE CHIEF FULTZ FIGHT IS REOPENED

Wellsville Asks Appellate Court for New Trial.

MAY END BATTLE

Common Pleas Order Reinstated Head of Department.

The city of Wellsville's fight to carry the ouster move against Chief of Police John H. Fultz into court of appeals from the common pleas decision which reinstated the police head, was scheduled to get under way this afternoon before the higher tribunal in Youngstown.

At 1:30 o'clock, counsel representing both the city and the chief were ready to argue the city's motion for a new trial before Judges John Pollock, J. W. Roberts and Louis T. Farr, as the court reconvened following luncheon.

Fultz was represented by Attorneys Ben L. Bennett, F. E. Grosshans and W. A. O'Grady. City Solicitor S. C. Luccock and Attorney Blaine Cochran represented the city.

Fultz, "fired" from duty by Wellsville civil service commission, was reinstated by Judge W. H. Spence after a hearing in common pleas court at Lisbon.

The city then filed a motion for a hearing before the court of appeals which this month is sitting in Mahoning county.

Saturday, counsel for Fultz moved to have the appellate court strike the city's appeal from its files, asserting that court has no jurisdiction in the case.

Suicide Verdict In Death of Man Who Wounded Wife

HARRISVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 4.—A suicide verdict was returned by the coroner today in the death of John Vetiz, 53, coal miner, who shot his wife in the head, seriously wounding her, and then killed himself as they lay in bed in their home at Duncanwood last night.

The coroner's report stated Vetiz had come home from his work at Kenwood to spend Sunday and he and his wife renewed a quarrel which had been the cause of Vetiz being locked up at Cadiz recently.

LEGION PLANS SMOKER TONIGHT

Plans for the national convention to be held in Philadelphia next week will be discussed at the weekly meeting of East Liverpool Post No. 4, American Legion, in the Legion home, 633 Dresden avenue, at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The session will be in the form of a smoker.

A. E. Clark Resigns Choirmaster Place; Goes to Indiana

Prof. Albert E. Clark, organist and choirmaster at the St. Stephens Episcopal church, has resigned his position, effective October 31, to accept a similar post at the St. Paul's Episcopal church in Evansville, Ind.

Prof. Clark will have charge of a boys' choir of 35 voices and a three-manual Pilcher organ of 36 stops, recently installed in the Evansville church. He will take up his new duties on Nov. 2.

Since coming to East Liverpool, Prof. Clark has organized a boys' choir of 35 voices, made the choir boys' camp an annual event and given an annual presentation dinner to members of the choir.

OL' ST. LOUIS, BASEBALL MAD, TO BE PAINTED RED TONIGHT

Fans go Cuckoo Over Homeward-bound Cardinals.

DREAM REALIZED

Yanks are Coming, But Germans do Not Fear Them.

By W. F. SULLIVAN.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Ol' St. Louis is going to be painted red tonight — a bright cardinal red.

The fans have gone cuckoo over their Red birds, who come back to their home roost late this afternoon for the first time since they won the National league pennant.

For 38 years St. Louis fans dreamed of a day such as this and those who have lived to see their dreams realized will participate in the rousing welcome that is planned when the Cardinals arrive here from New York. Some have grown to be grandfathers, others have grown long gray beards and others have passed away before they saw the pennant come back to this side of the Mississippi river.

When the heroes step from the train at the union station, the signal will be given to touch off the powder in the celebration keg and the roof is expected to be raised from the train sheds.

One Proud Family.

It is true the Yanks are coming but the Germans in this town do not fear them. Neither do their allies, the Irish, Swedes, French, Italians and others. It is just one big, proud family that will meet their victorious Cardinals who come marching home tonight.

The fans here heard the reverberation of the Cardinals' heavy artillery echoing from the Yankee stadium yesterday and their fears of Saturday were dispelled. They may hold this confidence but a short time but it was present today and they were as proud of their Red birds as any peacock that majestically strutted in a gilded cage.

Hornsby, Southworth, the old master, Alexander and, in fact, the whole team are due to be mobbed. The more rational ones fear that some of the team will be injured by well-intended but over-zealous affect on them.

That the town is going to be painted red is not a figurative statement. Many of the paint stores have announced they have sold out that particular color. Everybody is seeing red and the sidewalks of St. Louis, the streets and boulevards will have a bright new coating if plans are carried out.

Scalpers are taking advantage of the careless ones. Over night the

Call For Bids On $83,000 Civic Improvement Program

Proposals Will be Opened Oct. 8, 15 and 18 on Street and Sewer Jobs.

Bids for street and sewer improvement work, estimated to cost approximately $83,838.04, will be received during October, Service-Stafety Director John W. Moore announced today.

Seven projects will be considered on October 8, another on October 15 and a ninth on October 18. Date for bids on a sanitary sewer in Sutton alley has not been set.

Property holders will pay $66,992.92 of the cost, while the city's share will be $16,845.12. The estimated bill for three street improvement jobs—St. Clair avenue, Avondale street and Fourth street—is $66,994, while sewers will cost approximately $16,844.

Bids will be received Friday on the following sewer contracts: Edgewood avenue and Hazel street; Ephraim street, Riley and Laura avenue; Garfield street; Briar alley and St. John street. Proposals for the resurfacing of East and West Fourth streets be

GIRL SPRAINS ANKLE IN FALL

Miss Violet Snowden, Smithfield street, is suffering from a sprained left ankle, and a lacerated right knee, as a result of a fall at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, as she alighted from a Thompson park car at the Gardendale stop. The accident occurred when Miss Snowden stepped on a loose stone. Her injuries were dressed by Dr. W. G. McDade.

Bank Bandit's Shots Hit Two Bystanders; Boy, 11, May Die

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 4.—Earl Selbert, 11, was expected to die today at St. Mary's hospital here and Mark Burger, 32, a barber, was nursing gunshot wounds because a bank bandit's shots went wild shortly after midnight when an attempt was made to hold up John Hughes, bank messenger, carrying $6,000.

Hughes was returning to the Brotherhood of Railway clerks' National bank with Sunday receipts of certain Cincinnati theatres. He was stopped near the bank by four bandits in a sedan. The shots which injured the bystanders tore off Hughes' hat. He returned fire suddenly at close range and is beleived to have killed one of the bandits as the car roared away to get out of his range of fire.

New Lexington Lad At Ohio Wesleyan Shoots Himself

DELAWARE, O., Oct., 4.—Physicians were trying today to save the life of Charles A. Donnelly, 19, of New Lexington, Ohio, an Ohio Wesleyan university freshman, who fired two bullets into his brain and one above his heart in his room here today.

University authorities and friends of Donnelly were at a loss to account for a motive for the shooting.

Mrs. Laura Crumm, in whose home Donnelly lived, told Sheriff Fred Harter that Donnelly returned to Delaware from his home in New Lexington last night, apparently in good spirits.

MISSING MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN WOODS NEAR QUAKER CITY

John Chudy, 48, Grinder, Uses Sash Cord to End Life.

HAD BEEN ILL

Victim Disappeared Sept. 14 From His Boarding House.

The badly decomposed body of John Chudy, 48, Mullins Body company employe, of Salem, who had been missing since Sept. 14, was found hanging from the limb of a tree in Tolerton's woods, off Depot road, south of Salem, last night.

Used Window Sash Cord.

The discovery was made by E. G. and A. C. Seberyn, brothers, and friends of the missing man, members of a searching party which was organized after Chudy disappeared.

Study is believed to have been despondent because of ill health.

"Suicide by hanging" was the verdict returned by Coroner J. M. Van Fossan after an inquest today.

The Seberyn brothers were returning to their home after having tramped through the woods all day when they found the body. Around the neck of the man's body was wound a window sash cord, fastened to the branch of a felled tree. The victim's knees rested upon the ground and the tips of his fingers almost touched the ground.

Gold Teeth Aid In Identification.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification from the features was impossible. Two gold teeth however, served to make identification certain.

Chudy came to the United States in 1900 from Poland. He located in Salem in 1914, being employed as a grinder at the Mullins plant. He roomed at 19 Perry street.

Chudy is said to have a wife and five children residing in Poland; a brother in Pittsburgh and a sister in Philadelphia.

Joseph Veres, 12, Richmond, Kicked by Horse; May Die

Joseph Veres, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Veres, Sr., near Richmond, Jefferson county, is in the City hospital in a critical condition as the result of being kicked in the abdomen by a horse Sunday morning. The boy was admitted to the hospital at 3:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon, being rushed here in an automobile. He was attended by Dr. W. A. Hobbs.

ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO MODIFY OHIO'S PRIMARY WHICH WILL BE SUBMITTED TO VOTERS ON NOV. 2

The state emergency board has failed to grant the request of Secretary of State Thad Brown for funds to meet the cost of preparing a "publicity pamphlet" on the proposed constitutional amendment to modify Ohio's primary law.

Without cost to the state, the Review-Tribune today prints the pro and con arguments on the proposal which will be submitted to Columbiana county voters on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The arguments, released by the Columbiana county election board are:

Arguments for Primary Amendment.

"This proposed amendment to the constitution does not abolish the primary. It modifies it so that conventions may be held, provided delegates are elected at primaries. This is mandatory. No legislature could provide for conventions, the delegates to which are otherwise selected.

"The primary system has made it impossible for a poor man to be a candidate for state office unless his campaign is financed by others, which is highly dangerous to the public interest. Eventually it must result in corruption and scandal.

"The primary has not resulted in a rule of the people. Few votes are cast at the primary. Therefore the politicians of a few big cities can get together and nominate a state ticket, as an unbroken line of experience has demonstrated.

"The primary has destroyed party responsibility. Under it there is no chance for party leaders to get together and consider the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of the party. The people no longer write platforms. This is done by candidates who are thinking more of their own success than of party welfare. Consequently platforms no longer represent principles in which the public is interested, but compromises and evasions of candidates.

"Under the primary, campaigns have grown continuous. No man worthy of high office will spend money or de[illegible] the time now necessary to make a campaign. Consequently able men will no longer seek office. This [illegible] a large field of unknown candidates for whom the rank and file vote at random.

"The cost of the primary is one of the real burdens of the taxpayers. It has cost as $14 a vote in some localities, the general average will be in excess of a dollar for every vote cast in the state.

"Committee:
"CHARLES L. KNIGHT,
"H. H. TIMKIN,
"LOUIS H. BRUSH,
"ROBERT A. TAFT,

Argument Against Primary Amendment.

"The constitution of Ohio provides that nominations for elective officers shall be made at direct primary elections, except as such as may be authorized by petition. This constitutional provision should be retained, because:

"1—Of the right given to every individual voter of the state to participate in the selection of public officials.

"2—The 'right of suffrage' is one of the fundamental and basic principles of democracy. No legislative act should jeopardize this right.

"3 — This proposed amendment

Gold Teeth Aid In Identification.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification from the features was impossible. Two gold teeth however, served to make identification certain.

ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO MODIFY OHIO'S PRIMARY WHICH WILL BE SUBMITTED TO VOTERS ON NOV. 2

The state emergency board has failed to grant the request of Secretary of State Thad Brown for funds to meet the cost of preparing a "publicity pamphlet" on the proposed constitutional amendment to modify Ohio's primary law.

Without cost to the state, the Review-Tribune today prints the pro and con arguments on the proposal which will be submitted to Columbiana county voters on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The arguments, released by the Columbiana county election board are:

Arguments for Primary Amendment.

"This proposed amendment to the constitution does not abolish the primary. It modifies it so that conventions may be held, provided delegates are elected at primaries. This is mandatory. No legislature could provide for conventions, the delegates to which are otherwise selected.

"The primary system has made it impossible for a poor man to be a candidate for state office unless his campaign is financed by others, which is highly dangerous to the public interest. Eventually it must result in corruption and scandal.

"The primary has not resulted in a rule of the people. Few votes are cast at the primary. Therefore the politicians of a few big cities can get together and nominate a state ticket, as an unbroken line of experience has demonstrated.

"The primary has destroyed party responsibility. Under it there is no chance for party leaders to get together and consider the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of the party. The people no longer write platforms. This is done by candidates who are thinking more of their own success than of party welfare. Consequently platforms no longer represent principles in which the public is interested, but compromises and evasions of candidates.

"Under the primary, campaigns have grown continuous. No man worthy of high office will spend money or de[illegible] to make [illegible] able men [illegible] seek offic[illegible] of unkno[illegible] rank and [illegible]

"The c[illegible] the real [illegible] has cost [illegible] localities [illegible] be in exc[illegible] cast in t[illegible]

"Committee:
"CHARLES L. KNIGHT,
"H. H. TIMKIN,
"LOUIS H. BRUSH,
"ROBERT A. TAFT,

Argument Against Primary Amendment.

"The constitution of Ohio provides that nominations for elective officers shall be made at direct primary elections, except as such as may be authorized by petition. This constitutional provision should be retained, because:

"1—Of the right given to every individual voter of the state to participate in the selection of public officials.

"2—The 'right of suffrage' is one of the fundamental and basic principles of democracy. No legislative act should jeopardize this right.

"3 — This proposed amendment

Missouri Doctor Invents Better Rupture Method

Rational Method For Home Use Takes the Place of Old Trusses

Having no leg-straps, no elastic belt, no cruel binding spring bands, no "plug" pads, and declared by many users to be superior to every type of truss used by them, a special type appliance of common sense principles for groin rupture is the latest invention of Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 4844 Koch Building, 2906 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo. The Doctor has long specialized on rupture. He will gladly send his appliance on trial to any ruptured person who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he may refer. If you have groin rupture and wish quick relief from your old truss torment with improvement and safe protection take advantage of his offer. Write him today.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these year he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutin won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Miss Mary Davidson is confined by illness to her home in Broadway.

Nearly $14,000,000 will be spent by one city alone in Japan for construction of electric car lines.

A fish packing plant to be built in Argentina will handle 100 tons of fish daily.

"CASCARETS" FOR HEADACHES, COLDS, CONSTIPATION

To-night! Clean your bowels and stop headache, cold sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret to-night to cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, a bad cold, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

Q. What shades of silk are to be shown this Fall? E. L. B.

A. Sales of silk during the months of July and August indicate that black, white and navy blue are as popular as ever. Outside of these the most popular shades were reds, blues, greens, browns, and grays. There are of course many varying shades in each of these colors.

Q. I would like to know what the Indians used for fish hooks? H. S. F.

A. The following is an extract from an article prepared by the Bureau of American Ethnology: "Starting from the simple device of attaching the bait to the end of a line, the progressive order of fishhooks used by the Indians seem to be as follows: (a) The gorge hook, a spike of bone or wood, sharpened at both ends and fastened at its middle to a line, a device used also for catching birds; (b) a spike set obliquely in the end of a pliant shaft; (c) the plain hook; (d) the barbed hook; (e) the barbed hook combined with sinker and lure. This series does not exactly represent stages in invention; the evolution may have been effected by the habits of the different species of fish and their increasing wariness. The material used for hooks by the Indians was wood, bone, shell, stone and copper. The Mohave employed the recurved spines of cactus, which are natural hooks."

Q. Can an American obtain a position as a member of the Royal Mounted Police? H. A. K.

A. The Royal Mounted Police Force of Canada is a Canadian organization and is not accepting any but Canadian citizens at the present time.

Q. During the World War I contracted tuberculosis. The disease has now been arrested and I am drawing $10 a month compensation. Am I entitled to the $50 per month under the bill passed by the last Congress? J. C. H.

A. The Veterans Bureau says that since your tubercular trouble is service connected, and has become arrested, you are entitled to the $50 a month, effective from July 2, 1926.

The first hygenic exhibition ever in Netherlands, East Indies, is to be held at Bandoeng, Java, next summer.

Fashion and Style Combine in These Quaker Curtains!

The latest thing in curtains is a sheer transparent net body with an interesting design in the bottom border extending up into the net ground from six to eighteen inches.

And for trimming, the "right" thing is a silk bullion fringe or a deep lace flounce.

HOME CRAFT WEEK
October 4th. to 9th.

is the week we set apart to demonstrate in our Drapery Department these new ideas in interior decoration.

What about price? Just look at the items listed below and see how we have managed to combine the value and the vogue for you in this Home Craft Week event.

—that Correct Feminine Touch

The modern home has a dual nature—masculine in facade; feminine in interior. The new Quaker Ban Valont Curtains harmonize these dual needs. The soft flounced border gives the desired touch of the feminine to the interior decorations, the simple Quaker Net maintains the rugged architectural ensemble. At $7.00 to $13.75 the pair.

Quaker Curtains With Bullion Fringe

The bullion fringe trimming on these Quaker Curtains not only gives them an air of distinction but also serves the eminently practical purpose of supplying just the needed weighting to make the curtain hang most gracefully. At $4.50 to $13.50 the pair.

Rayon Beauty in Quaker Quality

Do you demand lasting beauty in your curtains? Then here is the merchandise for you. Rayon (artificial silk) fabricated by the famous Quaker Craft mills into curtains which will hold their original beauty till worn out. At $10.00 the pair.

Quaker Lace at all Prices

"Quaker Lace" curtains are also shown in panel effects with fringed bottoms and motifs above—goods of great distinction, priced at $1.50 the panel.

For Odd-Shaped Windows

For the window that cannot be readily fitted with a made curtain we have appropriate Quaker Nets and Laces—in many cases in patterns to match the Quaker Curtains, at 35c to $2.25 the yard.

MAKE THE HOME MORE LIVABLE

And there is no better way to do this than to make new draperies, cushions, etc., of some bright-colored cretonne, chintz or other drapery fabric. We have an extensive collection of every kind of material to use as hangings in every room in the house. Cretonnes in bright hues or conservative combinations and patterns. Priced from 35c to $1.25 the yard.

Chintz in floral and other designs—Priced from 45c to 75c the yard,

New Fall patterns in Sunfast draperies — priced at $1.00 and $1.25 the yard. Side draperies and valances to match Sunfast fabrics—priced from 45c to 65c the yard.

Silk drapery fabrics in a variety of qualities, colors and designs. Priced from 95c to $4.25 the yard.

Many other interesting items that you may be able to utilize this Fall when making the home over for the dreary Winter days and evenings.

Q. What shades of silk are to be shown this Fall? E. L. B.

A. Sales of silk during the months of July and August indicate that black, white and navy blue are as popular as ever. Outside of these the most popular shades were reds, blues, greens, browns, and grays. There are of course many varying shades in each of these colors.

Q. I would like to know what the Indians used for fish hooks? H. S. F.

A. The following is an extract from an article prepared by the Bureau of American Ethnology: "Starting from the simple device of attaching the bait to the end of a line, the progressive order of fishhooks used by the Indians seem to be as follows: (a) The gorge hook, a spike of bone or wood, sharpened at both ends and fastened at its middle to a line, a device used also for catching birds; (b) a spike set obliquely in the end of a pliant shaft; (c) the plain hook; (d) the barbed hook; (e) the barbed hook combined with sinker and lure. This series does not exactly represent stages in invention; the evolution may have been effected by the habits of the different species of fish and their increasing wariness. The material used for hooks by the Indians was wood, bone, shell, stone and copper. The Mohave employed the recurved spines of cactus, which are natural hooks."

Q. Can an American obtain a position as a member of the Royal Mounted Police? H. A. K.

A. The Royal Mounted Police Force of Canada is a Canadian organization and is not accepting any but Canadian citizens at the present time.

Q. During the World War I contracted tuberculosis. The disease has now been arrested and I am drawing $10 a month compensation. Am I entitled to the $50 per month under the bill passed by the last Congress? J. C. H.

A. The Veterans Bureau says that since your tubercular trouble is service connected, and has become arrested, you are entitled to the $50 a month, effective from July 2, 1926.

The first hygenic exhibition ever held in Netherlands, East Indies, is to be held at Bandoeng, Java, next summer.

IT'S FOR PILES

T. G. Rockestrom, of 808 Loraine Street, Detroit, writes: "I suffered with piles for over 25 years nothing did me any good. After my fourth box of Peterson's Ointment I am nearly cured. It is the greatest ointment I ever heard of." Big box only 35 cents at all druggists. Nothing better for old sores, itching eczema, rashes, chafing, burns, bruises or tired aching feet.

Fashion and Style Combine in These Quaker Curtains!

The latest thing in curtains is a sheer transparent net body with an interesting design in the bottom border extending up into the net ground from six to eighteen inches.

And for trimming, the "right" thing is a silk bullion fringe or a deep lace flounce.

HOME CRAFT WEEK
October 4th. to 9th.

is the week we set apart to demonstrate in our Drapery Department these new ideas in interior decoration.

What about price? Just look at the items listed below and see how we have managed to combine the value and the vogue for you in this Home Craft Week event.

—that Correct Feminine Touch

The modern home has a dual nature—masculine in facade; feminine in interior. The new Quaker Ban Valont Curtains harmonize these dual needs. The soft flounced border gives the desired touch of the feminine to the interior decorations, the simple Quaker Net maintains the rugged architectural ensemble. At $7.00 to $13.75 the pair.

Quaker Curtains With Bullion Fringe

The bullion fringe trimming on these Quaker Curtains not only gives them an air of distinction but also serves the eminently practical purpose of supplying just the needed weighting to make the curtain hang most gracefully. At $4.50 to $13.50 the pair.

Rayon Beauty in Quaker Quality

Do you demand lasting beauty in your curtains? Then here is the merchandise for you. Rayon (artificial silk) fabricated by the famous Quaker Craft mills into curtains which will hold their original beauty till worn out. At $10.00 the pair.

Quaker Lace at all Prices

"Quaker Lace" curtains are also shown in panel effects with fringed bottoms and motifs above—goods of great distinction, priced at $1.50 the panel.

For Odd-Shaped Windows

For the window that cannot be readily fitted with a made curtain we have appropriate Quaker Nets and Laces—in many cases in patterns to match the Quaker Curtains, at 35c to $2.25 the yard.

MAKE THE HOME MORE LIVABLE

And there is no better way to do this than to make new draperies, cushions, etc., of some bright-colored cretonne, chintz or other drapery fabric. We have an extensive collection of every kind of material to use as hangings in every room in the house. Cretonnes in bright hues or conservative combinations and patterns. Priced from 35c to $1.25 the yard.

Chintz in floral and other designs—Priced from 45c to 75c the yard,

New Fall patterns in Sunfast draperies — priced at $1.00 and $1.25 the yard. Side draperies and valances to match Sunfast fabrics—priced from 45c to 65c the yard.

Silk drapery fabrics in a variety of qualities, colors and designs. Priced from 95c to $4.25 the yard.

Many other interesting items that you may be able to utilize this Fall when making the home over for the dreary Winter days and evenings.

Viennese Firm Given Soviet Wool Concession On Long Contract

MOSCOW. — A concession to manufacture woolen textiles has just been granted by the Chief Concessions Committee to the Viennese firm, Bernhardt Altman. The Soviet government has granted the firm the privilege of taking over the factory formerly belonging to the Russian manufacturer Gorbachev, located at Kosino, on the Kazan railroad.

The concessionaire has obligated himself to re-equip the factory with modern machinery. He will be charged the regular customs duties for the import of raw materials from abroad, but as far as internal taxes are concerned, will be taxed on the basis of a government institution.

At the expiration of 18 years the works with all the inventory will automatically revert to possession of the Soviet government.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold "Go Down"

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger.

A "head cold" is only a bother while it stays in your head. But once it gets down into the danger zone, serious trouble threatens.

Act promptly to check the cough; to keep the head cold from "going down." Sure and lasting relief is as near as the nearest drug store.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough — even if bronchitis has developed — Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable — for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1b26c

DORIS KENYON AT AMERICAN

Co-star of Milton Sills in "Men in Steel."

Thrills of the sort you see once in a lifetime are in store for motion picture patrons in "Men of Steel," First National's big steel photoplay, which opened a three-day run today at the American theatre, with Milton Sills in the starring role and Doris Kenyon as the featured feminine player.

Sills has always been known as a "he-man." In past pictures he has been called upon to perform some difficult feats, but in "Men of Steel" he surpasses anything he has ever done on the screen, both in scenes calling for strength and courage and in acting.

For example, there is a scene in which Sills and Victor McLaglen are trapped in a huge vat in a steel mill. A maniac is trying to dump a ladle of molten steel on their heads. Sills catches hold of a big iron hook swung over the vat on a chain from a crane and with McLaglen hanging to his feet is swung out of the vat, over masses of molten steel to safety at the other end of the big room.

McLaglen stands well over six feet and weighs more than 200 pounds. The task of carrying him, to say nothing of the molten steel that was ready to bring death was one requiring iron nerve as well as strength.

WEAR resisting, heat resisting, and water resisting, Devoe Mirrolac Enamel, applied to either wood or metal, gives a lovely, glossy, durable finish. To woodwork, walls and furniture it adds beauty and gives long-lasting protection.

Let us send you a free sample, each of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Write Dept. 53, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

The group pictured below is covered in genuine Mohair and Silken Damask on reverse side of cushions. You must see the suite itself before you can realize what a value it at the Karpen Week Price of $308.00. A big reduction from the regular price of $385.00. Special prices will be withdrawn Oct. 9th.

Your home should come first

How big is a dollar? As big as the thing it buys. What are the biggest things it can buy? Not extravagances that give but temporary pleasure —luxuries that take you away from home. But lasting things to add attraction to the home. To give it the beauty that soothes the spirit; the comfort that brings rest to a tired body and peace to a weary mind.

Dollars buy these worth-while things when spent for home furnishings. Spent for Karpen furniture at any time in the year, they buy them in full measure. Spent for Karpen furniture during Karpen Week, they buy them in an unprecedented degree. For Karpen Week is the time of all the year when latest styles of beautiful, comfort-assuring, home-adorning furniture may be had at sharply reduced prices. Dollars spent during this week are not truly spent but wisely invested in lasting home happiness.

Next to food and air, there is nothing so important as your home. Make it one you will be proud of, one your family will be proud of. Take advantage of this event to beautify it at the most advantageous prices of the season. Don't fail to come in this week. The national scope of Karpen Week fixes the dates beyond recall. The special reductions must be withdrawn after next Saturday, October ninth.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1926.

Absent Voters' Ballots

Voting under the provisions of the absent elector's law, in effect since 1917 when the legislation was enacted for Ohioans who were preparing for the "Big Parade" overseas, is now under way in Columbiana county.

The polls, which opened Saturday, will close on Oct. 30, three days before the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 2, thus giving electors who expect to be absent from their home precincts on balloting day, an opportunity to exercise the right of suffrage.

Application for ballots should be made in person or by mail. If a voter is in a distant city, his supplies will be sent to his address upon written application. Or he has the privilege of marking his ballots at the election board's headquarters.

East Liverpool electors will select state, district and county officials and pass judgment upon two local issues—a 2.3 mill levy for school purposes and a proposed $225,000 bond issue for the erection of a municipal building—and a proposed state amendment to modify the state primary law at the fall election.

Don't disfranchise yourself.

Budgeting Taxes

The man with the little business of which he was proud, and which brought him in an adequate income, had to go to his banker for an extension of his house payment. The banker cheerfully acquiesced, and offered him twice the time he asked.

"But," asked friend banker, "I am curious about this. You told me once that you liked your business particularly well because it brought in a constant stream of small sums, almost as regular as a salary. What's happened?"

The man explained that this was still true. But that every once in a while came a month when collections were very slow. He had been examining his records and found that it was a month when income or other taxes were due.

"I budget my own taxes and am prepared for them," he said. "But apparently lots of people are still surprised when taxes come due. They have to hedge here and dodge there in order to take care of them. And just because my bills are small they delay them. I am equipped to absorb delay in twenty or thirty small bills, but when it gets to fifty or sixty, even my little amounts run into money, and there is an aching void in the bank balance."

Big businesses as well as little have been known to undergo serious difficulty because of the drain occasioned by the delayed payment of many small bills.

The first time an income tax or illness or plumbing accident happens, it may be reckoned justly as an emergency, and make a difference in bill-paying. But by the third or fourth time, it ought to be reckoned as a regular expense, with a reserve ready for it, and it should not put a crimp in the normal ability to pay normal bills.

The Hurricane Season

The news from Vera Cruz, added so swiftly to that from Florida, together with Florida's second scare, is rather terrifying. Where will this end?

It is a comfort to learn that hurricanes have their regular seasons, just as northern snows do, and that the season is just about over. The height of the season, writes an expert in the Boston Transcript, is reached during August and the first part of September. More than 54 per cent of the true hurricanes over a period of 37 years were found to have come within this six-week period. When a "tropical disturbance" starts in June, the chances are three to one half in nine that it will grow up into a real, life-size hurricane. The chances increase until the first half of September, when they are six and one-half in nine. Then they decrease until November, when they run down to one in nine.

Even one in nine sounds like one too many to the people who have just been through the experience. But only a few of the hurricanes, all in all, strike land. And September is gone, taking with it the most serious danger.

Briand and Stresemann

Briand and Stresemann lunched together the other day on sausages—humble though satisfactory repast enough—and after a four-hour discussion they are said to have come into complete accord.

This is a pretty good way to solve international problems compared with the methods being pursued this time 10 years ago.

There doesn't seem any real reason, either, why nations shouldn't keep on settling their vexed problems by quiet conferences over simple meals.

"It Rained Frogs in Miami" says a woman returned from there. Such rains used to be viewed as uncanny marvels by the superstitious, and wholly disbelieved by the cynical. Nowadays we know big winds often pick up small objects and transport them long distances before they are dropper.

What is needed to prevent war is an international law forbidding any nation to start a war without enough cash on hand to pay for it.

One fine thing about air travel is that the detours are so much easier.

The Powerful Katrinka On Moving Day— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Aroused by an air letter from Marshall Neilan, the cinema director, amusing enough to compel state for being awakened. So to breakfast and sat next to a fellow who put salt and pepper in his coffee.

Walked along the Park Avenue mall and sat on a bench and a man I took to be Will Hays strolled by and I inquired: "Is this how you run Hollywood?" and it was a stranger who eyed me curiously and stopped at the corner to talk to a policeman, pointing back at me.

Home and made short shrift of my labor, and to dinner and saw C. D. Williams, the illustrator, with two lovely ladies. Then to stroll along the brilliantly lighted Rialto with my wife and to bed.

Perhaps no writer in America has a more devoted following than Abraham Cahan, editor of the Yiddish daily, "The Forward." More than a quarter of million workers erupting from factories, lofts and swetshops at dusk snatch this curiously printed journal to read on the homeward journey.

He is the oracle of thousands who live in the dank tenements of the East Side. At 22 he was driven out of Russia by the czar and his sympathy for the oppressed is keen. The majority of his readers are humble and uneducated workers.

Cahan is of the intelligentsia but, despite several brilliant novels, has cast his lot with the submerged. He is not a thunderer although his ideas are radical. He is nearly 70 years old.

The chronic drug addict invariably has a sort of lusterless oyster white pallor. In this way he is often spotted by the law and caught with dope. Consequently many through artificial tanning are now appearing the brown of an autumn leaf. One on Broadway gives a hilarious touch to what is otherwise tragedy by wearing a yachting cap to accompany his heavy tan.

And—pianissimo—it is related a deceptive type of hypodermic syringe has been made to look exactly like a fountain pen.

The opium smoker is the most listless of all addicts after a debauch. His skin is onion colored, dry and febrile. He cannot eat and is consumed by burning thirst. A year or so ago narcotic statistics placed the number of "hop heads" in New York's Tenderloin at more than a thousand. There used to be a little cafe hard by Times Square that was their rendezvous and often they would be seen sitting at tables ghostly pale, silent, and shaky—gulping table water by the quart. Many made no secrets of their habit and related their experiences with disarming candor.

Fame flits. There is the yarn of a patron enterin "Pop" Ederle's butcher shop on Amsterdam avenue the other day. The walls held several pictures of the famous "Trudy." The patron looked them over. "My daughter" said the butcher. "That so. What did she do?" asked the patron.

A new racket of side street panhandlers. They approach a victim with a telegram which read: "Report at Long Island studio in the morning. Glad you have sobered up." and the name of a director is signed. They pose as motion picture small part players winding up a spree and need enough to rent a room and have breakfast in the morning. The scheme usually clicks and as a result they can afford to send themselves telegrams daily.

A New York business man has caused the dismissal of three taxi drivers because they were discourteous. One attempted to block his path when he had the right of way across the street and the other two applied insulting epithets because of the size of tips. In each case the victim secured witnesses, the number of the taxi, and discharge resulted.

BETWEEN THE CLOVES AND THE HICCOUGH

Before prohibition the bar in the Lambs' club—now given over to soft drinks, confectionery and vain regrets — was a famous place. I think more quick humor originated there than on any other spot of similar size on this hemisphere.

I remember one night when a distinguished comedian in a groggy condition was clinging to the rail. Only a few days before, he had announced that he was off the stuff forever. A fellow-actor entered.

"Why, Jack," he said, "I thought you'd taken the pledge and now here you are with a bun on. How did you get it?"

The inebriated one raised his head, revealing a happy, dreamy smile.

"Drink by drink," he murmured softly, "Drink by drink."

Another time, a member who was renowned for his capacity had just given his order when a friend appeared. The friend had had a good stroke of business down-town that afternoon.

"Bill," he chortled, "I'm in luck and I want to celebrate. Let's us two embark on a jag together."

"Fine," said Bill. "I'll spot you five to start with."

Here also befell the historic moment when a Thespian, meeting a pal who for months had been on the water-wagon and had suffered a relapse, asked the question:

'Drinking anything Gus?"

And Gus answered straightway:

"Yes—anything."

But, to my way of thinking, the honors for repartee at the Lambs' bar should go to Hap Ward, of the old team of Ward and Vokes. Hap, one day, was acting as host to a group of thirsty Lambs. A newcomer joined the party, bringing with him as a guest a gentleman of a serious aspect. When introductions had been completed, Hap addressed the stranger.

"What will you have, sir?"

The visitor drew himself up.

"I have never indulged in the habit of imbibing strong drink in my life," he said.

"My friend," said Ward, "I can teach you in three easy lessons."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Military Music.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4, 1926.—There appears to have been a decline in the use of military music in connection with the Army and Navy of the United States. Some officers are of the opinion that military bands are superfluous save for peace time parades or military reviews and may be regarded as more in the way than anything else in time of war. Also some legislators called upon to appropriate funds for the support of the Army and Navy believes a large number of bands to constitute a needless extravagance.

Perhaps the introduction of the talking machine and of musical programs over the radio have caused some people to feel that there is enough music available and that the taxpayers might be saved money by dispensing with the bands.

These considerations make a brief examination of music in war in point. True the World War brought about notable changes in the type of warfare but nevertheless, it seems reasonable to believe that music will always have a place in military operations. It always has had in the past and nature doesn't change much. Soldiers are certainly human beings and it is a foregone conclusion that a test vote taken among the soldiery of any modern army would show an overwhelming majority in favor of the bands. This doubtless would include most of the officers.

American military music did not take a very conspicuous part in the overseas work of the American Expeditionary Force in the last war but music was important in the British, French, and German armies. Some of the known exploits, some of the stories told by returned Americans reveal how important music was as a military feature. Every American soldier with half an ear for music is eloquent in telling of the inspiration drawn by Americans as well as French and British from the French military bands which are quite numerous. The French bands, in some cases, carried their music to well within the firing line of pitched battles and heartened the troops with their martial cadences. Many fell from enemy fire.

French Military Bands in World War.

The war stories from the very front say that to hear the spirited playing of Madelon or the Marsellaise put heart into many a battalion which was near to defeat. In this connection it will be remembered that from the time the latter anthem—by millions considered to be the greatest pice of martial music ever composed—was written it has played a substantial part in all French military operations. It might almost be said that it can be given credit for making France a republic.

The German Watch on the Rhine was relied upon by German commanders in many a pinch and that reliance was almost inevitably well placed. The same may be said of the British God Save the King.

But by far the most impressive story of British military music is in connection with the Scottish bagpipes. The pipes are not liked by everybody in the concert hall but there is fairly general agreement that bagpipe music is the most stirring martial music in the world. Heard in the open air above the roar of guns it means more than on the concert platform. There were many Scots regiments in the War and

Absent Voters' Ballots

Voting under the provisions of the absent elector's law, in effect since 1917 when the legislation was enacted for Ohioans who were preparing for the "Big Parade" overseas, is now under way in Columbiana county.

The polls, which opened Saturday, will close on Oct. 30, three days before the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 2, thus giving electors who expect to be absent from their home precincts on balloting day, an opportunity to exercise the right of suffrage.

Application for ballots should be made in person or by mail. If a voter is in a distant city, his supplies will be sent to his address upon written application. Or he has the privilege of marking his ballots at the election board's headquarters.

East Liverpool electors will select state, district and county officials and pass judgment upon two local issues—a 2.3 mill levy for school purposes and a proposed $225,000 bond issue for the erection of a municipal building—and a proposed state amendment to modify the state primary law at the fall election.

Don't disfranchise yourself.

Budgeting Taxes

The man with the little business of which he was proud, and which brought him in an adequate income, had to go to his banker for an extension of his house payment. The banker cheerfully acquiesced, and offered him twice the time he asked.

"But," asked friend banker, "I am curious about this. You told me once that you liked your business particularly well because it brought in a constant stream of small sums, almost as regular as a salary. What's happened?"

The man explained that this was still true. But that every once in a while came a month when collections were very slow. He had been examining his records and found that it was a month when income or other taxes were due.

"I budget my own taxes and am prepared for them," he said. "But apparently lots of people are still surprised when taxes come due. They have to hedge here and dodge there in order to take care of them. And just because my bills are small they delay them. I am equipped to absorb delay in twenty or thirty small bills, but when it gets to fifty or sixty, even my little amounts run into money, and there is an aching void in the bank balance."

Big businesses as well as little have been known to undergo serious difficulty because of the drain occasioned by the delayed payment of many small bills.

The first time an income tax or illness or plumbing accident happens, it may be reckoned justly as an emergency, and make a difference in bill-paying. But by the third or fourth time, it ought to be reckoned as a regular expense, with a reserve ready for it, and it should not put a crimp in the normal ability to pay normal bills.

The Hurricane Season

The news from Vera Cruz, added so swiftly to that from Florida, together with Florida's second scare, is rather terrifying. Where will this end?

It is a comfort to learn that hurricanes have their regular seasons, just as northern snows do, and that the season is just about over. The height of the season, writes an expert in the Boston Transcript, is reached during August and the first part of September. More than 54 per cent of the true hurricanes over a period of 37 years were found to have come within this six-week period. When a "tropical disturbance" starts in June, the chances are three to one half in nine that it will grow up into a real, life-size hurricane. The chances increase until the first half of September, when they are six and one-half in nine. Then they decrease until November, when they run down to one in nine.

Even one in nine sounds like one too many to the people who have just been through the experience. But only a few of the hurricanes, all in all, strike land. And September is gone, taking with it the most serious danger.

Briand and Stresemann

Briand and Stresemann lunched together the other day on sausages—humble though satisfactory repast enough—and after a four-hour discussion they are said to have come into complete accord.

This is a pretty good way to solve international problems compared with the methods being pursued this time 10 years ago.

There doesn't seem any real reason, either, why nations shouldn't keep on settling their vexed problems by quiet conferences over simple meals.

'It Rained Frogs in Miami" says a woman returned from there. Such rains used to be viewed as uncanny marvels by the superstitious, and wholly disbelieved by the cynical. Nowadays we know big winds often pick up small objects and transport them long distances before they are dropper.

What is needed to prevent war is an international law forbidding any nation to start a war without enough cash on hand to pay for it.

One fine thing about air travel is that the detours are so much easier.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Aroused by an air letter from Marshall Neilan, the cinema director, amusing enough to compel state for being awakened. So to breakfast and sat next to a fellow who put salt and pepper in his coffee.

Walked along the Park Avenue mall and sat on a bench and a man I took to be Will Hays strolled by and I inquired: "Is this how you run Hollywood?" and it was a stranger who eyed me curiously and stopped at the corner to talk to a policeman, pointing back at me.

Home and made short shrift of my labor, and to dinner and saw C. D. Williams, the illustrator, with two lovely ladies. Then to stroll along the brilliantly lighted Rialto with my wife and to bed.

Perhaps no writer in America has a more devoted following than Abraham Cahan, editor of the Yiddish daily, "The Forward." More than a quarter of million workers erupting from factories, lofts and swetshops at dusk snatch this curiously printed journal to read on the homeward journey.

He is the oracle of thousands who live in the dank tenements of the East Side. At 22 he was driven out of Russia by the czar and his sympathy for the oppressed is keen. The majority of his readers are humble and uneducated workers.

Cahan is of the intelligentsia but, despite several brilliant novels, has cast his lot with the submerged. He is not a thunderer although his ideas are radical. He is nearly 70 years old.

The chronic drug addict invariably has a sort of lusterless oyster white pallor. In this way he is often spotted by the law and caught with dope. Consequently many through artificial tanning are now appearing the brown of an autumn leaf. One on Broadway gives a hilarious touch to what is otherwise tragedy by wearing a yachting cap to accompany his heavy tan.

And—pianissimo—it is related a deceptive type of hypodermic syringe has been made to look exactly like a fountain pen.

The opium smoker is the most listless of all addicts after a debauch. His skin is onion colored, dry and febrile. He cannot eat and is consumed by burning thirst. A year or so ago narcotic statistics placed the number of "hop heads" in New York's Tenderloin at more than a thousand. There used to be a little cafe hard by Times Square that was their rendezvous and often they would be seen sitting at tables ghostly pale, silent, and shaky—gulping table water by the quart. Many made no secrets of their habit and related their experiences with disarming candor.

Fame flits. There is the yarn of a patron enterin "Pop" Ederle's butcher shop on Amsterdam avenue the other day. The walls held several pictures of the famous "Trudy." The patron looked them over. "My daughter" said the butcher. "That so. What did she do?" asked the patron.

A new racket of side street panhandlers. They approach a victim with a telegram which read: "Report at Long Island studio in the morning. Glad you have sobered up," and the name of a director is signed. They pose as motion picture small part players winding up a spree and need enough to rent a room and have breakfast in the morning. The scheme usually clicks and as a result they can afford to send themselves telegrams daily.

A New York business man has caused the dismissal of three taxi drivers because they were discourteous. One attempted to block his path when he had the right of way across the street and the other two applied insulting epithets because of the size of tips. In each case the victim secured witnesses, the number of the taxi, and discharge resulted.

BETWEEN THE CLOVES AND THE HICCOUGH

Before prohibition the bar in the Lambs' club—now given over to soft drinks, confectionery and vain regrets — was a famous place. I think more quick humor originated there than on any other spot of similar size on this hemisphere.

I remember one night when a distinguished comedian in a groggy condition was clinging to the rail. Only a few days before, he had announced that he was off the stuff forever. A fellow-actor entered.

"Why, Jack," he said, "I thought you'd taken the pledge and now here you are with a bun on. How did you get it?"

The inebriated one raised his head, revealing a happy, dreamy smile.

"Drink by drink," he murmured softly, "Drink by drink."

Another time, a member who was renowned for his capacity had just given his order when a friend appeared. The friend had had a good stroke of business down-town that afternoon.

"Bill," he chortled, "I'm in luck and I want to celebrate. Let's us two embark on a jag together."

BOOK THREE—XI.

"They brought the tug so close to the liner there was only a narrow span of water between, and the liner stopped, and we stopped. Close enough that we could look up high and see the soldiers' faces. Thousands of soldiers. I'll never forget them. Waving and cheering and jammed in rows a dozen deep all up and down the decks. I tried to find Paul. I couldn't, but it didn't matter—I was so sure he was there, somewhere. I smiled and smiled, and threw kisses. And all the time, I was smiling at the rail they had pushed him off of two days before, wrapped in a flag—and I didn't know."

She broke off, fighting to retain the self control that had kept her voice low and even . . . with an evenness that had somehow testified more poignantly than screams to the depth and truth of her emotion. Her dry-bright eyes looked out over the sea, and she shivered almost imperceptibly. Jock sat motionless, wracked. "God—how you did hurt her—" He would have taken her in his arms to soothe her, but something forbade him. It was as though she hid from him now, behind the ghost of the man she had so loved.

Presently he sensed a change in her, a definite hardening . . . steel doors pushed shut with a clang . . . and she was again the Yvonne he knew best, cool and possessed and faintly satirical. "Light me a cigarette, Jock. Appropriate to the rest of this autobiography.

"I won't try to tell you about those next few weeks. I couldn't tell you if I wanted to, because I can't remember anything about them except a sort of dazed, bruised agony. Just two things I knew: that there wasn't any God, and that it didn't matter in the least what happened to me, any more.

"I didn't go back to Ohio. I don't think it even occurred to me that to go back would be the logical thing, and I've never been back since, to this day. I went to New York . . . did you ever notice how people crawl there when they're down, like poisoned animals toward water? . . .

"Of course I had no money, to begin with. I lived in a little black hole of a room in a boarding house just off Broadway, and worked. Sold magazines at a stand in the Grand Central station—that was my first job. Then I was a model in a cheap wholesale house for a while. I suppose you've never been in one of those places, have you, Jock Hamill? The models sit around in little pink silk slips, and fat greasy buyers have a perfect right to paw them over like the merchandise . . . and do it. . . . Later I got into the misses' department of one of the big stores as a dress model, but I didn't stay. That sort of thing wasn't what I wanted.

"Then I worked in a cabaret. Carrying a tray tied around my neck with a ribbon, and crying, 'Cigars! Cigarettes!' all night long, and smiling at the men so they'd tip me well. . . . Finally the manager found out I could sing, and I did a couple of solos every night. You know, going from table to table. I took a new last name then—Mountford—the Yvonne is my own.

"There were several different jobs after that, each one of them a little step up. Cabaret singer at Huber's, and later at the Cafe Mandalay. And all the time, things were happening to me. Sordid things. I needn't tell you, they weren't important. Then—do you remember the Sedgewyke divorce case? The papers were full of it at the time. I was co-respondent. . . . That gave me a lot of notoriety, and got me a new place. On the stage. You guessed right about that, though I wasn't really what you could call an actress. Just sort of a glorified chorus girl in 'Pretty Baby' for a year on Broadway. I wore clothes, and walked around, and sang one song in the second act. . . . In the spring I married the leading man." She mentioned a famous footlight name. "I don't know why. I didn't even like him. But he made a huge salary. . . . Gold-digger, you see. That's all I am. Or was," she added on a quiet breath.

"We lived together seven months in an apartment on Central Park West, and kept open house. He used to pick up the queerest people—I don't know yet where he found them all. There were a lot of show people, of course, and prize-fighters, and gamblers, and Greenwich village poets, and "ladies with no destination," as Kipling calls them, and flotsam and jetsam. We had parties all the time, night and day. Just drunken brawls. I was forever helping people to bed. Even now, when I think about that apartment, I can only see it as it used to look every morning before the maids got to work on it. Bottles, and siphons, and cigarette butts, and broken glasses, and stale, sickening air. I suppose that's what made me hate liquor the way I do. . . . I used to have an awful time, trying to get him straightened up before the performance. You never saw anybody become so drunk so often. And then one night he struck me across the face, and that was the end. I left him, and got a divorce—oh, I had plenty of grounds, even in New York.

"There was a lot more publicity connected with that, because he was so well known, and when it was over I wrote a story for a newspaper syndicate—or rather, some man wrote it, and I signed my name and got a sizable check. The thing was called, 'Why I'm Through With Matrimony,' and it ran in four installments in Sunday supplements all over the country. It was mostly bunk, of course, and very lurid. Pictures of me splashed all over the pages. I got a lot of letters about it. Letters from men, making all sorts of proposals, and from crazy girls, and people wanting help. And one from a woman who said I ought to be locked up somewhere. . . . I've always remembered that. Sometimes, you know, I almost get myself to thinking that she was right.

"I'd put away a little money, but not much, and I had to make my living again. So I was hostess at the Twelve-to-Five Club. You've been there, haven't you? — you know the sort of place it is. Just like a hundred other supper clubs. That's where I ran on to some of the people I know—college boys, for instance. I met a lot of college boys. One reason I wouldn't come down to the games you asked me to last fall was because I was afraid I'd meet some of them again and they'd tell you all about me. I didn't want you to know. I don't now, but I've got to tell you. Something is making me tell you. Don't think I'm enjoying this, Jock Hamill!

"Of course I had grown very hard and cynical—and mercenary—by that time. New York does that to a girl alone, and losing the only thing you really cared about does it. I wanted money. . . . See, I told you! Glitter. . . . I'd made up my mind that money was more important thany anything else in the world, a lot more important than a fickle will-o'-the-w'sp like happiness. Money was so tangible. So—so there. A thing you could hold in your hand. I wanted lots of it. And it didn't matter much how I got it. Do you understand, Jock Hamill? It didn't matter how I got it.

"Well, there was a man who used to come to the club often, named Parke Demorest—"

"I know," Jock unexpectedly.

The sound of his voice surprised him. He had spoken aloud without volition, for the first time since Yvonne began talking.

She stopped short now, and fixed him with her glance. "You—know? Who—who told you, my dear? You didn't know before I went away—" Her eyes filled with sudden enlightenment. "You've talked to that Toby Jennings who brought me to the dance the night I met you!"

"No I haven't," Jock said quietly. "Do you think I'd gumshoe around trying to find out things you didn't want me to know? I stumbled on it accidentally. Demorest's picture in a newspaper, and something about his leaving for California. The day you did. I knew you knew him—that time in Sherry's, remember? — but even then I wasn't—I didn't believe—"

"You didn't want to believe, did you?"

Electric Railway Men To Have Trolley Show At Cleveland Meet

CLEVELAND, O. — Every type of street car and bus manufactured in this country will be on display at the annual convention of the American Railway association here, October 4-8.

More than 9,000 delegates representing the nation's street railway companies and manufacturers of street cars and busses are expected to be present, according to Colonel John Alexander, vice-president of the Cleveland Railway company, in charge of the display.

The exhibits will reveal that street transportation methods have greatly advanced during the year alone and that there is very little room for further development, he said.

A special convention hall to house exhibits which will not find room in the city auditorium, has been erected; and two miles of track have been laid on lots surrounding the buildings upon which the street cars will be displayed.

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. Light—the Best Night Watchman

THERE is no better protection against the sneak thief and burglar than a light burning in your home. It suggests the dangerous possibility that someone is inside and it takes a lot of nerve, even for a crook, to enter a home where a light is burning.

When you go out for an evening leave a light burning upstairs!

When you go to bed leave a light burning in the hall or bathroom!

If you go away for a visit, a light in the house is the best kind of burglar insurance you can buy.

Ask the police chief—he will tell you that light is the best and cheapest night watchman to be had.

BOOK THREE—XI.

"They brought the tug so close to the liner there was only a narrow span of water between, and the liner stopped, and we stopped. Close enough that we could look up high and see the soldiers' faces. Thousands of soldiers. I'll never forget them. Waving and cheering and jammed in rows a dozen deep all up and down the decks. I tried to find Paul. I couldn't, but it didn't matter—I was so sure he was there, somewhere. I smiled and smiled, and threw kisses. And all the time, I was smiling at the rail they had pushed him off of two days before, wrapped in a flag—and I didn't know."

She broke off, fighting to retain the self control that had kept her voice low and even . . . with an evenness that had somehow testified more poignantly than screams to the depth and truth of her emotion. Her dry-bright eyes looked out over the sea, and she shivered almost imperceptibly. Jock sat motionless, wracked. "God—how you did hurt her—" He would have taken her in his arms to soothe her, but something forbade him. It was as though she hid from him now, behind the ghost of the man she had so loved.

Presently he sensed a change in her, a definite hardening . . . steel doors pushed shut with a clang . . . and she was again the Yvonne he knew best, cool and possessed and faintly satirical. "Light me a cigarette, Jock. Appropriate to the rest of this autobiography.

"I won't try to tell you about those next few weeks. I couldn't tell you if I wanted to, because I can't remember anything about them except a sort of dazed, bruised agony. Just two things I knew: that there wasn't any God, and that it didn't matter in the least what happened to me, any more.

"I didn't go back to Ohio. I don't think it even occurred to me that to go back would be the logical thing, and I've never been back since, to this day. I went to New York . . . did you ever notice how people crawl there when they're down, like poisoned animals toward water? . . .

"Of course I had no money, to begin with. I lived in a little black hole of a room in a boarding house just off Broadway, and worked. Sold magazines at a stand in the Grand Central station—that was my first job. Then I was a model in a cheap wholesale house for a while. I suppose you've never been in one of those places, have you, Jock Hamill? The models sit around in little pink silk slips, and fat greasy buyers have a perfect right to paw them over like the merchandise . . . and do it. . . . Later I got into the misses' department of one of the big stores as a dress model, but I didn't stay. That sort of thing wasn't what I wanted.

"Then I worked in a cabaret. Carrying a tray tied around my neck with a ribbon, and crying, 'Cigars! Cigarettes!' all night long, and smiling at the men so they'd tip me well. . . . Finally the manager found out I could sing, and I did a couple of solos every night. You know, going from table to table. I took a new last name then—Mountford—the Yvonne is my own.

"There were several different jobs after that, each one of them a little step up. Cabaret singer at Huber's, and later at the Cafe Mandalay. And all the time, things were happening to me. Sordid things. I needn't tell you, they weren't important. Then—do you remember the Sedgewyke divorce case? The papers were full of it at the time. I was co-respondent . . . That gave me a lot of notoriety, and got me a new place. On the stage. You guessed right about that, though I wasn't really what you could call an actress. Just sort of a glorified chorus girl in 'Pretty Baby' for a year on Broadway. I wore clothes, and walked around, and sang one song in the second act. . . . In the spring I married the leading man." She mentioned a famous footlight name. "I don't know why. I didn't even like him. But he made a huge salary. . . . Gold-digger, you see. That's all I am. Or was," she added on a quiet breath.

"We lived together seven months in an apartment on Central Park West, and kept open house. He used to pick up the queerest people—I don't know yet where he found them all. There were a lot of show people, of course, and prize-fighters, and gamblers, and Greenwich village poets, and "ladies with no destination," as Kipling calls them, and flotsam and jetsam. We had parties all the time, night and day. Just drunken brawls. I was forever helping people to bed. Even now, when I think about that apartment, I can only see it as it used to look every morning before the maids got to work on it. Bottles, and siphons, and cigarette butts, and broken glasses, and stale, sickening air. I suppose that's what made me hate liquor the way I do. . . . I used to have an awful time, trying to get him straightened up before the performance. You never saw anybody become so drunk so often. And then one night he struck me across the face, and that was the end. I left him, and got a divorce—oh, I had plenty of grounds, even in New York.

"There was a lot more publicity connected with that, because he was so well known, and when it was over I wrote a story for a newspaper syndicate—or rather, some man wrote it, and I signed my name and got a sizable check. The thing was called, 'Why I'm Through With Matrimony,' and it ran in four installments in Sunday supplements all over the country. It was mostly bunk, of course, and very lurid. Pictures of me splashed all over the pages. I got a lot of letters about it. Letters from men, making all sorts of proposals, and from crazy girls, and people wanting help. And one from a woman who said I ought to be locked up somewhere. . . . I've always remembered that. Sometimes, you know, I almost get myself to thinking that she was right.

"I'd put away a little money, but not much, and I had to make my living again. So I was hostess at the Twelve-to-Five Club. You've been there, haven't you? — you know the sort of place it is. Just like a hundred other supper clubs. That's where I ran on to some of the people I know—college boys, for instance. I met a lot of college boys. One reason I wouldn't come down to the games you asked me to last fall was because I was afraid I'd meet some of them again and they'd tell you all about me. I didn't want you to know. I don't now, but I've got to tell you. Something is making me tell you. Don't think I'm enjoying this, Jock Hamill!

"Of course I had grown very hard and cynical—and mercenary—by that time. New York does that to a girl alone, and losing the only thing you really cared about does it. I wanted money. . . . See, I told you! Glitter. . . . I'd made up my mind that money was more important thany anything else in the world, a lot more important than a fickle will-o'-the-w'sp like happiness. Money was so tangible. So—so there. A thing you could hold in your hand. I wanted lots of it. And it didn't matter much how I got it. Do you understand, Jock Hamill? It didn't matter how I got it.

"Well, there was a man who used to come to the club often, named Parke Demorest—"

"I know," Jock unexpectedly.

The sound of his voice surprised him. He had spoken aloud without volition, for the first time since Yvonne began talking.

She stopped short now, and fixed him with her glance. "You—know? Who—who told you, my dear? You didn't know before I went away—" Her eyes filled with sudden enlightenment. "You've talked to that Toby Jennings who brought me to the dance the night I met you!"

"No I haven't," Jock said quietly. "Do you think I'd gumshoe around trying to find out things you didn't want me to know? I stumbled on it accidentally. Demorest's picture in a newspaper, and something about his leaving for California. The day you did. I knew you knew him—that time in Sherry's, remember? — but even then I wasn't—I didn't believe—"

"You didn't want to believe, did you?"

Electric Railway Men To Have Trolley Show At Cleveland Meet

CLEVELAND, O. — Every type of street car and bus manufactured in this country will be on display at the annual convention of the American Railway association here, October 4-8.

More than 9,000 delegates representing the nation's street railway companies and manufacturers of street cars and busses are expected to be present, according to Colonel John Alexander, vice-president of the Cleveland Railway company, in charge of the display.

The exhibits will reveal that street transportation methods have greatly advanced during the year alone and that there is very little room for further development, he said.

A special convention hall to house exhibits which will not find room in the city auditorium, has been erected; and two miles of track have been laid on lots surrounding the buildings upon which the street cars will be displayed.

HIGH GRIDDERS DISPLAY FORM

Coach Wilde's Charges Down Wellsville in Opening Tilt.

Chester high school football team opened the season Saturday afternoon by defeating Wellsville in a hard fought game by a score of 6 to 0.

Coach Wilde's charges showed good form and for the most part outplayed their opponents.

Chester's lone touchdown came in the second half when Johnston carried the ball over for the only score of the game. Wellsville threatened to score but once during the game when the local line held for downs.

The game was witnessed by a good sized crowd including a delegation of students who accompanied the visitors.

Kenneth Simcox, half back of the Chester team, dislocated his shoulder and will probably be unable to play for at least a month.

CHESTER STARS LAND CONTEST

Defeat Salineville in First Sunday Gridiron Game Here.

Chester Valley Stars defeated Salineville in the first Sunday football game ever staged here yesterday afternoon at Smith Field by a score of 7 to 6.

The contest attracted a crowd of 1,000 gridiron fans from Chester, Midland, East Liverpool, Newell and Wellsville.

Both elevens played good football and the result was in doubt until the referee's whistle sounded the end of the battle.

Chester, although finishing on the long end failed to negotiate a first down, while Salineville was credited with six. The coal town players also gained considerable more ground than the locals.

Chester kicked off to start the game. Salineville failed to gain any ground against the strong offense of Chester and was forced to punt. Neither team made much headway in the first quarter which ended without scoring.

Chester scored in the second period of play when Ferris carried the ball over the goal line after a 50 yard punt was fumbled by Salineville five yards from the goal line. Dill made the point after the touchdown. After the ball was put into play Beckett made first down after the ball had been carried up the field by Grundy. Beckett punted to Cebula who made a 15-yard gain. Beckett and Grundy hit the Chester lines for gains with the former crossing the line for a touchdown. He failed to make the point after touchdown.

The third quarter was mostly contested in the center of the field with no scoring. Salineville made a desperate attempt to score in the final quarter. A forward pass from Floto to Beckett brought the ball near the Chester goal line but scoring was averted when Ferris punted out of danger. The ball was in the center of the field when the game ended.

Benedict, Mundy, Ferris, F. Dill and Dalrymple showed good form for Chester, while Beckett, Grundy, Floto, Hanley and Wycoff were the stars for Salineville.

SUNDAY GRID BAN IS ASKED

Council Will Act Tonight on Football Question.

Petitions seeking a ban on Sunday football in Chester will be presented tonight at the semi-monthly meeting of the city council.

Movement to halt the games was launched yesterday when the question was discussed in the churches after which the papers were circulated for signatures.

Council, under the rules, can prohibit the games at once if all members vote to suspend the rules and enact a prohibition ordinance. In the event the bill is not unanimous it will require another meeting and a majority vote to adopt the legislation.

The protest is an aftermath of the game played here yesterday between Chester and Salineville teams.

....they're buried just the same

A MISER buried his money in the earth at the foot of a tree. Every day he went to feast his eyes upon the sight of his treasure. A thief who had watched him for some time came one night and carried off the miser's gold. The next day, the miser, finding his treasure gone, tore his clothes and filled the air with his lamentations. A neighbor heard him and when he learned the cause said, "Don't grieve so, but go and get a stone; place it in the hole and fancy it is your gold. It will be of quite as much USE to you as your money was."

YOUR savings are probably not buried in a hole at the foot of a tree. But maybe they're BURIED just the same. The miser's gold was of no service to him, and if your savings are of no service to you they're buried just as much as the miser's treasure was. Make your money be of some USE to you. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rembert, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Jackson and Ray Leonard motored to Canton yesterday, where they attended the dedication of the new Masonic temple.

Parade in which more than 10,000 Masons participated was one of the features.

SUNDAY GRID BAN IS ASKED

Council Will Act Tonight on Football Question.

Petitions seeking a ban on Sunday football in Chester will be presented tonight at the semi-monthly meeting of the city council.

Movement to halt the games was launched yesterday when the question was discussed in the churches after which the papers were circulated for signatures.

Council, under the rules, can prohibit the games at once if all members vote to suspend the rules and enact a prohibition ordinance. In the event the bill is not unanimous it will require another meeting and a majority vote to adopt the legislation.

The protest is an aftermath of the game played here yesterday between Chester and Salineville teams.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY LISTED

Grant district Sunday school rally will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. W. S. Hamilton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, New Cumberland, will be the principal speaker.

Delegates will be present from every church in the district.

To Attend Conference.

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will leave tomorrow for Carnegie, where he will attend the annual conference.

Fancywork Club Meeting.

Members of the Franklin Fancywork club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Hugh Huff, near the Franklin school. The usual program will be carried out.

County Court Meets.

Regular meeting of the Hancock county court was held today at New Cumberland. Routine business was transacted.

To Draw Jurors.

Grand and petit jurors for the November term of the Hancock county circuit court will be drawn this week by the jury commission composed of J. L. Mayhew and H. H. Robb.

Many Attend Meeting.

Number of former members attended the meeting of the Young People's Christian Union held last night in the United Presbyterian church. Allan McDonald presided at the session.

Hooks and Eyes in Surgery.

When H. L. Smith of Eureka, Kan., suffered a bad scalp wound in an auto accident, the attending surgeon was unable to draw the ends of the wound together in the usual way. He did, however, sew hooks on one side of the wound and eyes on the other, and by the use of rubber bands gradually draw the scalp together with good results.

Napkin Artists Die Out.

Throughout the world today there are only a few dining room stewards who retain the art of folding napkins into fantastic shapes, though it was a steward's boast a few decades ago. Robert Jack, a steamer steward on the Atlantic can make swans, dogs, and sail boats with a dinner napkin.

....they're buried just the same

A MISER buried his money in the earth at the foot of a tree. Every day he went to feast his eyes upon the sight of his treasure. A thief who had watched him for some time came one night and carried off the miser's gold. The next day, the miser, finding his treasure gone, tore his clothes and filled the air with his lamentations. A neighbor heard him and when he learned the cause said, "Don't grieve so, but go and get a stone; place it in the hole and fancy it is your gold. It will be of quite as much USE to you as your money was."

YOUR savings are probably not buried in a hole at the foot of a tree. But maybe they're BURIED just the same. The miser's gold was of no service to him, and if your savings are of no service to you they're buried just as much as the miser's treasure was. Make your money be of some USE to you. Make it EARN MONEY for you. You do this by investing

OFFER REWARD FOR BODY OF MISSING CHILD

Hunt for Orwell, Ohio, Girl is Spurred.

MURDER HINTED

County Commissioners Post $1,000 in Mystery Case.

ASHTABULA, O., Oct. 4.—A reward of $1,000 for the body of Isabel Zandarski, 3, who disappeared from her home at Orwell, September 22, was offered here today by the Ashtabula county commissioners.

The reward declared that the sum would be paid for the girl's body "dead or alive" but that $500 of the amount would be paid for knowledge that she had been murdered or for information concerning her murderers

Mother and Uncle Held.

ORWELL, O., Oct. 4.—A mysterious automobile, seen traveling toward the muck lands from the direction of the Zandarski home, at 1:30 the morning Isabel Zandarski disappeared, has brought a new clue into the case and caused Sheriff H. D. Hannum virtually to abandon a kidnaping theory in favor of a murder suspicion.

Mrs. Josephine Zandarski, mother of the child, is in the county jail here where Sheriff Hannum says he is "keeping her isolated from the rest of the family." She is not under charges.

Mrs. Zandarski told him, the sheriff declared, that the night before the girl disappeared, she had occasion to punish her rather severely, whereupon the child went to sleep. Later, still sleeping, she was put to bed by the father. She has not been seen since. That was September 22.

Frank Krurick, 18, an uncle of the child, who occupied a room adjoining that of the girl the night she disappeared, also is being held in jail.

Thousands of persons visited the muck lands here Sunday and searched for evidence of the missing child.

TWO $100 FINES IN CITY COURT

One Liquor Charge Heard—Daniel Parsons Goes to Jail.

Edward Davis, Lisbon street, was fined $100 and costs, Sunday morning by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, after he was found guilty upon a charge of the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors.

Eight half pints of whiskey are alleged to have been found at Davis' home when it was raided Saturday night by Captain Conley and Patrolmen McFarland and Haley. Davis paid $40 on his fine and arranged for settlement of the remainder.

Daniel Parsons was committed to the county jail at Lisbon after he had been fined $100 and costs upon an intoxication charge brought under the state law. Parsons was arrested on Second street Sunday by Captain Conley.

Leroy Smith is being held by the police pending further investigation of a charge filed by Bud Woomer, who claimed that Smith has taken his Essex touring car without his consent. Smith was arrested Sunday evening by Patrolman Lister.

Four motorists who were arrested on Eighth street by Special Patrolman Leslie Curran Saturday night, charged with fast and reckless driving, were each fined $1 and costs. They were Clyde Carpenter, Charles Davis, Donald Vandyke and Ernest Ehlenbach. A similar fine was assessed against George Russo, Minerva street, who was arrested for parking in a restricted zone on Dresden avenue.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Elsie Keller.

Mrs. Elsie Keller, 50 years old, wife of John L. Keller, died yesterday morning in her home, two miles from Leetonia. Death was caused by paralysis.

Mrs. Keller, who was a lifelong resident of that section, is survived besides her husband by four sons and two daughters: Carl, Ray, Orland, Merlin, Mildred and Mrs. Hosea Peppel.

She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held in the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in charge of Rev. H. C. Brillhart, pastor of St. Paul's church, Leetonia.

World Series Photos Ruined When Plane Falls Into River

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 4.—Earl F. Ward, United States air mail pilot, prepared to resume his "route" today despite an accident yesterday which wrecked his plane.

Ward was compelled to make a forced landing near Sunbury, Pa., as he speeded from New York to Cleveland. In landing his plane hit a tree and careened into the Susquehaunah river.

The pilot swam from beneath his craft with his pouches, secured another machine and arrived here only a few hours late.

World series photographs for newspapers in Cleveland and other cities west, included in Ward's cargo of mail, were ruined by the water.

TODAY

YOU respect a man who takes his own medicine. Braunsegard, a great French physician and scientist, was called cruel because he practiced vivisection on animals, to prove that a man might think and recognize his friends after his head had been cut off. He separated the living head from the body of a dog which turns its eyes to the right of left as the doctor whistled on the right or left side.

Having explained to his students that atmosphere pressure kept enough blood in the brain to allow for thought, the doctor then past seventy, lectured on vital processes involved in the knitting of bones, as a preliminary he broke one of his own fingers in a vise and lectured as he put on a splint and explained what happened, calmly commenting on his sensations.

ONE HUNDRED cancer specialists of this and European countries have boiled into one brief statement all that is known about cancer. This is said to be the most important statement on the subject ever made.

FIRST nobody knows what cancer is, some think it comes from a germ, other from a growth caused by irritation of tissues. Nobody knows.

Most important of all cancer is not contagious or infectious. You cannot "catch it" from a cancer victim.

CANCER like drunkenness, is not inherited, but you can inherit a tendency to cancer, and attendency to alcoholism, as regards cure, everything depends on early treatment. Of a hundred that die of cancer in accessible part of the body, which means practically all of the body, in these days, ninety could have been saved by early treatment.

The only treatment worth while depends upon surgery, radium and X days. Medicine is worthless.

WHAT price royalty? The Queen of Rumania is coming with her charming daughter, Princess Ileana. The young lady, related to King George, the recent German kaiser, and the late Russian czar, might consider marrying a young American to finance a royal wife.

BORIS, young bachelor, King of Bulgaria, also plans to visit us. Some American father might get him for his daughter and be royalty's father-in-law.

Since Mrs. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king, married a Greek prince, financed a Greek restoration and died just as she had finished spending her money, the ambitious eyes of Europe turn this way. A comparatively small fortune say half a million or a million income could do wonders in a Balkan kingdom.

WHAT is it that frightens men, making them more and more timid as they climb higher in the world of success? There is a story of a king frightened in a thunderstorm who said to one that expressed surprise, "of course you are not frightened. You are not a king, lightning would not strike you."

ALL American citizens are supposed to be kings and many of them are frightened in the midst of their prosperity.

EIGHT out of ten Americans will ask you: What do you think of business conditions? Does everything look all right for the next five or six months? They specify a number of months with an eye to business commitments.

WHAT is there to worry about in this country, if we mind our own business and continue to work?

Apart from the fact that the nation is absolutely unprepared for attack in war, there is nothing to worry us. And war for some years to come is not probable. Therefore amiable optimistic amateurs in charge of the nation's defense are no great menace yet.

If there is anything a nation needs that we haven't got, what is it?

Men like gold, we have more than half of all there is in the world.

We have the greatest crops on earth, plenty of land to double and treble them.

WE have 115 millions of people and could soon have 250,000,000 and be individually and collectively twice as rich as we are now if we had the intelligence to encourage instead of shutting off immigration.

There has never been such prosperity as ours, and it has only begun. "It hath not yet been shown what we shall be," and yet intelligent Americans are nervous.

TOWN IS WIPED OUT BY STORM

Two Hundred Persons Reported Drowned in India.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The town of Mandla in the central provinces of India has been practically wiped out by terrific rain storms, it was reported today in a Central News dispatch from Calcutta.

Two hundred persons already are reported drowned. The population of Mandla is 5,400.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The tropical disturbance south of Havana is apparently of slight intensity, the weather bureau declared today.

It is central about latitude 17, longitude 85, and is moving northwestward. Caution is advised shipping in that region.

WAGES OF SIN IS FAME FOR GREAT ALEX

Chicago Gave Him Boot Into Court of Honor.

HE'S OLD MASTER

Another Grover Cleveland is in Spotlight.

By DICK WILLIAMS.

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS WITH THE CARDINALS AND YANKEES, Oct. 4.—Verily, the wages of sin are world series fame and the way of the transgressor is strewn with daffodils and sweet scented begonias.

Yea, even iniquity brings its reward of acclaim, and moral turpitude is but the gateway to sunny pastures and bright meadows where sweet nectars ripple in the babbling brooklets, etc.

Some months ago the great and only Grover Cleveland Alexander was excused from the employ of the Chicago National league baseball club. The method of excusing the Great Alexander was that of aiming the right foot at a point due south of his coat tail, inhaling deeply and letting drive.

Pitched Sensational Ball.

Yesterday at the Yankee stadium this he-booted great man pitched nine innings of the most sensational baseball a world series has been blessed with. The fact that he won his game 6 to 2 and put the emotional young men from St. Louis on an even plane with the Yankees in the scramble for the world title is little more than an incident. The drama lies in the way he did it.

The Yankees, who are said to hit the ball with great emphasis and power at any and all times, got just four hits off Alex. Furthermore, they did not collect a single hit after the third inning when Mr. Earl Combs, the first man up, singled and then gasped his last on first base while three teammates, including the great George Herman Ruth and efficient Robert Meusel, did nothing to aid him.

Moreover, ten Yankees were fanned by the aged and erring Mr. Alexander while the St. Louis outfield was obliged to take care of but a single put-out, a fly to Hafey in the eighth inning. Furthermore but one ball was driven beyond the Cardinal inner defense by the Yankees after that single by Combs in the third inning and that was that gentle fly to Hafey, of which Mr. Combs likewise was the author.

Get One Base On Balls.

What's more, the Yankees were treated to but a single base on balls. That also went to Combs.

The foregoing represents the high lights of Mr. Alexander's success. There was one incident that caused the celebrated antique concern. It occurred in the second inning when the Yankees scored both their runs. At that unfortunate hour, Mr. Alexander undertook to run down Signor Antonio Lazzerri, New York's agile second baseman, with the result that he looked even more senile the records admit.

There is an old saying in baseball that when a pitcher gets hold of a ball with the idea of putting someone out on the third base line, the proper procedure is to summon the bat boy, have him bring out the fungo stick and sock the pitcher above the medulla oblongata. This done, the ball may be retrieved and the runner retired.

The Cardinals, with that respect that youth accords extreme age, did not do this. Subsequently Mr. Alexander chucked the ball at Umpire Hildebrand instead of Lester Bell and Signor Lazzeri scored before it could be repossessed. Aside from this incident, things were most merry, indeed, for the well known falstaff of the so-called national game.

Secondary Heroes.

The secondary heroes of Sunday's ensemble—the young men who did most to carry Mr. Alexander's coattails across the finish line in a blaze of glory, were William Southworth, whose departure from New York was approximately as informal as Mr. Alexander, from Chicago, and Tommy Thevenow, a small man with a large Adam's apple who, incidentally, is about the ablest short fielder this great old game has seen since Bobby Wallace's thick Scotch brogue disturbed the wave lengths of old St. Louis.

Both Southworth and Thevenow added home runs to the services, Southworth's coming at bright moment in the seventh inning when Bob O'Farrell and the same Tummas Thevenow were on base and the score was tied with prospects of it remaining so. It was a vigorous hoist into the right field bleachers in pursuit of which George Herman Ruth knocked the hats off seven bleacher fans, but to no avail.

The Thevenow home run was a bit of oddity, like the managerial system of the Pittsburgh Pirates or a Broadway speakeasy in the hands of a receiver. Tommy popped a drive to right field that would have been good for two bases under ordinary circumstances. On the contrary, it was under Mr. George Herman Ruth. Not only was it under Mr. Ruth, but it was under that part of his anatomy that projects into the horizon like an offset on a medieval fortress.

Cards Did Hitting.

Before George Herman Ruth could remove the shadow of his vast torso from over the ball, Thevenow, who scampers about the bases with great alacrity, had crossed the plate and Sad Sam Jones, who was then pitching for Miller Huggins' charges, was infinitely sadder.

Thus the outstanding incidents of the second game. Unlike the first game, it was a contest of fine thrills, some fine baseball and a few singular mistakes. Oddly another game without a bobble for the Yanks, while the Cardinals, noted for their adamantine defense, added a miscue to their one of yesterday. Adversely, the Cardinals did the enthusiastic hitting while the Yankees, supposedly the fair haired scions of the god of sock, were quite docile and tractable.

Rogers Has Edge In Ruth-Hornsby Duel in Classic

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Ruth-Hornsby results for Sunday showed a complete reversal of the Saturday order, with Hornsby not only taking the lead in effective offensive play, but likewise adding to his margin of fielding superiority.

In five trips to the plate, Rogers got one hit, a clean double, sacrificed a runner to third and second. Both of whom subsequently scored, and drew a base on balls, in the meantime Ruth, in four tries failed to get a ball out of the infield. He looked at a third strike the first time up, popped to Thevenow the second time, rolled out to Hornsby the third and on the fourth helped to make a star of his rival by lining a smash toward right field that the St. Louis manager grabbed in a diving catch.

Afield Rogers had two putouts and four assists while Babe had one put out. In justice to the big Bam, it is hereby recorded that he almost caught Thevenow's drive on the foul line before it became misplaced and went for a home run.

St. Louis Baseball Mad

prices leaped and whereas on Saturday $25 a ticket was a top price, the quotations were almost doubled and probably will go beyond that figure before game time tomorrow.

EN ROUTE WITH THE CARDS AND YANKEES, Oct. 4.—One of the greatest welcomes eyer tendered a baseball team waits the Cardinals when they pull into St. Louis tonight. If reports along the road are to be believed, the entire middle west is all "het up" about Rogers Hornsby and his boys.

Alex Baffles Foe.

The fact that the "Show Me" gang evened the count with the Yanks before the largest crowd, 63,600 paid, that ever saw a ball game will make the homecoming all the more strenuous. But whatever they do the folks at home can't give their prides too much credit.

Behind the clock-like, near-perfection pitching of Alexander, Hornsby and his horde rode to a well-deserved triumph. There was something reminiscent of Matty and Brown and Walsh, of the great pitchers of those other mellower days in the work of Grover Cleveland out there in the tanbarked box of the Yankee stadium yesterday.

BY FORD C. FRICK.

ABOARD YANKEE SPECIAL, Oct. 4.—The Yankees, fast heading toward the camp of the enemy, already have forgotten the sting of defeat handed them yesterday by the St. Louis Cardinals, and more especially Alexander. If there is any tinge of disappointment or any wavering of Yankee faith it isn't apparent this bright October morning.

As Mr. George Herman Ruth remarked, only a few moments ago:

"A world series is a world series, but a bridge game is a bridge game, and you can't cry over defeat when you're playing a no trump hand."

Mr. Ruth's remark was forthcoming when one of the war correspondents inadvertently trumped his partner's ace. The correspondents, it seems, take the Yankee defeat more seriously than the Yankees themselves, which is a good thing for the Yankees.

Expect Inimical Attitude.

If there is any conjecture among the athletes at all, it pertains to the sort of reception they will get from St. Louis fans when they take the field tomorrow for the third game of a series that today is tied up tighter than a Salvation Army drum. St Louis fans never have been inclined to give the visiting players any the best of it, and with a world championship at the stake the chances are that their attitude will be even more inimical than usual.

Which is the thing the Yankees are expecting when they open tomorrow in the Cardinals' home ballwick. They hope for the best, but they're prepared for the worst.

What little baseball entered into the conversation today had to do with the wonderful work of Grover Cleveland Alexander, who, as his name signifies, dates back to a long forgotten era when free silver was a party issue and "innocuous desuetude" was a seven-dollar mouthful in any language.

Alexander Had Stuff.

The boys offer no alibis. As concerned the pitching produced by the venerable right-hander, he had the stuff.

"The greatest control I ever saw," remarked Lou Gehrig, as he forked his ham and eggs this morning.

"His screw ball was a wonder," contributes Earl Combs, who with Mrs. Combs viewed the fitting Indiana landscape from the observation platform.

"His fast ball hopped a foot," declared Mr. George Herman Ruth.

Card of Thanks.

We, the undersigned desire in this manner to thank our many friends and neighbors for their many kind acts and loving words to us in our time of loss of our dearly beloved wife, mother and sister. MORE ARRESTS IN HALL-MILLS CASE PROMISED

Inquiry Moves Back to New Jersey Today.

WOMAN SOUGHT

Brooklyn Detective is Admitted to $10,000 Bail.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 4.—The Hall-Mills murder investigation moved back across the New York state line to New Jersey today where the state investigators were busy preparing their case for presentation to the grand jury which meets on Thursday. Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in charge of the case, intimated he will ask for four more arrests on charges of accessories after the fact. One of these persons is said to be a woman.

The trial of the four year-old mystery shifted temporarily to Brooklyn supreme court, when Felix di Martini, chief detective for Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, was admitted to $10,000 bail, following his arrest on charges of being a fugitive from justice in New Jersey, where he is wanted as an accessory after the fact in the slaying of Dr. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Di Martini was released after attorneys for Mis Hall had applied for a writ of habeas corpus. Hearing on the writ was set for Friday. Simpson asserted di Martini in the first investigation four years ago had access to witnesses and much information which the state of New Jersey is desirous of obtaining.

Joseph H. Porter, president of a banking institution in New Brunswick, was scheduled for further questioning concerning the safe deposit box rented by the slain pastor in the National Bank of New Jersey, of which Porter was trust officer at the time of Dr. Hall's death.

Walter R. Burnley, private detective formerly employed by Dr. Hall, has informed Simpson that the safe deposit box number which Dr. Hall gave Burnley did not correspond to the number of the box opened at the bank after the slayings.

Call For Bids

tween Union and Monroe streets also will be opened.

Bids for the resurfacing of St. Clair avenue, from Young's alley to the north line of the J. T. Croxall property will be opened on October 15, while figures for the grading and surfacing of Avondale street from Bank street to North street will be received on October 18.

Director Moore announced that the St. Clair avenue job will be the first to be taken up, after the sewer jobs have been disposed of. This job is slated for completion before winter. The Fourth street and Avondale street contracts will be awarded as soon as the money is available. Because of the lateness of the season it it not likely that the Avondale street job will be finished this year, although the grading work may be undertaken this fall.

The St. Clair avenue job, the last link in the new improvement between the Diamond and Calcutta, will be either sheet asphalt, Willite process, or asphaltic concrete. The same improvement also has been planned for East and West Fourth streets. In addition to sheet asphalt and asphaltic concrete, estimates have been asked for concrete on the proposed Avondale street improvement.

Because of the lack of funds little steer and sewer improvement work has been undertaken in East Liverpool this year. The main project finished this season is West Eighth street in which the county and the street car company shared. Shadyside avenue, also within the city, was improved this year at the expense of the Liverpool township trustees.

Five Go To Retormatory, One Given Prison Term

Judge W. H. Spence Metes Out Penalties After Six Plead Guilty to Indictments — One Man Fined.

Five reformatory sentences and one penitentiary term were meted out by Judge W. H. Spence in the common pleas court at Lisbon today after pleas of guilty to indictments had been entered.

William Kirby, Philip Longstreth, Francis Terloskey and Meryl Young, indicted for assault with intent to rob, in connection with the attempted hold-up of the Charles Loop filling station near McCracken's Corners on the Lisbon-Salem road a few weeks ago, were sentenced to from one to 15 years in the reformatory.

Arthur Jones, colored, of Greenville, Pa., arrested in Salem for the theft of a motor vehicle, was given from one to 20 years in the Mansfield institution.

Carson Haas, Youngstown, who was arrested in East Liverpool about two months ago, after he had looted the Jay Crawford filling station near West Point, was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the penitentiary.

W. E. Figley, who was arrested in Philadelphia, charged with removing a mortgaged automobile from the state, and who was brought back to Ohio after extradition papers had been granted, was fined $50 and costs after he had entered a plea of guilty. Figley had been in jail about seven weeks.

The jury was excused by Judge Spence until Tuesday morning.

Pro-Con Arguments

would surrender a constitutional right for a legislative enactment. The former is fixed, definite and certain, the latter, variable, vague and uncertain and subject to frequent change.

"The proposed amendment should not be adopted, because:

"1—It would virtually nullify the primary election system of Ohio. The nomination for United States senator and every state, district, county, township and municipal office would be subject to legislative contention. So far as these officers are concerned the primary would be abolished. It would remain in form only as a means of choosing delegates to political conventions.

"2—It in no way decreases the cost of the present primary system. The choosing of delegates to political conventions would necessitate the same election machinery and expense as is now required for all primary purposes.

"3—Unless the candidate for public office depended upon the county political organization, his expense is running for district or state office would be vastly increased. Instead of making a direct, personal campaign, he would be compelled to sponsor a slate of delegates who would represent him on the ballot in the several counties of the district or state.

"4—The men and women elected under the primary system, with few exceptions have been able, courageous and efficient public servants and compare most favorably with those under the convention plan.

TWO MOTORISTS DIE IN CRASH

CLEVES, O., Oct. 4.—Arthur Muliex, 30, and Walter Moore, 36, were dead here today the victims of a week-end auto accident. Their automobile was demolished by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train at the Columbia Power company crossing. These two deaths with two that occurred late Saturday, brought the total of traffic fatalities in Hamilton county to 100 for the year.

Lockjaw, Developed From Blister on Heel, Kills Girl

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—Bernice Marie Bugh, 8, of Baltimore, Md., was dead here today, a victim of lockjaw. The poison developed from a blister rubbed on her heel by a tight shoe.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—After absorbing a considerable volume of week-end selling orders in early trading today, the stock market displayed a firmer tone, particularly in the railroad and motor stock divisions. In the absence of any special factors affecting stock values there was a limited volume of new buying, and the professionals and pools continued to press their stocks for sale.

The market was dull rather than reactionary in the first hour, the price gains in General Motors, Werner Brothers, American Smelting and other market leaders counterbalancing the losses in Mack Trucks, Pullman, the oil stocks and various specialty shares. The 5 1-2 per cent call renewal rate announced by the money brokers was not to the liking of the speculative district which looked for at least a fractional decline in the first call loan rate for the week.

OFFER REWARD FOR BODY OF MISSING CHILD

Hunt for Orwell, Ohio, Girl is Spurred.

MURDER HINTED

County Commissioners Post $1,000 in Mystery Case.

ASHTABULA, O., Oct. 4.—A reward of $1,000 for the body of Isabel Zandarski, 3, who disappeared from her home at Orwell, September 22, was offered here today by the Ashtabula county commissioners.

The reward declared that the sum would be paid for the girl's body "dead or alive" but that $500 of the amount would be paid for knowledge that she had been murdered or for information concerning her murderers

Mother and Uncle Held.

ORWELL, O., Oct. 4.—A mysterious automobile, seen traveling toward the muck lands from the direction of the Zandarski home, at 1:30 the morning Isabel Zandarski disappeared, has brought a new clue into the case and caused Sheriff H. D. Hannum virtually to abandon a kidnaping theory in favor of a murder suspicion.

Mrs. Josephine Zandarski, mother of the child, is in the county jail here where Sheriff Hannum says he is "keeping her isolated from the rest of the family." She is not under charges.

Mrs. Zandarski told him, the sheriff declared, that the night before the girl disappeared, she had occasion to punish her rather severely, whereupon the child went to sleep. Later, still sleeping, she was put to bed by the father. She has not been seen since. That was September 22.

Frank Krurick, 18, an uncle of the child, who occupied a room adjoining that of the girl the night she disappeared, also is being held in jail.

Thousands of persons visited the muck lands here Sunday and searched for evidence of the missing child.

TWO $100 FINES IN CITY COURT

One Liquor Charge Heard—Daniel Parsons Goes to Jail.

Edward Davis, Lisbon street, was fined $100 and costs, Sunday morning by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, after he was found guilty upon a charge of the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors.

Eight half pints of whiskey are alleged to have been found at Davis' home when it was raided Saturday night by Captain Conley and Patrolmen McFarland and Haley. Davis paid $40 on his fine and arranged for settlement of the remainder.

Daniel Parsons was committed to the county jail at Lisbon after he had been fined $100 and costs upon an intoxication charge brought under the state law. Parsons was arrested on Second street Sunday by Captain Conley.

Leroy Smith is being held by the police pending further investigation of a charge filed by Bud Woomer, who claimed that Smith has taken his Essex touring car without his consent. Smith was arrested Sunday evening by Patrolman Lister.

Four motorists who were arrested on Eighth street by Special Patrolman Leslie Curran Saturday night, charged with fast and reckless driving, were each fined $1 and costs. They were Clyde Carpenter, Charles Davis, Donald Vandyke and Ernest Ehlenbach. A similar fine was assessed against George Russo, Minerva street, who was arrested for parking in a restricted zone on Dresden avenue.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Elsie Keller.

Mrs. Elsie Keller, 50 years old, wife of John L. Keller, died yesterday morning in her home, two miles from Leetonia. Death was caused by paralysis.

Mrs. Keller, who was a lifelong resident of that section, is survived besides her husband by four sons and two daughters: Carl, Ray, Orland, Merlin, Mildred and Mrs. Hosea Peppel.

She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held in the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in charge of Rev. H. C. Brillhart, pastor of St. Paul's church, Leetonia.

World Series Photos Ruined When Plane Falls Into River

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 4.—Earl F. Ward, United States air mail pilot, prepared to resume his "route" today despite an accident yesterday which wrecked his plane.

Ward was compelled to make a forced landing near Sunbury, Pa., as he speeded from New York to Cleveland. In landing his plane hit a tree and careened into the Susquehannah river.

The pilot swam from beneath his craft with his pouches, secured another machine and arrived here only a few hours late.

World series photographs for newspapers in Cleveland and other cities west, included in Ward's cargo of mail, were ruined by the water.

YOU respect a man who takes his own medicine. Braunsegard, a great French physician and scientist, was called cruel because he practiced vivisection on animals, to prove that a man might think and recognize his friends after his head had been cut off. He separated the living head from the body of a dog which turns its eyes to the right of left as the doctor whistled on the right or left side.

Having explained to his students that atmosphere pressure kept enough blood in the brain to allow for thought, the doctor then past seventy, lectured on vital processes involved in the knitting of bones, as a preliminary he broke one of his own fingers in a vise and lectured as he put on a splint and explained what happened, calmly commenting on his sensations.

ONE HUNDRED cancer specialists of this and European countries have boiled into one brief statement all that is known about cancer. This is said to be the most important statement on the subject ever made.

FIRST nobody knows what cancer is, some think it comes from a germ, other from a growth caused by irritation of tissues. Nobody knows.

Most important of all cancer is not contagious or infectious. You cannot "catch it" from a cancer victim.

CANCER like drunkenness, is not inherited, but you can inherit a tendency to cancer, and attendency to alcoholism, as regards cure, everything depends on early treatment. Of a hundred that die of cancer in accessible part of the body, which means practically all of the body, in these days, ninety could have been saved by early treatment.

The only treatment worth while depends upon surgery, radium and X days. Medicine is worthless.

WHAT price royalty? The Queen of Rumania is coming with her charming daughter, Princess Ileana. The young lady, related to King George, the recent German kaiser, and the late Russian czar, might consider marrying a young American to finance a royal wife.

BORIS, young bachelor, King of Bulgaria, also plans to visit us. Some American father might get him for his daughter and be royalty's father-in-law.

Since Mrs. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king, married a Greek prince, financed a Greek restoration and died just as she had finished spending her money, the ambitious eyes of Europe turn this way. A comparatively small fortune say half a million or a million income could do wonders in a Balkan kingdom.

WHAT is it that frightens men, making them more and more timid as they climb higher in the world of success? There is a story of a king frightened in a thunderstorm who said to one that expressed surprise, "of course you are not frightened. You are not a king, lightning would not strike you."

ALL American citizens are supposed to be kings and many of them are frightened in the midst of their prosperity.

EIGHT out of ten Americans will ask you: What do you think of business conditions? Does everything look all right for the next five or six months? They specify a number of months with an eye to business commitments.

WHAT is there to worry about in this country, if we mind our own business and continue to work?

Apart from the fact that the nation is absolutely unprepared for attack in war, there is nothing to worry us. And war for some years to come is not probable. Therefore amiable optimistic amateurs in charge of the nation's defense are no great menace yet.

If there is anything a nation needs that we haven't got, what is it?

Men like gold, we have more than half of all there is in the world.

We have the greatest crops on earth, plenty of land to double and treble them.

WE have 115 millions of people and could soon have 250,000,000 and be individually and collectively twice as rich as we are now if we had the intelligence to encourage instead of shutting off immigration.

There has never been such prosperity as ours, and it has only begun. "It hath not yet been shown what we shall be," and yet intelligent Americans are nervous.

TOWN IS WIPED OUT BY STORM

Two Hundred Persons Reported Drowned in India.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The town of Mandla in the central provinces of India has been practically wiped out by terrific rain storms, it was reported today in a Central News dispatch from Calcutta.

Two hundred persons already are reported drowned. The population of Mandla is 5,400.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The tropical disturbance south of Havana is apparently of slight intensity, the weather bureau declared today.

It is central about latitude 17, longitude 85, and is moving northwestward. Caution is advised shipping in that region.

WAGES OF SIN IS FAME FOR GREAT ALEX

Chicago Gave Him Boot Into Court of Honor.

HE'S OLD MASTER

Another Grover Cleveland is in Spotlight.

By DICK WILLIAMS.

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS WITH THE CARDINALS AND YANKEES, Oct. 4.—Verily, the wages of sin are world series fame and the way of the transgressor is strewn with daffodils and sweet scented begonias.

Yea, even iniquity brings its reward of acclaim, and moral turpitude is but the gateway to sunny pastures and bright meadows where sweet nectars ripple in the babbling brooklets, etc.

Some months ago the great and only Grover Cleveland Alexander was excused from the employ of the Chicago National league baseball club. The method of excusing the Great Alexander was that of aiming the right foot at a point due south of his coat tail, inhaling deeply and letting drive.

Pitched Sensational Ball.

Yesterday at the Yankee stadium this he-booted great man pitched nine innings of the most sensational baseball a world series has been blessed with. The fact that he won his game 6 to 2 and put the emotional young men from St. Louis on an even plane with the Yankees in the scramble for the world title is little more than an incident. The drama lies in the way he did it.

The Yankees, who are said to hit the ball with great emphasis and power at any and all times, got just four hits off Alex. Furthermore, they did not collect a single hit after the third inning when Mr. Earl Combs, the first man up, singled and then gasped his last on first base while three teammates, including the great George Herman Ruth and efficient Robert Meusel, did nothing to aid him.

Moreover, ten Yankees were fanned by the aged and erring Mr. Alexander while the St. Louis outfield was obliged to take care of but a single put-out, a fly to Hafey in the eighth inning. Furthermore but one ball was driven beyond the Cardinal inner defense by the Yankees after that single by Combs in the third inning and that was that gentle fly to Hafey, of which Mr. Combs likewise was the author.

Get One Base On Balls.

What's more, the Yankees were treated to but a single base on balls. That also went to Combs.

The foregoing represents the high lights of Mr. Alexander's success. There was one incident that caused the celebrated antique concern. It occurred in the second inning when the Yankees scored both their runs. At that unfortunate hour, Mr. Alexander undertook to run down Signor Antonio Lazzerri, New York's agile second baseman, with the result that he looked even more senile the records admit.

There is an old saying in baseball that when a pitcher gets hold of a ball with the idea of putting someone out on the third base line, the proper procedure is to summon the bat boy, have him bring out the fungo stick and sock the pitcher above the medulla oblongata. This done, the ball may be retrieved and the runner retired.

The Cardinals, with that respect that youth accords extreme age, did not do this. Subsequently Mr. Alexander chucked the ball at Umpire Hildebrand instead of Lester Bell and Signor Lazzeri scored before it could be repossessed. Aside from this incident, things were most merry, indeed, for the well known falstaff of the so-called national game.

Secondary Heroes.

The secondary heroes of Sunday's ensemble—the young men who did most to carry Mr. Alexander's coattails across the finish line in a blaze of glory, were William Southworth, whose departure from New York was approximately as informal as Mr. Alexander, from Chicago, and Tommy Thevenow, a small man with a large Adam's apple who, incidentally, is about the ablest short fielder this great old game has seen since Bobby Wallace's thick Scotch brogue disturbed the wave lengths of old St. Louis.

Both Southworth and Thevenow added home runs to the services, Southworth's coming at bright moment in the seventh inning when Bob O'Farrell and the same Tummas Thevenow were on base and the score was tied with prospects of it remaining so. It was a vigorous hoist into the right field bleachers in pursuit of which George Herman Ruth knocked the hats off seven bleacher fans, but to no avail.

The Thevenow home run was a bit of oddity, like the managerial system of the Pittsburgh Pirates or a Broadway speakeasy in the hands of a receiver. Tommy popped a drive to right field that would have been good for two bases under ordinary circumstances. On the contrary, it was under Mr. George Herman Ruth. Not only was it under Mr. Ruth, but it was under that part of his anatomy that projects into the horizon like an offset on a medieval fortress.

Cards Did Hitting.

Before George Herman Ruth could remove the shadow of his vast torso from over the ball, Thevenow, who scampers about the bases with great alacrity, had crossed the plate and Sad Sam Jones, who was then pitching for Miller Huggins' charges, was infinitely sadder.

Thus the outstanding incidents of the second game. Unlike the first game, it was a contest of fine thrills, some fine baseball and a few singular mistakes. Oddly another game without a bobble for the Yanks, while the Cardinals, noted for their adamantine defense, added a miscue to their one of yesterday. Adversely, the Cardinals did the enthusiastic hitting while the Yankees, supposedly the fair haired scions of the god of sock, were quite docile and tractable.

Rogers Has Edge In Ruth-Hornsby Duel in Classic

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Ruth-Hornsby results for Sunday showed a complete reversal of the Saturday order, with Hornsby not only taking the lead in effective offensive play, but likewise adding to his margin of fielding superiority.

In five trips to the plate, Rogers got one hit, a clean double, sacrificed a runner to third and second. Both of whom subsequently scored, and drew a base on balls, in the meantime Ruth, in four tries failed to get a ball out of the infield. He looked at a third strike the first time up, popped to Thevenow the second time, rolled out to Hornsby the third and on the fourth helped to make a star of his rival by lining a smash toward right field that the St. Louis manager grabbed in a diving catch.

Afield Rogers had two putouts and four assists while Babe had one put out. In justice to the big Bam, it is hereby recorded that he almost caught Thevenow's drive on the foul line before it became misplaced and went for a home run.

St. Louis Baseball Mad

prices leaped and whereas on Saturday $25 a ticket was a top price, the quotations were almost doubled and probably will go beyond that figure before game time tomorrow.

EN ROUTE WITH THE CARDS AND YANKEES, Oct. 4.—One of the greatest welcomes eyer tendered a baseball team waits the Cardinals when they pull into St. Louis tonight. If reports along the road are to be believed, the entire middle west is all "het up" about Rogers Hornsby and his boys.

Alex Baffles Foe.

The fact that the "Show Me" gang evened the count with the Yanks before the largest crowd, 63,600 paid, that ever saw a ball game will make the homecoming all the more strenuous. But whatever they do the folks at home can't give their prides too much credit.

Behind the clock-like, near-perfection pitching of Alexander, Hornsby and his horde rode to a well-deserved triumph. There was something reminiscent of Matty and Brown and Walsh, of the great pitchers of those other mellower days in the work of Grover Cleveland out there in the tanbarked box of the Yankee stadium yesterday.

BY FORD C. FRICK.

ABOARD YANKEE SPECIAL, Oct. 4.—The Yankees, fast heading toward the camp of the enemy, already have forgotten the sting of defeat handed them yesterday by the St. Louis Cardinals, and more especially Alexander. If there is any tinge of disappointment or any wavering of Yankee faith it isn't apparent this bright October morning.

As Mr. George Herman Ruth remarked, only a few moments ago:

"A world series is a world series, but a bridge game is a bridge game, and you can't cry over defeat when you're playing a no trump hand."

Mr. Ruth's remark was forthcoming when one of the war correspondents inadvertently trumped his partner's ace. The correspondents, it seems, take the Yankee defeat more seriously than the Yankees themselves, which is a good thing for the Yankees.

Expect Inimical Attitude.

If there is any conjecture among the athletes at all, it pertains to the sort of reception they will get from St. Louis fans when they take the field tomorrow for the third game of a series that today is tied up tighter than a Salvation Army drum. St. Louis fans never have been inclined to give the visiting players any the best of it, and with a world championship at the stake the chances are that their attitude will be even more inimical than usual.

Which is the thing the Yankees are expecting when they open tomorrow in the Cardinals' home bailiwick. They hope for the best, but they're prepared for the worst.

What little baseball entered into the conversation today had to do with the wonderful work of Grover Cleveland Alexander, who, as his name signifies, dates back to a long forgotten era when free silver was a party issue and "innocuous desuetude" was a seven-dollar mouthful in any language.

Alexander Had Stuff.

The boys offer no alibis. As concerned the pitching produced by the venerable right-hander, he had the stuff.

"The greatest control I ever saw," remarked Lou Gehrig, as he forked his ham and eggs this morning.

"His screw ball was a wonder," contributes Earl Combs, who with Mrs. Combs viewed the fitting Indiana landscape from the observation platform.

"His fast ball hopped a foot," declared Mr. George Herman Ruth.

Card of Thanks.

We, the undersigned desire in this manner to thank our many friends and neighbors for their many kind acts and loving words to us in our time of loss of our dearly beloved wife, mother and sister. Especially do we thank Rev. B. R. Johnson, Ohio City Rebekah lodge, Private Eddy Auxiliary No. 66, Private Eddy Post No. 66, Vets of Foreign Wars, D. E. McNicol Clay Shops and kilnmen Edwin M. Knowles Decorating Shop, Gold Star Auxiliary of Salem, Ladies Department of Ohio and all others for their beautiful tokens of love. We also desire to thank all those who so kindly donated cars.

MORE ARRESTS IN HALL-MILLS CASE PROMISED

Inquiry Moves Back to New Jersey Today.

WOMAN SOUGHT

Brooklyn Detective is Admitted to $10,000 Bail.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 4.—The Hall-Mills murder investigation moved back across the New York state line to New Jersey today where the state investigators were busy preparing their case for presentation to the grand jury which meets on Thursday. Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in charge of the case, intimated he will ask for four more arrests on charges of accessories after the fact. One of these persons is said to be a woman.

The trial of the four year-old mystery shifted temporarily to Brooklyn supreme court, when Felix di Martini, chief detective for Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, was admitted to $10,000 bail, following his arrest on charges of being a fugitive from justice in New Jersey, where he is wanted as an accessory after the fact in the slaying of Dr. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Di Martini was released after attorneys for Mis Hall had applied for a writ of habeas corpus. Hearing on the writ was set for Friday. Simpson asserted di Martini in the first investigation four years ago had access to witnesses and much information which the state of New Jersey is desirous of obtaining.

Joseph H. Porter, president of a banking institution in New Brunswick, was scheduled for further questioning concerning the safe deposit box rented by the slain pastor in the National Bank of New Jersey, of which Porter was trust officer at the time of Dr. Hall's death.

Walter R. Burnley, private detective formerly employed by Dr. Hall, has informed Simpson that the safe deposit box number which Dr. Hall gave Burnley did not correspond to the number of the box opened at the bank after the slayings.

Call For Bids

tween Union and Monroe streets also will be opened.

Bids for the resurfacing of St. Clair avenue, from Young's alley to the north line of the J. T. Croxall property will be opened on October 15, while figures for the grading and surfacing of Avondale street from Bank street to North street will be received on October 18.

Director Moore announced that the St. Clair avenue job will be the first to be taken up, after the sewer jobs have been disposed of. This job is slated for completion before winter. The Fourth street and Avondale street contracts will be awarded as soon as the money is available. Because of the lateness of the season it it not likely that the Avondale street job will be finished this year, although the grading work may be undertaken this fall.

The St. Clair avenue job, the last link in the new improvement between the Diamond and Calcutta, will be either sheet asphalt, Willite process, or asphaltic concrete. The same improvement also has been planned for East and West Fourth streets. In addition to sheet asphalt and asphaltic concrete, estimates have been asked for concrete on the proposed Avondale street improvement.

Because of the lack of funds little steer and sewer improvement work has been undertaken in East Liverpool this year. The main project finished this season is West Eighth street in which the county and the street car company shared. Shadyside avenue, also within the city, was improved this year at the expense of the Liverpool township trustees.

Five Go To Retormatory, One Given Prison Term

Judge W. H. Spence Metes Out Penalties After Six Plead Guilty to Indictments — One Man Fined.

Five reformatory sentences and one penitentiary term were meted out by Judge W. H. Spence in the common pleas court at Lisbon today after pleas of guilty to indictments had been entered.

William Kirby, Philip Longstreth, Francis Terloskey and Meryl Young, indicted for assault with intent to rob, in connection with the attempted holdup of the Charles Loop filling station near McCracken's Corners on the Lisson-Salem road a few weeks ago, were sentenced to from one to 15 years in the reformatory.

Arthur Jones, colored, of Greenville, Pa., arrested in Salem for the theft of a motor vehicle, was given from one to 20 years in the Mansfield institution.

Carson Haas, Youngstown, who was arrested in East Liverpool about two months ago, after he had looted the Jay Crawford filling station near West Point, was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the penitentiary.

W. E. Figley, who was arrested in Philadelphia, charged with removing a mortgaged automobile from the state, and who was brought back to Ohio after extradition papers had been granted, was fined $50 and costs after he had entered a plea of guilty. Figley had been in jail about seven weeks.

The jury was excused by Judge Spence until Tuesday morning.

Pro-Con Arguments

would surrender a constitutional right for a legislative enactment. The former is fixed, definite and certain, the latter, variable, vague and uncertain and subject to frequent change.

"The proposed amendment should not be adopted, because:

"1—It would virtually nullify the primary election system of Ohio. The nomination for United States senator and every state, district, county, township and municipal office would be subject to legislative contention. So far as these officers are concerned the primary would be abolished. It would remain in form only as a means of choosing delegates to political conventions.

"2—It in no way decreases the cost of the present primary system. The choosing of delegates to political conventions would necessitate the same election machinery and expense as is now required for all primary purposes.

"3—Unless the candidate for public office depended upon the county political organization, his expense is running for district or state office would be vastly increased. Instead of making a direct, personal campaign, he would be compelled to sponsor a slate of delegates who would represent him on the ballot in the several counties of the district or state.

"4—The men and women elected under the primary system, with few exceptions have been able, courageous and efficient public servants and compare most favorably with those under the convention plan.

In the absence of any special factors affecting stock values there was a limited volume of new buying, and the professionals and pools continued to press their stocks for sale.

The market was dull rather than reactionary in the first hour, the price gains in General Motors, Werner Brothers, American Smelting and other market leaders counterbalancing the losses in Mack Trucks, Pullman, the oil stocks and various specialty shares. The 5 1-2 per cent call renewal rate announced by the money brokers was not to the liking of the speculative district which looked for at least a fractional decline in the first call loan rate for the week.

REPORT FILED BY COPELAND

Rainfall During Past Month Heaviest Ever Recorded.

Approximately 9.60 inches of rain fell in Columbiana county during the month of September, according to Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, United States department of Agriculture Cooperative Observer for this district. The heaviest rainfall in September in a given 24 hours was on the 23rd when 1.70 inches fell. September was the greatest month for rainfall since the observers' station was established at Millport."

There were but five clear days last month, seven being cloudy and 18 partly cloudy. There were three thunder storms during the preceding month, these occurring on the 15th, 22nd and 23rd.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 73.2 and the mean temperature 54.4 and the mean temperature was placed at -63.8. Sept. 4 and 22 were the warmest days when 85 was registered, and the coolest was Sept. 26 when it was down to 37. The greatest daily range was 34 degrees, registered Sept. 12.

The month was noted for its evenness of temperature. There were few cool nights, neither was there any frost. The lack of sunshine was pronounced. As a result of the heavy rainfall there has been a decided decrease in the wheat acreage, as many wheat fields were washed out after they had been sown.

One year ago wheat was all sown, and corn was all in the shock and well matured, but this year very little corn is in the shock, and practically no wheat sown. This will probably result in the smallest acreage of wheat ever planted in the county, after loss has been taken into consideration, the report declares.

The month of September had five heavy rains when 1.60 inches fell on the 2nd; 1.23 inches of the 5th; 1.05 inches on the 6th; 1.96 inches in the 15th and with 2.40 inches falling between the 23rd and 24th. Beginning on August 15th and continuing for 45 days or until Sept. 30th, there was a rainfall of 14.80 inches in Columbiana county, this being the greatest amount of rain in any 45-day period at the Millport station. In fact the record shows that out of this 45-day period rain fell on 25 days.

During September 1925 the rainfall was but 2.80 inches, and September last had an increase of 6.80 inches of rain. The previous wettest September was in 1924 when 8.29 inches of rain fell.

Commissioners Given Report on Highways By County Surveyor

County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk in a communication to the county commissioners gives road contractors the option of either correcting pavements they built or to conform to specifications or accept deductions.

The communication followed receipt of a report by the surveyor of a report of a record of a profilometer reading on the five roads recently completed in the county:

The report follows:

"The Wellsville-Salineville road is 3.76 miles long and the graph showed 24 bumps or depressions of over 1-4 inch, 21 of them being 3-8 inch and three of 1-2 inch, this then makes an average of seven bumps per mile of road.

"The Wellsville-East Liverpool road is 0.78 miles long, the profile reading shows three bumps of 3-8 inch and two of 1-2 inch, a total of five bumps. This makes an average of seven bumps per mile.

"The West Eighth street job shows 28 bumps of 3-8 inch, 15 of 1-2 and six of 3-4 inch or more, making a total of 50. The length of this job is 0.393 miles. This makes an average of 127 bumps per mile.

"The Shadyside job is 0.447 miles in length and the graph shows 38 bumps of 3-8 inch and four of 1-2 inch. This makes an average of 94 bumps per mile.

"The state and county specifications state that a pavement shall not vary more than 1-4 in any 10 feet, and in the case of the state they deduct from the contractor the price of one square yard of pavement for each and every bump exceeding 1-4 inch and Lewis & Copeland and George B. Patterson accepted this. (The contractor has the option of either accepting this or going back and correcting the pavement) or in order to be consistent, we will have to give the firms of Tatgenhorst and McLaughlin and the Ohio Willite Paving company the option of either correcting their pavements to conform to the specifications or accept the deduction.

"The Wellsville-Salineville road is of concrete.

"The Wellsville-East Liverpool road and west Eighth street are of brick.

"The Shadyside avenue is of willite.

"I shall admit that it is easier to construct a road of concrete or willite and get a smooth surface than it is one surfaced of brick. Nevertheless the specifications call for a 1-4 of an inch in ten feet on brick and concrete and 1-4 of an inch in eight feet on willite or bituminous concrete. However, in checking the Shadyside avenue job it was checked on 1-4 of an inch in ten feet.

"Through the courtesy of R. S. Beightler, chief engineer of construction of the state highway department, this machine was loaned to me for these county jobs."

Sheriff Returns.

Sheriff George Wright returned to Lisbon Saturday afternoon, following a two-day trip to Mansfield and Gallipolis. At Mansfield he delivered two prisoners recently sentenced by Judge Spence for forgery and automobile stealing, and at Gallipolis he delivered a youthful epeleptic.

Preaches Initial Sermon.

Rev. C. N. Church, recently assigned to the pastorate of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church preached his initial sermon at Lisbon Sunday morning. Mr. Church was formerly located at Uhrichsville.

MORE FUNDS FOR COUNTY ROADS

That more funds will be available for road purposes in this county next year than what has been the past season is generally admitted by the county commissioners.

Because of a law passed at the last session of the state legislature, commissioners and other municipal governing bodies were not privileged to follow former financial plans in order to obtain funds to proceed with improvements. In other words, the new law compelled all of these bodies to "live within their income."

While there will be no change in the current 1927 major road program as was outlined by the 1925 bond issue, the commissioners may have at their command next year larger funds for road purposes than has been the rule this season. Few if any townships have been aided by the funds under the control of the commissioners this year. However, the commissioners will not have additional funds at their disposal until after the February tax settlement period.

PARTITION SUIT FILED IN COURT

Nathan Reich of East Liverpool, through his counsel J. M. McGarry has filed an action in partition in common pleas court against Ira H. Aronson of East Liverpool, and at the same time an account is demanded under an order of court by Reich from Aronson.

The petition relates that the two own a property in Second street, East Liverpool, and that Aronson has collected all rents since May 16, 1924 and that although an accounting was sought by the plaintiff from the defendant Dec. 1, 1925, he has not received a record. Reich believes that $900 has been collected by Aronson and the Potters' Savings & Loan Co., of East Liverpool has been made a party defendant because it has an equity of $2,500 in the property.

Fire Truck Accepted.

At a special meeting of the Lisbon village council, the acceptance of the new Deluge fire truck was approved, and the payment of $6,500 for the equipment approved. The council authorized the purchase of the new machine under a bond issue several months ago, but with the provision that it would not be accepted until its worth was proven by actual demonstration at Lisbon.

Board Inspects Home.

County commissioners today made their regular monthly inspection of the county home, which is under the management of John P. Neill. The board will be given a detailed report within a few weeks of the record of the harvest from the lands of this institution, for the current season.

Masons Visit Canton.

A number of automobiles containing members of New Lisbon Lodge No. 65 F. & A. M. were driven to Canton Sunday, where the new $1,000,000 Masonic temple was dedicated. During the day many machines from both Wellsville and East Liverpool passed through Lisbon enroute to Canton on the same mission.

Case Appealed.

The case of Willie Wilkinson against Normal Mick, recently tried in the court of Justice Charles Bonsall at Salem, has been appealed to common pleas court by the defendant, the appeal bond being signed by Mrs. Ida Perkins.

In this case the plaintiff sued to recover on a claim of $60 for work and labor. The court rendered judgment for the full amount in favor of Wilkinson.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

"The Wellsville-Salineville road is 3.76 miles long and the graph showed 24 bumps or depressions of over 1-4 inch, 21 of them being 3-8 inch and three of 1-2 inch, this then makes an average of seven bumps per mile of road.

"The Wellsville-East Liverpool road is 0.78 miles long, the profile reading shows three bumps of 3-8 inch and two of 1-2 inch, a total of five bumps. This makes an average of seven bumps per mile.

"The West Eighth street job shows 28 bumps of 3-8 inch, 15 of 1-2 and six of 3-4 inch or more, making a total of 50. The length of this job is 0.393 miles. This makes an average of 127 bumps per mile.

"The Shadyside job is 0.447 miles in length and the graph shows 38 bumps of 3-8 inch and four of 1-2 inch. This makes an average of 94 bumps per mile.

"The state and county specifications state that a pavement shall not vary more than 1-4 in any 10 feet, and in the case of the state they deduct from the contractor the price of one square yard of pavement for each and every bump exceeding 1-4 inch and Lewis & Copeland and George B. Patterson accepted this. (The contractor has the option of either accepting this or going back and correcting the pavement) or in order to be consistent, we will have to give the firms of Tatgenhorst and McLaughlin and the Ohio Willite Paving company the option of either correcting their pavements to conform to the specifications or accept the deduction.

"The Wellsville-Salineville road is of concrete.

"The Wellsville-East Liverpool road and west Eighth street are of brick.

"The Shadyside avenue is of willite.

"I shall admit that it is easier to construct a road of concrete or willite and get a smooth surface than it is one surfaced of brick. Nevertheless the specifications call for a 1-4 of an inch in ten feet on brick and concrete and 1-4 of an inch in eight feet on willite or bituminous concrete. However, in checking the Shadyside avenue job it was checked on 1-4 of an inch in ten feet.

"Through the courtesy of R. S. Beightler, chief engineer of construction of the state highway department, this machine was loaned to me for these county jobs."

MORE FUNDS FOR COUNTY ROADS

That more funds will be available for road purposes in this county next year than what has been the past season is generally admitted by the county commissioners.

Because of a law passed at the last session of the state legislature, commissioners and other municipal governing bodies were not privileged to follow former financial plans in order to obtain funds to proceed with improvements. In other words, the new law compelled all of these bodies to "live within their income."

While there will be no change in the current 1927 major road program as was outlined by the 1925 bond issue, the commissioners may have at their command next year larger funds for road purposes than has been the rule this season. Few if any townships have been aided by the funds under the control of the commissioners this year. However, the commissioners will not have additional funds at their disposal until after the February tax settlement period.

PARTITION SUIT FILED IN COURT

Nathan Reich of East Liverpool, through his counsel J. M. McGarry has filed an action in partition in common pleas court against Ira H. Aronson of East Liverpool, and at the same time an account is demanded under an order of court by Reich from Aronson.

The petition relates that the two own a property in Second street, East Liverpool, and that Aronson has collected all rents since May 16, 1924 and that although an accounting was sought by the plaintiff from the defendant Dec. 1, 1925, he has not received a record. Reich believes that $900 has been collected by Aronson and the Potters' Savings & Loan Co., of East Liverpool has been made a party defendant because it has an equity of $2,500 in the property.

Fire Truck Accepted.

At a special meeting of the Lisbon village council, the acceptance of the new Deluge fire truck was approved, and the payment of $6,500 for the equipment approved. The council authorized the purchase of the new machine under a bond issue several months ago, but with the provision that it would not be accepted until its worth was proven by actual demonstration at Lisbon.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

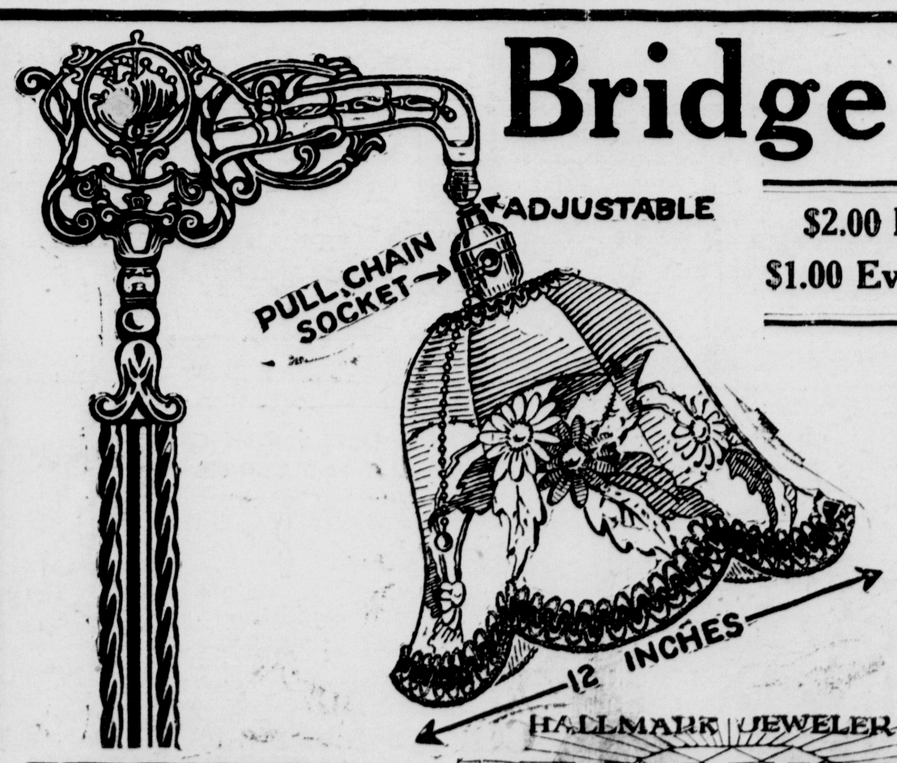

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

STATE LAUNCHES PURE FOOD DRIVE

Adulterated feed stuffs, particularly the kind known as "middlings" sold by some dealers in West Virginia, has caused considerable activity on the part of the department of agriculture, during the last several months, according to information obtained from John W. Smith, the commissioner. The practice now has been about broken up, Mr. Smith said, and, it is his aim to clear the state very soon of all such illegal practices.

There have been no prosecutions, Mr. Smith said, because other means have been adopted to bring the dealers to terms. In many cases registrations were cancelled and the dealers found guilty as adulterating feedstuffs have been forced in this way to cease the practice.

Mr. Smith said inspectors from his department found numerous cases of dealers selling adulterated mixtures as "middlings." The adulterators used in some cases, rice hulls, and there have been cases where rice hulls have been brought into the state in car-load lots. One dealer some time ago purchased 50 car loads of hulls to be delivered to his place at different times.

REVIVAL MEETS COME TO CLOSE

MONTE BLUE AT CERAMIC

"Across the Pacific" Story of Days of '98.

Ninety-eight! The Maine was sunk, cries of "Cuba Libre!" filled the air, and McKinley called for volunteers. Roosevelt gathered together what Richard Harding Davis called the aristocracy of the wild men of the West and the wild men of the aristocracy of the East. Men changed their bicycle bloomers for khaki pants and marched away to the tune of "A Hot Time in the Old Town." White-painted battleships went hunting for Cevera's fleet. Shafter took to a ham... mock and mosquito netting. The pub... Number of important matters will be considered at this session.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Dr. W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached last night at the services in the Second Presbyterian church. He exchanged pulpits with Rev. Frederic A. Dean.

lic took to "Good-bye, Dolly Gray." And America found herself turned into an empire of far-flung possessions, with Aguinaldo, a tinned beef scandal and Hobson's kisses on her hands.

It is against this background of the Spanish-American War that Charles E. Blaney constructed his melodrama, "Across the Pacific," at the Ceramic Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. And now "Across the Pacific" is sweeping across the continent as a Warner Brothers picture, recalling the days of ninety-eight to the generations that knew them, and making vividly clear what those days meant to a generation that knows its war only on the 1918 scale.

"Across the Pacific" is one of the big pictures of the season; a Spanish War picture that manages to revive the thrill of one of the splendidly romantic periods of history: the period of America's venture across the seas into the turmoil, intrigue and adventure of the Far East.

The story concerns a Southern boy, who enlists and fights through the war in the Phillippines, only to be held there with Funston, assigned to the task of subduing the Aguinaldo rising. It is a swift-action tale of fighting lives, and of loves that burn with tropical intensity.

Monte Blue is certainly cast amid the fighting and the loving, and is said to revel in the exhuberant joy of it all. Jane Winton appears as the demure American Miss with whom he used to go bicycle riding, and Myrna Loy as the Filipino girl, who never heard of a bicycle, but whose technique along lines of more primitive amusement proves almost disastrously effective when in operation upon the heart of the big boy in blue. Charles Stevens gives a convincing performance in hte historic character of Aguinaldo, and others in the cast include Tom Wilson, Walter McGrail, Herbert Pryor, Ed Kennedy, Theodore Lorch and the unforgettably sinister Oriental, Sojin.

British Climate Makes American Matches Lazy Belief of Visitors

LONDON.—Britain's climate makes American watches lazy, is the fixed belief of many visitors from the United States.

Many of them observe that a watch that never varies in America will lose two minutes a day in London. Evidently American watches used to a dry crisp climate find London a trifle enervating and react accordingly.

It is for this reason that the management of the Savoy Hotel say they always keep the principal clock in the vestibule three minutes ahead of Greenwich time.

Nearly 13,000 laborers in the Norwegian paper industry recently went on strike in protest against reduced wages.

Wearing Glasses Stops Headaches

It is now a well-known fact that most of our headaches are caused by defective eyes.

Now defective eyes do not always mean defective vision. Your sight on the street may be very good. You will see objects both far and near, yet your eyes may be defective and cause eyestrain.

Eyestrain is the cause of your headaches and can be only cured by wearing the proper glasses in the frame suitable to you.

MONTE BLUE AT CERAMIC

"Across the Pacific" Story of Days of '98.

Ninety-eight! The Maine was sunk, cries of "Cuba Libre!" filled the air, and McKinley called for volunteers. Roosevelt gathered together what Richard Harding Davis called the aristocracy of the wild men of the West and the wild men of the aristocracy of the East. Men changed their bicycle bloomers for khaki pants and marched away to the tune of "A Hot Time in the Old Town." White-painted battleships went hunting for Cevera's fleet. Shafter took to a hammock and mosquito netting. The public took to "Good-bye, Dolly Gray." And America found herself turned into an empire of far-flung possessions, with Aguinaldo, a tinned beef scandal and Hobson's kisses on her hands.

It is against this background of the Spanish-American War that Charles E. Blaney constructed his melodrama, "Across the Pacific," at the Ceramic Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. And now "Across the Pacific" is sweeping across the continent as a Warner Brothers picture, recalling the days of ninety-eight to the generations that knew them, and making vividly clear what those days meant to a generation that knows its war only on the 1918 scale.

"Across the Pacific" is one of the big pictures of the season; a Spanish War picture that manages to revive the thrill of one of the splendidly romantic periods of history: the period of America's venture across the seas into the turmoil, intrigue and adventure of the Far East.

The story concerns a Southern boy, who enlists and fights through the war in the Phillippines, only to be held there with Funston, assigned to the task of subduing the Aguinaldo rising. It is a swift-action tale of fighting lives, and of loves that burn with tropical intensity.

Monte Blue is certainly cast amid the fighting and the loving, and is said to revel in the exhuberant joy of it all. Jane Winton appears as the demure American Miss with whom he used to go bicycle riding, and Myrna Loy as the Filipino girl, who never heard of a bicycle, but whose technique along lines of more primitive amusement proves almost disastrously effective when in operation upon the heart of the big boy in blue. Charles Stevens gives a convincing performance in hte historic character of Aguinaldo, and others in the cast include Tom Wilson, Walter McGrail, Herbert Pryor, Ed Kennedy, Theodore Lorch and the unforgettably sinister Oriental, Sojin.

Number of important matters will be considered at this session.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Dr. W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached last night at the services in the Second Presbyterian church. He exchanged pulpits with Rev. Frederic A. Dean.

British Climate Makes American Matches Lazy Belief of Visitors

LONDON.—Britain's climate makes American watches lazy, is the fixed belief of many visitors from the United States.

Many of them observe that a watch that never varies in America will lose two minutes a day in London. Evidently American watches used to a dry crisp climate find London a trifle enervating and react accordingly.

It is for this reason that the management of the Savoy Hotel say they always keep the principal clock in the vestibule three minutes ahead of Greenwich time.

Nearly 13,000 laborers in the Norwegian paper industry recently went on strike in protest against reduced wages.

King Signs No Checks.

King George of England still signs no checks for himself, merely giving a "chit" or memo of his needs to the keeper of the Privy Purse. Many members of royalty go out without any money in their pockets or purses, depending on their attendants to provide it for them if the need arises.

Wearing Glasses Stops Headaches

It is now a well-known fact that most of our headaches are caused by defective eyes.

Now defective eyes do not always mean defective vision. Your sight on the street may be very good. You will see objects both far and near, yet your eyes may be defective and cause eyestrain.

Eyestrain is the cause of your headaches and can be only cured by wearing the proper glasses in the frame suitable to you.

Veteran Alex and His Fast Ball Even Up Series Standing

PENALTIES AID AKRON EAST ELEVEN IN 6-0 VICTORY OVER HIGH

Clubs Head Westward; Rhem and Ruether to Pitch In Third Game

Walsh Ventures Prediction That Victor in Next Clash Will Cop Series; Work of Rival Hurlers Biggest Factor in First Two Engagements.

ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—The Yanks said they liked speed, so Rogers Hornsby, being accommodating and a courteous gentleman of the old southern school, fed them Alexander, and today the New York club was speeding west towards old St. Louis and the third game of the world's series with a severe attack of competitive indigestion. The patient may recover, but it is possible that he will never be the same.

For one thing, the Cardinals will come back at them in the third game tomorrow with Flint Rhem and while it is said that the eye is quicker than the hand, this isn't meant to mean your eye and Flint's hand. If the Yanks didn't like Alex's fast one yesterday, they may become plumb tired of Rhem's tomorrow.

Still, the series today merely was tied at one-all and St. Louis would do well to reserve its dancing on the levee until such time as the fiddler is ready for the jig. There can be no real choice between one club that looked good in the first game and another that looked better in the second.

Cards At 6 to 5.

However, boys will be boys, and men will be gamblers. The writer heard the Cardinals quoted as a six to five favorite this morning, whereas they were held at 5 to 9 only twenty-four hours before. Perhaps the speculative instinct was influenced by the obvious change in the general attitude on the part of the Cardinals between the first and second games.

They were dead on their feet throughout the opening game and even when they went to the plate in the first inning, one sensed the fact that it was all a mistake. The Cards were dut to lose to Pennock, and they did.

It was the Yankees' turn to jump the gun yesterday with two runs in the second inning and this time one knew instinctively that, came what might they were going west behind an even break.

Even when behind they had the dash and confidence born of the belief that they were the inevitable winner.

Of course that sort of thing runs hand in hand with good pitching. The Yanks had it with Pennock on Saturday; the Cardinals had it with Alexander yesterday.

Pitching Biggest Factor.

If Rhem's fast ball has the Yanks blinded tomorrow, everyone will run around in short circles informing all concerned that they knew all along that the Cardinals were the class of this series. If Dutch Ruether's left hand proves as disconcerting as Pennock's did on Saturday, the same citizens will complete the same circles but to the tune of a different lyric. Their story, then, will be that the Cardinals would have been lucky to finish in the first division in a good national league year.

Pitching, in other words, can make a champ or a chump out of any ball club, almost to order. The boys may write learned pieces about the way Joe Windmill chased a fly ball or how Bill Gum's pinch hitting turned the tide, to use an expression exclusively my own.

The fact of the matter is that Windmill probably wouldn't have had to chase that long fly at all if the pitcher had been working on the batter correctly, and Gum's pinch hits probably would have been foul tips under similar conditions.

The pitchers for tomorrow's game probably will be Rhem and Ruether. I don't see how the opposing managers can make any other choice. The Cards were stopped by a left hander on Saturday. Ruether either is left handed or he has defied Lincoln and fooled all of the people all of the time. A fast-ball with a good curve made the Yankees look silly yesterday. Rhem is that type of pitcher.

Support Almost Faultless.

It seems to be just one of those things where you pay your money and take your choice. Both are good ball clubs, more evenly matched than the writer had supposed. They seem to give their pitcher about as much support as he is entitled to become accustomed to and they hit with a real punch with men on bases.

I probably would be guilty of committing a bromide to say that the club that wins tomorrow's game will win the series, but the truth always is welcome, bromidic thought it may be. I should say that the remark applies particularly to the Cardinals. They have Alexander and Sherdel ready for a comeback in later games, whereas Shocker probably is all washed up. That throws the Yankee burden on Pennock, Hoyt and Shawkey and the last two have yet to prove that they belong in the series. Alexander and Sherdel have done that already.

"Who's Sorry Now?," Latest New York Hit, Stars Bill Southworth, Gotham Castoff

By KATHARINE BRUSH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—If Mr. David Belasco or Mr. Morris Gest were to make a play out of today's world series game, the billboards would doubtness read somewhat as follows: "He Who Laughs Last," or "Who's Sorry Now," starring William Southworth. "Standing room only." Permit me to introduce William. Strange though it may seem, he is commonly known as Bill. He is five feet nine inches tall, he weighs 165 pounds, his eyes are blue, his hair is brown and half missing, and he was born at an early age of perhaps poor but certainly honest parents in Harvard, Nebraska, wherever that it. He began almost immediately to play baseball, and in the course of his career he played it with the New York Giants. Or didn't play it. There seems to have been much dissension on this point.

New York appears to have been of the opinion that he did not play it, and accordingly in the middle of this summer they presented him in a casual sort of a way to the St. Louis Cardinals. "Take this, it's no use to us"—something like that.

Now the slogan of the state of Missouri has ever been, as every one knows, "you gotta show me." Mr. Southworth upon his arrival in the metropolis of Missouri took this slogan very much to heart, and he concluded after mature deliberation it ought to work both ways.

He would not only be shown—but he would do some showing on his own account, and did he? In the words of the generation, you should ask me. the aid he gave the Cardinals in winning the National league pennant is ancient history now. It is his feat of today to which your correspondent would respectfully call your attention. He came to bat in the first half of the seventh inning, with the score 2 to 2, and a man on first and a man on third and two men out—and just by the way of showing New York what a mistake it had made when it said to him, (go west, young man, go west), he knocked the highest, widest and handsomest home run you ever saw—the first home run of the series.

A second home run was later scored by Thevenow of the Cardinals, but though pretty it was unnecessary, like the paper pantalette on a lamb chop. Mr. Southworth, the cast-off and none other, won the baseball game.

BILLY SOUTHWORTH

It then appeared to your correspondent that a gentleman winning a world series game under such circumstances ought to have something interesting to say on the matter, even if it was only a loud derisive "yap." Accordingly, as soon as the game was over, I made a flying wedge of myself and at great risk of life and limb got through the 63 000 or more departing clients, into a taxi cab, and down to the Pennsylvania station, where the Cardinals were to entrain immediately for St. Louis.

They had a special train of five Pullman sleepers and a baggage car and the platform adjoining presented quite a scene by the time I got there.

Ball players were like excited small boys about to start home from boarding school, for vacation. There was a flock of equally excited wives, well dressed attractive young women, and a delegation of baseball progeny—youngsters who cut their teeth on basemen's gloves and said, "hit" before they said "mamma."

Every father in the Cardinal outfit had apparently brought all the children he had. Willie Sherdel, for instance, was to be seen with two, a son and a daughter, one hanging to each hand. And such is the lack of stature of Wee Willie that it was almost impossible to tell from the rear which was he and which was the son.

Mr. Bill Southworth was still being surrounded and slapped on the back by his team mates, but he contended to disintangle himsef and lend ear to my various questions. He is a modest gentleman, is Mr. Southworth. He seemed surprised, and genuinely surprised, because I though he ought to be proud of himself. He wanted to know why I thought he ought. I said "but you brought in three runs" where upon, he grinned and replied that it was "just a good break for him" that there happened to be two men on bases.

The ball players' special is expected to reach St. Louis about four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the town en masse is going to be out to greet them. Automobiles decked with flowers will carry the pennant winners all over their native city, and bands will play and people will scream as they have not for forty long years had a chance to scream in St. Louis. And I dare say much of the tumult and shouting will be for Mr. Bill Southworth, the Card that the New York pitcher couldn't hold.

Visitors Penetrate Local Defenses For Score In Last Frame

Teams Battle at Fifty-fifty Gait Throughout Contest; Keeney's Short End Run Responsible for Only Score; Captain Larkins Injured.

Nearly two thousand fans saw Coach George Kidder's Blue and White eleven go down to defeat Saturday afternoon at Columbian park before the strong Akron East high school squad, 6 to 0, the visitors' sole touchdown being the indirect result of two penalties assessed the locals, one for 15 yards and one for five.

Akron East carried home a victory with them, but they knew they had been in a football battle, for the locals gave them all the football argument they cared to handle. Although, as the saying goes, it's no use crying over spilled milk, the result, at that, might have been different if Ducky Holmes had been in there, the local eleven missing his line plunging, his punting and all around backfield experience.

Both elevens battled at a fifty?fifty gait for the first three quarters, with the visitors having a slight edge in the opening frame.

The Rubber City combine came through with a victory in the final period when, after high had been penalized, they blocked Pusey's punt, recovering the ball on the 10 yard line. They began to ram the Blue and White line, but finding this more or less of a stone wall and quite resistant, they changed their tactics, Quarterback Keeney circling the right end for six yards and a touchdown on the fourth play. They failed to make the point.

Fast football was out of the question considering the condition of the field, both elevens depending largely on line plays for whatever gains they made. First downs were few and far between, the East eleven registering four and the local three.

The visitors went through the local defenses for two first downs in the opening quarter and the same number in the last period. Kidder's squad penetrated the Akron defenses for one in the first period and two in the third.

The Akron lads also had the best of the punting end of the game, Johnson out-kicking Pusey.

The game for the first three quarters was anybody's, the battle being mostly fought between the forty and fifty yard lines. Neither team got within scoring distance in the first three quarters, and what few breaks there were went to the Akron lads.

The game looked very much like it was to be a scoreless contest until Pusey's punt was blocked.

Neither goal line was much in danger after the Akronites had crossed the line for their touchdown and the teams continued to battle even until the end of the contest.

All the highs played heads up football all the way, Pusey and Bromby being their biggest ground gainers. For the Akron boys Keeney and Johnson were outstanding stars.

More hard luck struck the local highs when Dick Larkins was forced to leave the game on account of a dislocated shoulder. The loss of Larkins will be a severe blow to the team for Dick was the leading mainstay on the line and practically the brains of the eleven.

LEAGUE CHAMPS WILL BANQUET

Laughlin Players, Fans Will Celebrate Thursday.

Arrangements are nearing perfection for the baseball banquet and celebration to be staged by the Homer Laughlin 1926 City Industrial league champions on Thursday evening at Larkin's restaurant annex.

Players of the Laughlin club, which captured the league pennant after a spirited five game series with the Chester nine, together with league officials and fans will attend the banquet.

A number of entertainment features are billed for the evening, including selections by Red Mack's quartet and a string orchestra.

Tickets for the banquet are being sold to fans for $1.00.

Effete East Shocked By Little Geneva's Victory Over Harvard

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. — The effete east was still shocked today by Harvard's 16 to 7 defeat at the hands of little Geneva's strong football team, coached by Bo McMillan of Center college fame. However, supporters of Arnold Norween, Harvard's new coach, declared that the setback, Harvard's first opening-game defeat in 50 years, will go far toward conditioning the team for its big games.

Amherst furnished another surprise by holding Princeton to a 14 to 7 score, while Yale, the other member of the big three, slaughtered Boston university, 51 to 0.

The 6 and 6 deadlock between Pittsburgh and Georgetown revealed that these colleges have strong teams, with an especially powerful defense.

The Dartmouth-Hobart, Pennsylvania-Johns Hopkins and Syracuse-Vermont contests resulted in walkovers for the big teams, as expected. The Navy made an impressive showing in defeating Purdue, 17 to 13, while the Army, after being fought to a standstill for three periods by Detroit, finally got going and won, 21 to 0, with the aid of Harry Wilson.

THORPE SCORES TWO TOUCHDOWNS

With Jim Thorpe, old Carlisle star, proving a big factor in the attack, the Canton Bulldogs defeated the Louisville Colonels in a National league battle yesterday at Canton. Thorpe scored two touchdowns.

The Dayton Triangles barely defeated Buffalo, 3 to 0, at Buffalo, and Akron Pros won from Hammond, 17 to 0, at Akron, in other Ohio "pro" engagements.

MOUNTS DEFEAT HEIDELBERG, 14-0

Mount Union defeated Heidelberg at Alliance Saturday on a muddy field, 14 to 0. A fumble in the first period lead the way to the first marker. A forty-five yard run by Capt. Lamar Armstrong towards the close of the game brought the final count. The visitors failed to make a first down.

Stiff Program of Workouts Carded For Newell Eleven

A stiff program of practice sessions has been lined up for Newell Laughlin gridders for this week.

The pottery combine is billed for four workouts, the first of which will be held this evening. Additional drills are scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

The Laughlin eleven will take in not only pottery plant performers but football players from any place in the district. Membership on the club is not restricted to the pottery.

Players have been requested to report tonight or on any of the subsequent practice nights at 5:30 o'clock to Coach Ernest Bucher at Newell park.

CULLER VICTOR IN RIFLE SHOOT

Other scores were: George Douglass, 164; J. Springer, 162; S. Miller, 142; H. Stewart, 146; G. Menough, 104; F. Snowden, 135; Reynolds, 155.

Rymer had high score of 48 out of 50 on single target.

SALEM GRIDDERS TRIM AKRON TEAM

Salem high tore the Akron Garfield eleven to shreds Saturday at Reilly Field, Salem, winning by the score of 32 to 0. Salem scored in every period but the first.

With the game clinched, the Salem mentor used a large number of substitutes.

Second Game Sets New Receipts Mark

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A world's record was established yesterday when 63,000 fans paid $201,828 to see the second game of the world's series. The former record, made at Yankee stadium in the fifth game of the 1923 series, was an attendance of 62,817 and receipts of $201,549.

Counting "dead-heads" it was estimated that 67,000 saw the game yesterday. The official figures on both games are:

Attendance (paid), 125,258.

Receipts, $490,704.

Advistory council's share $60,105.

Players' share, $204,360.

Clubs' share, $136,238.

Only 67,000 persons present. One felt almost isolated, as it were.

CHICAGO SERIES EVENED AGAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The Chicago city series was all even today as the White Sox and Cubs prepared for the fifth battle of the championship flight. Each has now won two games.

The strong right arm of Ten Blankenship put the American league entry back on even terms with the Nationals in yesterday's pastime. The score was 4 to 0. Ted held the Bruins to six hits and won as he pleased.

Today's game will be played at Comiskey park, home of the White Sox. Red Faber and Charley Root, who opposed each other on the slab in the first game of the series, Root winning, may face each other again today.

Veteran Alex and His Fast Ball Even Up Series Standing

Clubs Head Westward; Rhem and Ruether to Pitch In Third Game

Walsh Ventures Predicti on That Victor in Next Clash Will Cop Serie s; Work of Rival Hurlers Biggest Factor in Fir st Two Engagements.

ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—The Yanks said they liked speed, so Rogers Hornsby, being accommodating and a courteous gentleman of the old southern school, fed them Alexander, and today the New York club was speeding west towards old St. Louis and the third game of the world's series with a severe attack of competitive indigestion. The patient may recover, but it is possible that he will never be the same.

For one thing, the Cardinals will come back at them in the third game tomorrow with Flint Rhem and while it is said that the eye is quicker than the hand, this isn't meant to mean your eye and Flint's hand. If the Yanks didn't liko Alex's fast one yesterday, they may become plumb tired of Rhem's tomorrow.

Still, the series today merely was tied at one-all and St. Louis would do well to reserve its dancing on the levee until such time as the fiddler is ready for the jig. There can be no real choice between one club that looked good in the first game and another that looked better in the second.

Cards At 6 to 5.

However, boys will be boys, and men will be gamblers. The writer heard the Cardinals quoted as a six to five favorite this morning, whereas they were held at 5 to 9 only twenty-four hours before. Perhaps the speculative instinct was influenced by the obvious change in the general attitude on the part of the Cardinals between the first and second games.

They were dead on their feet throughout the opening game and even when they went to the plate in the first inning, one sensed the fact that it was all a mistake. The Cards were dut to lose to Pennock, and they did.

It was the Yankees' turn to jump the gun yesterday with two runs in the second inning and this time one knew instinctively that, came what might they were going west behind an even break.

Even when behind they had the dash and confidence born of the belief that they were the inevitable winner.

Of course that sort of thing runs hand in hand with good pitching. The Yanks had it with Pennock on Saturday; the Cardinals had it with Alexander yesterday.

Pitching Biggest Factor.

If Rhem's fast ball has the Yanks blinded tomorrow, everyone will run around in short circles informing all concerned that they knew all along that the Cardinals were the class of this series. If Dutch Ruether's left hand proves as disconcerting as Pennock's did on Saturday, the same citizens will complete the same circles but to the tune of a different lyric. Their story, then, will be that the Cardinals would have been lucky to finish in the first division in a good national league year.

Pitching, in other words, can make a champ or a chump out of any ball club, almost to order. The boys may write learned pieces about the way Joe Windmill chased a fly ball or how Bill Gum's pinch hitting turned the tide, to use an expression exclusively my own.

The fact of the matter is that Windmill probably wouldn't have had to chase that long fly at all if the pitcher had been working on the batter correctly, and Gum's pinch hits probably would have been foul tips under similar conditions.

The pitchers for tomorrow's game probably will be Rhem and Ruether. I don't see how the opposing managers can make any other choice. The Cards were stopped by a left hander on Saturday. Ruether either is left handed or he has defied Lincoln and fooled all of the people all of the time. A fast-ball with a good curve made the Yankees look silly yesterday. Rhem is that type of pitcher.

Support Almost Faultless.

It seems to be just one of those things where you pay your money and take your choice. Both are good ball clubs, more evenly matched than the writer had supposed. They seem to give their pitcher about as much support as he is entitled to become accustomed to and they hit with a real punch with men on bases.

I probably would be guilty of committing a bromide to say that the club that wins tomorrow's game will win the series, but the truth always is welcome, bromidic thought it may be. I should say that the remark applies particularly to the Cardinals. They have Alexander and Sherdel ready for a comeback in later games, whereas Shocker probably is all washed up. That throws the Yankee burden on Pennock, Hoyt and Shawkey and the last two have yet to prove that they belong in the series. Alexander and Sherdel have done that already.

"Who's Sorry Now?," Latest New York Hit, Stars Bill Southworth, Gotham Castoff

By KATHARINE BRUSH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3—If Mr. David Belasco or Mr. Morris Gest were to make a play out of today's world series game, the billboards would doubtness read somewhat as follows: "He Who Laughs Last," or "Who's Sorry Now," starring William Southworth. "Standing room only." Permit me to introduce William. Strange though it may seem, he is commonly known as Bill. He is five feet nine inches tall, he weighs 165 pounds, his eyes are blue, his hair is brown and half missing, and he was born at an early age of perhaps poor but certainly honest parents in Harvard, Nebraska, wherever that it. He began almost immediately to play baseball, and in the course of his career he played it with the New York Giants. Or didn't play it. There seems to have been much dissension on this point.

New York appears to have been of the opinion that he did not play it, and accordingly in the middle of this summer they presented him in a casual sort of a way to the St. Louis Cardinals. "Take this, it's no use to us"—something like that.

Now the slogan of the state of Missouri has ever been, as every one knows, "you gotta show me." Mr. Southworth upon his arrival in the metropolis of Missouri took this slogan very much to heart, and he concluded after mature deliberation it ought to work both ways.

He would not only be shown—but he would do some showing on his own account, and did he? In the words of the generation, you should ask me. The aid he gave the Cardinals in winning the National league pennant is ancient history now. It is his feat of today to which your correspondent would respectfully call your attention. He came to bat in the first half of the seventh inning, with the score 2 to 2, and a man on first and a man on third and two men out—and just by the way of showing New York what a mistake it had made when it said to him, (go west, young man, go west), he knocked the highest, widest and handsomest home run you ever saw—the first home run of the series.

A second home run was later scored by Thevenow of the Cardinals, but though pretty it was unnecessary, like the paper pantalette on a lamb chop. Mr. Southworth, the cast-off and none other, won the baseball game.

BILLY SOUTHWORTH

It then appeared to your correspondent that a gentleman winning a world series game under such circumstances ought to have something interesting to say on the matter, even if it was only a loud derisive "yap." Accordingly, as soon as the game was over, I made a flying wedge of myself and at great risk of life and limb got through the 63 000 or more departing clients, into a taxi cab, and down to the Pennsylvania station, where the Cardinals were to entrain immediately for St. Louis.

They had a special train of five Pullman sleepers and a baggage car and the platform adjoining presented quite a scene by the time I got there.

Ball players were like excited small boys about to start home from boarding school, for vacation. There was a flock of equally excited wives, well dressed attractive young women, and a delegation of baseball progeny—youngsters who cut their teeth on basemen's gloves and said, "hit" before they said "mamma."

Every father in the Cardinal outfit had apparently brought all the children he had. Willie Sherdel, for instance, was to be seen with two, a son and a daughter, one hanging to each hand. And such is the lack of stature of Wee Willie that it was almost impossible to tell from the rear which was he and which was the son.

Mr. Bill Southworth was still being surrounded and slapped on the back by his team mates, but he contended to disintangle himself and lend ear to my various questions. He is a modest gentleman, is Mr. Southworth. He seemed surprised, and genuinely surprised, because I though he ought to be proud of himself. He wanted to know why I thought he ought. I said "but you brought in three runs" where upon, he grinned and replied that it was "just a good break for him" that there happened to be two men on bases.

The ball players' special is expected to reach St. Louis about four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the town en-masse is going to be out to greet them. Automobiles decked with flowers will carry the pennant winners all over their native city, and bands will play and people will scream as they have not for forty long years had a chance to scream in St. Louis. And I dare say much of the tumult and shouting will be for Mr. Bill Southworth, the Card that the New York pitcher couldn't hold.

LEAGUE CHAMPS WILL BANQUET

Laughlin Players, Fans Will Celebrate Thursday.

Arrangements are nearing perfection for the baseball banquet and celebration to be staged by the Homer Laughlin 1926 City Industrial league champions on Thursday evening at Larkin's restaurant annex.

Players of the Laughlin club, which captured the league pennant after a spirited five game series with the Chester nine, together with league officials and fans will attend the banquet.

A number of entertainment features are billed for the evening, including selections by Red Mack's quartet and a string orchestra.

Tickets for the banquet are being sold to fans for $1.00.

Effete East Shocked By Little Geneva's Victory Over Harvard

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. — The effete east was still shocked today by Harvard's 16 to 7 defeat at the hands of little Geneva's strong football team, coached by Bo McMillan of Center college fame. However, supporters of Arnold Norween, Harvard's new coach, declared that the setback, Harvard's first opening-game defeat in 50 years, will go far toward conditioning the team for its big games.

Amherst furnished another surprise by holding Princeton to a 14 to 7 score, while Yale, the other member of the big three, slaughtered Boston university, 51 to 0.

The 6 and 6 deadlock between Pittsburgh and Georgetown revealed that these colleges have strong teams, with an especially powerful defense.

The Dartmouth-Hobart, Pennsylvania-Johns Hopkins and Syracuse-Vermont contests resulted in walkovers for the big teams, as expected. The Navy made an impressive showing in defeating Purdue, 17 to 13, while the Army, after being fought to a standstill for three periods by Detroit, finally got going and won, 21 to 0, with the aid of Harry Wilson.

THORPE SCORES TWO TOUCHDOWNS

With Jim Thorpe, old Carlisle star, proving a big factor in the attack, the Canton Bulldogs defeated the Louisville Colonels in a National league battle yesterday at Canton. Thorpe scored two touchdowns.

The Dayton Triangles barely defeated Buffalo, 3 to 0, at Buffalo, and Akron Pros won from Hammond, 17 to 0, at Akron, in other Ohio "pro" engagements.

MOUNTS DEFEAT HEIDELBERG, 14-0

Mount Union defeated Heidelberg at Alliance Saturday on a muddy field, 14 to 0. A fumble in the first period lead the way to the first marker. A forty-five yard run by Capt. Lamar Armstrong towards the close of the game brought the final count. The visitors failed to make a first down.

SALEM GRIDDERS TRIM AKRON TEAM

Visitors Penetrate Local Defenses For Score In Last Frame

Teams Battle at Fifty-fif ty Gait Throughout Contest; Keeney's Short End Run Responsible for Only Score; Captain Larkins Injured.

Nearly two thousand fans saw Coach George Kidder's Blue and White eleven go down to defeat Saturday afternoon at Columbian park before the strong Akron East high school squad, 6 to 0, the visitors' sole touchdown being the indirect result of two penalties assessed the locals, one for 15 yards and one for five.

Akron East carried home a victory with them, but they knew they had been in a football battle, for the locals gave them all the football argument they cared to handle. Although, as the saying goes, it's no use crying over spilled milk, the result, at that, might have been different if Ducky Holmes had been in there, the local eleven missing his line plunging, his punting and all around backfield experience.

Both elevens battled at a fifty?fifty gait for the first three quarters, with the visitors having a slight edge in the opening frame.

The Rubber City combine came through with a victory in the final period when, after high had been penalized, they blocked Pusey's punt, recovering the ball on the 10 yard line. They began to ram the Blue and White line, but finding this more or less of a stone wall and quite resistant, they changed their tactics, Quarterback Keeney circling the right end for six yards and a touchdown on the fourth play. They failed to make the point.

Fast football was out of the question considering the condition of the field, both elevens depending largely on line plays for whatever gains they made. First downs were few and far between, the East eleven registering four and the local three.

The visitors went through the local defenses for two first downs in the opening quarter and the same number in the last period. Kidder's squad penetrated the Akron defenses for one in the first period and two in the third.

The Akron lads also had the best of the punting end of the game, Johnson out-kicking Pusey.

The game for the first three quarters was anybody's, the battle being mostly fought between the forty and fifty yard lines. Neither team got within scoring distance in the first three quarters, and what few breaks there were went to the Akron lads.

The game looked very much like it was to be a scoreless contest until Pusey's punt was blocked.

Neither goal line was much in danger after the Akronites had crossed the line for their touchdown and the teams continued to battle even until the end of the contest.

All the highs played heads up football all the way, Pusey and Bromby being their biggest ground gainers. For the Akron boys Keeney and Johnson were outstanding stars.

More hard luck struck the local highs when Dick Larkins was forced to leave the game on account of a dislocated shoulder. The loss of Larkins will be a severe blow to the team for Dick was the leading mainstay on the line and practically the brains of the eleven.

CHICAGO SERIES EVENED AGAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The Chicago city series was all even today as the White Sox and Cubs prepared for the fifth battle of the championship flight. Each has now won two games.

The strong right arm of Ten Blankenship put the American league entry back on even terms with the Nationals in yesterday's pastime. The score was 4 to 0. Ted held the Bruins to six hits and won as he pleased.

Today's game will be played at Comiskey park, home of the White Sox. Red Faber and Charley Root, who opposed each other on the slab in the first game of the series, Root winning, may face each other again today.

Haskin's Letter

It seems almost fair to say that the piper of each outfit was the bravest man in it. When, at the zero hour, a regiment was ordered out of the trenches to charge across a no man's land raked with all manner of explosives and gas, the first man over the top was the bagpiper. The pipe is a rather unwieldy and ponderous instrument which meant that the piper, the first man to face the carnage, did so unarmed. With his pipes madly skirling Bonnie Dundee, D'ye Ken John Peel or some such inspiring tune he dashed toward the enemy and no Scot in the regiment would be slow to follow that pibroch.

It would be difficult to find a more dramatic tale than that of the relief of Lucknow in one of the uprisings in India. A British force had been cut off and invested in the city of Lucknow. The war drums of thousands of native rebels drew nearer and nearer. There was an iron ring around the city. Food and especially water ran low. The British force holding the city were too few to attempt a sortie. There was notihng to do but wait and defend the city until reinforcements came up and broke through the native beseigers. As time passed the situation grew desperate. The commander concluded to surrender and attempt to fix terms with the native maharajahs, despite the fact that he knew it might mean the treacherous massacre of his entire force. He was within minutes of hoisting a flag of truce when faint and far away was heard the high, shrill skirling of bagpipes: The Campbells are Coming! An especially dramatic fact was that the relief force was made up almost entirely of Campbells, one of the largest clans in all Scotland. Needless to say, the commander altered his decision. The Campbells broke through the native lines, the pipes still playing, and the city was saved.

Scotland Never Conquered.

An interesting theory might be advanced in support of the contention that the Bagpipe is the most effective of martial music. Scotland is the only old country in the world which never has been conquered with the exception of China and Japan.

Two thousand years ago Rome conquered Gaul, which now is France, Spain, Germany, what now is Austria, Belgium, of which the present Holland then was a part, and then set sail for England. England was conquered and the Caesars held it for 480 years. Throughout that period the Roman legions tried desperately to take Scotland. Army after army was thrown against the border but not one ever effectively broke through.

The Danes conquered at least the eastern half of England at a later date. The section they held to this day is called the Danelav. But when they attempted to take bleak Scotland they were thrust back.

William the Conqueror conquered England in 1066, long after the Romans had abandoned it and throughout the reigns of the Conqueror and his successors attempt after attempt was made to subjugate Scotland but not one succeeded. To be sure, later attempts of the Scotch to take England by military onslaught of Rome land by military operations failed but throughout the centuries, from the first onslaught of Rome in the time of Christ, Scotland held her stony mountains against all invaders. Finally she took England. The son of Mary Queen of Scots became King of England as well as of Scotland and his descendants still reign. The present dynasty came to the throne because of the marriage of the daughter of James Stuart, King of England and Scotland, to a German Princess.

With all the wars that have gone in the world, with the fall of such mighty empires as those of Alexander the Great, of Rome, of Persia, and of Islam, Scotland has remained intact in the hands of the Scots. And of all these nations Scotland alone has the bagpipe. The train of historical facts might almost convince one that the pipes are the greatest martial instruments. Some wags who are prejudiced against the instrument have said that the explanation is that no one can stand the sound. The real fact is that it is so inspiring to its followers that they prove irresistible in warfare.

So far back as history goes some form of music has been used as a stimulus to fighting men. The most primitive people used rude drums. Later cymbals came into use; finally crudely made reed wind instruments. Through the centuries martial music has developed to the elaborately organized military bands of today.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912.

of The East Liverpool Review-Tribune, published daily except Sunday, at East Liverpool, Ohio, for October 1st, 1926.

STATE OF OHIO, COUNTY OF COLUMBIANA, ss.

Before me, a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared D. M. Krug, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of the East Liverpool Publishing Company, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, and business managers are:

SIDELIGHTS ON CARDS' VICTORY

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Alex wasn't any bargain for the first two innings. After that, he was a piece of Irish lace among the cotton remnants.

Ruth emulated the ostrich in the ninth when he buried his head in some gent's abdomen after a vain stab at Thevenow's liner in the ninth. Our Mr. Ruth finally regained the poise for which he is so famous, but by that time Mr. Thevenow had ambled around the bases for a trick home run.

The boys didn't seem to care much for Happy Henry O'Day's viewpoint on balls and strikes. Henry pacified the young men with his kindly, forgiving smile. That's Henry's way every time.

Our Mr. Ruth strove mightily at all times, but I might be pardoned for saying that the Cards were all against him, particularly Hornsby. Rogers made the best play of the series Sunday in spearing Ruth's smash toward right field in the ninth. There hasn't been a lot of good plays at that. And not a lot of bad ones.

It was outeast day at the stadium and the poor little waifs were happy for once. One of them was Grover Alexander. He fanned ten, allowed only four hits and retired the side in order in seven of the nine innings. Only one ball, in fact, was hit out of the infield during the last six innings.

Oh yes, the Yankees love speed. They love a punch in the nose, too.

Outcast No. 2 was Billy Southworth. Whereas Alexander was chased out of Chicago, Billy was sent forth into the world from New York itself. Billy broke McGraw's heart when he eased that homer of his into the bleachers.

I know why they call him sad. Jones was the saddest relief pitcher of the year.

Bottomley has been the hitting hero of the series to date. Neither Ruth nor Hornsby has hit their stride, although Rogers staked himself to a good afternoon yesterday with a double, a pass and a sacrifice.

Southworth, of course, was the big gun of the victory with a home run and two singles in five times up. It was enough to cause Mr. McGraw to break right down and weep on the nearest vest.

The Cards were just beginning to wonder how much the loser's share would be, anyhow, when they broke loose in the third inning. Those singles by Douthit, Southworth and Bottomley convinced the Cardinals that they were a ball club and this was a world's series.

Flying Gets Safer.

Between 1919 and March 31, 1926, air transport flying under British control covered a total of 4,563,000 miles with only four accidents, causing thirteen deaths. This is equivalent to one accident in every forty-six trips around the world.

Habana will spend $3,000,000 in repairing its streets.

It seems almost fair to say that the piper of each outfit was the bravest man in it. When, at the zero hour, a regiment was ordered out of the trenches to charge across a no man's land raked with all manner of explosives and gas, the first man over the top was the bagpiper. The pipe is a rather unwieldy and ponderous instrument which meant that the piper, the first man to face the carnage, did so unarmed. With his pipes madly skirling Bonnie Dundee, D'ye Ken John Peel or some such inspiring tune he dashed toward the enemy and no Scot in the regiment would be slow to follow that pibroch.

It would be difficult to find a more dramatic tale than that of the relief of Lucknow in one of the uprisings in India. A British force had been cut off and invested in the city of Lucknow. The war drums of thousands of native rebels drew nearer and nearer. There was an iron ring around the city. Food and especially water ran low. The British force holding the city were too few to attempt a sortie. There was nothing to do but wait and defend the city until reinforcements came up and broke through the native beseigers. As time passed the situation grew desperate. The commander concluded to surrender and attempt to fix terms with the native maharajahs, despite the fact that he knew it might mean the treacherous massacre of his entire force. He was within minutes of hoisting a flag of truce when faint and far away was heard the high, shrill skirling of bagpipes: The Campbells are Coming! An especially dramatic fact was that the relief force was made up almost entirely of Campbells, one of the largest clans in all Scotland. Needless to say, the commander altered his decision. The Campbells broke through the native lines, the pipes still playing, and the city was saved.

Scotland Never Conquered.

An interesting theory might be advanced in support of the contention that the bagpipe is the most effective of martial music. Scotland is the only old country in the world which never has been conquered with the exception of China and Japan.

Two thousand years ago Rome conquered Gaul, which now is France, Spain, Germany, what now is Austria, Belgium, of which the present Holland then was a part, and then set sail for England. England was conquered and the Caesars held it for 480 years. Throughout that period the Roman legions tried desperately to take Scotland. Army after army was thrown against the border but not one ever effectively broke through.

The Danes conquered at least the eastern half of England at a later date. The section they held to this day is called the Danelaw. But when they attempted to take bleak Scotland they were thrust back.

William the Conqueror conquered England in 1066, long after the Romans had abandoned it and throughout the reigns of the Conqueror and his successors attempt after attempt was made to subjugate Scotland but not one succeeded. To be sure, later attempts of the Scotch to take England by military onslaught of Rome land by military operations failed but throughout the centuries, from the first onslaught of Rome in the time of Christ, Scotland held her stony mountains against all invaders. Finally she took England. The son of Mary Queen of Scots became King of England as well as of Scotland and his descendants still reign. The present dynasty came to the throne because of the marriage of the daughter of James Stuart, King of England and Scotland, to a German Princess.

With all the wars that have gone in the world, with the fall of such mighty empires as those of Alexander the Great, of Rome, of Persia, and of Islam, Scotland has remained intact in the hands of the Scots. And of all these nations Scotland alone has the bagpipe. The train of historical facts might almost convince one that the pipes are the greatest martial instruments. Some wags who are prejudiced against the instrument have said that the explanation is that no one can stand the sound. The real fact is that it is so inspiring to its followers that they prove irresistible in warfare.

So far back as history goes some form of music has been used as a stimulus to fighting men. The most primitive people used rude drums. Later cymbals came into use; finally crudely made reed wind instruments. Through the centuries martial music has developed to the elaborately organized military bands of today.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912.

of The East Liverpool Review-Tribune, published daily except Sunday, at East Liverpool, Ohio, for October 1st, 1926.

STATE OF OHIO, COUNTY OF COLUMBIANA, ss.

Before me, a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared D. M. Krug, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of the East Liverpool Publishing Company, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, and business managers are:

Publisher—The East Liverpool Publishing Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

Editor—Frank R. O'Hanlon, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Business Manager—D. M. Krug, East Liverpool, Ohio.

2. Owners—names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of the total amount of stock are: The East Liverpool Publishing Co., T. S. Brush, K. I. Brush, of New York City, W. H. Vodrey, M. E. Golding, F. R. O'Hanlon, all of East Liverpool; L. H. Brush, M. L. Snowden, F. P. Pow, M. S. Brush, E. W. Silver, all of Salem, O.; Mrs. A. M. Brush, Canton, Ohio

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: The First National Bank, East Liverpool, Ohio.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appear upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders, who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the six months preceding the date shown above is 12,253.

D. M. KRUG, Manager.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of October.

AGNES O'HANLON, Notary Public.

SIDELIGHTS ON CARDS' VICTORY

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Alex wasn't any bargain for the first two innings. After that, he was a piece of Irish lace among the cotton remnants.

Ruth emulated the ostrich in the ninth when he buried his head in some gent's abdomen after a vain stab at Thevenow's liner in the ninth. Our Mr. Ruth finally regained the poise for which he is so famous, but by that time Mr. Thevenow had ambled around the bases for a trick home run.

The boys didn't seem to care much for Happy Henry O'Day's viewpoint on balls and strikes. Henry pacified the young men with his kindly, forgiving smile. That's Henry's way every time.

Our Mr. Ruth strove mightily at all times, but I might be pardoned for saying that the Cards were all against him, particularly Hornsby. Rogers made the best play of the series Sunday in spearing Ruth's smash toward right field in the ninth. There hasn't been a lot of good plays at that. And not a lot of bad ones.

It was outcast day at the stadium and the poor little waifs were happy for once. One of them was Grover Alexander. He fanned ten, allowed only four hits and retired the side in order in seven of the nine innings. Only one ball, in fact, was hit out of the infield during the last six innings.

Oh yes, the Yankees love speed. They love a punch in the nose, too.

Outcast No. 2 was Billy Southworth. Whereas Alexander was chased out of Chicago, Billy was sent forth into the world from New York itself. Billy broke McGraw's heart when he eased that homer of his into the bleachers.

I know why they call him sad. Jones was the saddest relief pitcher of the year.

Bottomley has been the hitting hero of the series to date. Neither Ruth nor Hornsby has hit their stride, although Rogers staked himself to a good afternoon yesterday with a double, a pass and a sacrifice.

Southworth, of course, was the big gun of the victory with a home run and two singles in five times up. It was enough to cause Mr. McGraw to break right down and weep on the nearest vest.

The Cards were just beginning to wonder how much the loser's share would be, anyhow, when they broke loose in the third inning. Those singles by Douthit, Southworth and Bottomley convinced the Cardinals that they were a ball club and this was a world's series.

Flying Gets Safer.

Between 1919 and March 31, 1926, air transport flying under British control covered a total of 4,563,000 miles with only four accidents, causing thirteen deaths. This is equivalent to one accident in every forty-six trips around the world.

Habana will spend $3,000,000 in repairing its streets.

Relics From 5000-Year-Old City Are Analyzed at Field Museum

Included in Chicago Collection is Perfect Specimen of Painted Pottery Manufactured by "Forgotten Art."

CHICAGO. — Relics from the ruins of a "lost" Sumerian city which was destroyed by fire more than 5,000 years ago, have been received from Prof. Stephen Landon, leader of the Field Museum-Oxford University Mesopotamian expedition, it was announced today by Stanley Field, president of the Museum.

Included in the large collection is a perfect specimen of painted pottery manufactured by a "forgotten art" and unearthed by Prof. Landon in the ruins of Jamdet Nasr, which he discovered recently and now describes as one of the earliest known sites of civilization. The pot is highly colored and is in the shape of a water container with three holes pierced in the top for the purpose of suspension.

According to Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of the Museum's department of anthropology, who is studying and classifying the relics, the painted ware and household utensils may serve to throw much light on unanswered questions regarding one of the world's first civilizations.

The collection also includes many finely wrought gold and carnelian beads, carved cylinder seals of lapis lazuli, onyx and carnelian, spindles and spindle whorls of bone and clay, "books" in the form of inscribed bricks, copper hair pins and dishes, small clay statutes of animals and mythical figures, and a number of beautifully carved bas reliefs of lions and other beasts. A score of human skulls, unearthed in the main cemetery of Kish and at Jamdet Nasr, were also received at the Museum.

Systematic excavation, which has been in progress for several years in the vicinity of Kish, has revealed the presence of not one but several "lost" cities, among them what may be the site of the "lost city of Opis," long sought by the early Greek geographers, Prof. Landon reports.

Actual field work was suspended during the hot summer months, but will be resumed in the late fall, it was announced.

Keep Pimples away

WHY do you let those unsightly pimples, blackheads and blotches disfigure your skin and ruin your appearance? You can keep them away if you keep your system full of rich, red blood. And not only that, but the very texture of your skin will be soft and velvet like—and the coloring radiant as a rose.

It's all in the blood. And S. S. S. will help Nature keep your blood rich and red and pure.

Yes, you can keep pimples away, simply by taking S. S. S. That's a fact. The kind of red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build makes your skin beautiful—clears it up just like it puts firm flesh on you—brings strength to weak, flabby muscles—gives you an appetite like you used to have and generates the energy and vitality of youth throughout your entire system.

PREPARE yourselves for thrill number 2. Mr. Tuney is up. Mr. Dempsey is down. They will fight again next spring. The noble-minded "prize-fight fans" will have had time to collect two millions more for tickets.

Perhaps Mr. Dempsey will be up next time, Mr. Tunney down, in which case think of the intense excitement and joy of a third fight to come soon thereafter.

THE moving picture world, a big one with tens of millions that look upon it as the only world of importance, wonders what Estelle Taylor will do now that the champion she [illegible] champion no longer. Everybody knows what Napoleon's second wife did. When he ceased to be champion she forgot all about him. But no moving picture actress could do that and beside he may be champion again — Napoleon came back from Elba.

MORE shooting and killing in China with the United States mixed in the row. In the league of nations council China's spokesman accuses Great Britain of killing Chinese coldly, wrecking Chinese ships and small boats, drowning 100 passengers.

What Great Britain does to China and the other way 'round is not our business.

WHY must we interfere? Admire Judge Wilbur F. Bryant, seventy-five years old, a just man obeying the law of Nebraska he sentenced criminals to jail on a bread and water diet and is called "inhuman."

He replies by sentencing himself to a bread and water diet, losing ten pounds in five days, and telling the world, "if I can stand it at seventy-five years of age, bootleggers can stand it at thirty."

ARTHUR FORREST DIES WHEN HIS SKIFF HITS SECTION OF 'BEAR TRAP'

New Cumberland Man Loses Life While Working "Day Off" of Fellow Employe.

TRAGEDY OCCURS IN DARK HOURS

"I am All Right" He Tells Co-worker, and Then Victim's Body Disappears.

Arthur Forrest, 60, clerk at dam No. 9, near New Cumberland, was drowned in the Ohio river at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after he had been thrown from a skiff in which he and another workman were raising the 'bear trap" in the locks. His body had not been recovered at 2 p. m. today.

Jarred from Skiff.

Forrest, who has resided in New Cumberland for many years, was substituting for another dam employe, who had been given a day off. Accompanied by Zella McIntosh, another employe at the locks, Forrest set out in a skiff shortly before daybreak to raise the "bear trap."

The boat, McIntosh said struck a section of the trap, the sudden jolt throwing Forrest into the water. McIntosh claimed that he called to Forrect and the latter replied: "I'm all right." A few seconds later Forrest sank.

McIntosh hurried to the dam house and notified other employes. The river was dragged with grappling hooks all day Sunday.

Forrest is survived by his widow and on son, Edwin Forrest, at home. He was a member of the New Cumberland Christian church.

POLICE CHIEF FULTZ FIGHT IS REOPENED

Wellsville Asks Appellate Court for New Trial.

Common Pleas Order Reinstated Head of Department.

The city of Wellsville's fight to carry the matter move against Chief of Police John H. Fultz into court of appeals from the common pleas decision which reinstated the police head, was scheduled to get under way this afternoon before the higher tribunal in Youngstown.

At 1:30 o'clock, counsel representing both the city and the chief were ready to argue the city's motion for a new trial before Judges John Pollock, J. W. Roberts and Louis T. Farr, as the court reconvened following luncheon.

Fultz was represented by Attorneys Ben L. Bennett, F. E. Grosshans and W. A. O'Grady. City Solicitor S. C. Luccock and Attorney Blaine Cochran represented the city.

Fultz, "fired" from duty by Wellsville civil service commission, was reinstated by Judge W. H. Spence after a hearing in common pleas court at Lisbon.

The city then filed a motion for a hearing before the court of appeals which this month is sitting in Mahoning county.

Saturday, counsel for Fultz moved to have the appellate court strike the city's appeal from its files, asserting that court has no jurisdiction in the case.

Suicide Verdict In Death of Man Who Wounded Wife

HARRISVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 4.—A suicide verdict was returned by the coroner today in the death of John Vetiz, 53, coal miner, who shot his wife in the head, seriously wounding her, and then killed himself as they lay in bed in their home at Duncanwood last night.

The coroner's report stated Vetiz had come home from his work at Kenwood to spend Sunday and he and his wife renewed a quarrel which had been the cause of Vetiz being locked up at Cadiz recently.

OL' ST. LOUIS, BASEBALL MAD, TO BE PAINTED RED TONIGHT

Fans go Cuckoo Over Homeward-bound Cardinals.

DREAM REALIZED

Yanks are Coming, But Germans do Not Fear Them.

By W. F. SULLIVAN.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Ol' St. Louis is going to be painted red tonight — a bright cardinal red.

The fans have gone cuckoo over their Red birds, who come back to their home roost late this afternoon for the first time since they won the National league pennant.

For 38 years St. Louis fans dreamed of a day such as this and those who have lived to see their dreams realized will participate in the rousing welcome that is planned when the Cardinals arrive here from New York. Some have grown to be grandfathers, others have grown long gray beards and others have passed away before they saw the pennant come back to this side of the Mississippi river.

When the heroes step from the train at the union station, the signal will be given to touch off the powder in the celebration keg and the roof is expected to be raised from the train sheds.

One Proud Family.

It is true the Yanks are coming but the Germans in this town do not fear them. Neither do their allies, the Irish, Swedes, French, Italians and others. It is just one big, proud family that will meet their victorious Cardinals who come marching home tonight.

The fans here heard the reverberation of the Cardinals' heavy artillery echoing from the Yankee stadium yesterday and their fears of Saturday were dispelled. They may hold this confidence but a short time but it was present today and they were as proud of their Red birds as any peacock that majestically strutted in a gilded cage.

Hornsby, Southworth, the old master, Alexander and, in fact, the whole team are due to be mobbed. The more rational ones fear that some of the team will be injured by well-intended but over-zealous affect on them.

That the town is going to be painted red is not a figurative statement. Many of the paint stores have announced they have sold out that particular color. Everybody is seeing red and the sidewalks of St. Louis, the streets and boulevards will have a bright new coating if plans are carried out.

Scalpers are taking advantage of the careless ones. Over night the

Call For Bids On $83,000 Civic Improvement Program

Proposals Will be Opened Oct. 8, 15 and 18 on Street and Sewer Jobs.

Bids for street and sewer improvement work, estimated to cost approximately $83,838.04, will be received during October, Service-Stafety Director John W. Moore announced today.

Seven projects will be considered on October 8, another on October 15 and a ninth on October 18. Date for bids on a sanitary sewer in Sutton alley has not been set.

Property holders will pay $66,992.92 of the cost, while the city's share will be $16,845.12. The estimated bill for three street improvement jobs—St. Clair avenue, Avondale street and Fourth street—is $66,994, while sewers will cost approximately $16,844.

Bids will be received Friday on the following sewer contracts: Edgewood avenue and Hazel street; Ephraim street, Riley and Laura avenue; Garfield street; Briar alley and St. John street. Proposals for the resurfacing of East and West Fourth streets be

Miss Violet Snowden, Smithfield street, is suffering from a sprained left ankle, and a lacerated right knee, as a result of a fall at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, as she alighted from a Thompson park car at the Gardendale stop. The accident occurred when Miss Snowden stepped on a loose stone. Her injuries were dressed by Dr. W. G. McDade.

Bank Bandit's Shots Hit Two Bystanders; Boy, 11, May Die

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 4.—Earl Seibert, 11, was expected to die today at St. Mary's hospital here and Mark Burger, 32, a barber, was nursing gunshot wounds because a bank bandit's shots went wild shortly after midnight when an attempt was made to hold up John Hughes, bank messenger, carrying $6,000.

Hughes was returning to the Brotherhood of Railway clerks' National bank with Sunday receipts of certain Cincinnati theatres. He was stopped near the bank by four bandits in a sedan. The shots which injured the bystanders tore off Hughes' hat. He returned fire suddenly at close range and is beleived to have killed one of the bandits as the car roared away to get out of his range of fire.

New Lexington Lad At Ohio Wesleyan Shoots Himself

DELAWARE, O., Oct., 4.—Physicians were trying today to save the life of Charles A. Donnelly, 19, of New Lexington, Ohio, an Ohio Wesleyan university freshman, who fired two bullets into his brain and one above his heart in his room here today.

University authorities and friends of Donnelly were at a loss to account for a motive for the shooting.

Mrs. Laura Crumm, in whose home Donnelly lived, told Sheriff Fred Harter that Donnelly returned to Delaware from his home in New Lexington last night, apparently in good spirits.

MISSING MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN WOODS NEAR QUAKER CITY

John Chudy, 48, Grinder, Uses Sash Cord to End Life.

Victim Disappeared Sept. 14 From His Boarding House.

The badly decomposed body of John Chudy, 48, Mullins Body company employe, of Salem, who had been missing since Sept. 14, was found hanging from the limb of a tree in Tolerton's woods, off Depot road, south of Salem, last night.

Used Window Sash Cord.

The discovery was made by E. G. and A. C. Seberyn, brothers, and friends of the missing man, members of a searching party which was organized after Chudy disappeared.

Chudy is believed to have been despondent because of ill health.

"Suicide by hanging" was the verdict returned by Coroner J. M. Van Fossan after an inquest today.

The Seberyn brothers were returning to their home after having tramped through the woods all day when they found the body. Around the neck of the man's body was wound a window sash cord, fastened to the branch of a felled tree. The victim's knees rested upon the ground and the tips of his fingers almost touched the ground.

Gold Teeth Aid In Identification.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification from the features was impossible. Two gold teeth however, served to make identification certain.

Chudy came to the United States in 1900 from Poland. He located in Salem in 1914, being employed as a grinder at the Mullins plant. He roomed at 19 Perry street.

Chudy is said to have a wife and five children residing in Poland; a brother in Pittsburgh and a sister in Philadelphia.

Joseph Veres, 12, Richmond, Kicked by Horse; May Die

Joseph Veres, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Veres, Sr., near Richmond, Jefferson county, is in the City hospital in a critical condition as the result of being kicked in the abdomen by a horse Sunday morning. The boy was admitted to the hospital at 3:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon, being rushed here in an automobile. He was attended by Dr. W. A. Hobbs.

Boy Scout Work Demonstration on Rotary Program

ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO MODIFY OHIO'S PRIMARY WHICH WILL BE SUBMITTED TO VOTERS ON NOV. 2

The state emergency board has failed to grant the request of Secretary of State Thad Brown for funds to meet the cost of preparing a "publicity pamphlet" on the proposed constitutional amendment to modify Ohio's primary law.

Without cost to the state, the Review-Tribune today prints the pro and con arguments on the proposal which will be submitted to Columbiana county voters on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The arguments, released by the Columbiana county election board are:

Arguments for Primary Amendment.

"This proposed amendment to the constitution does not abolish the primary. It modifies it so that conventions may be held, provided delegates are elected at primaries. This is mandatory. No legislature could provide for conventions, the delegates to which are otherwise selected.

"The primary system has made it impossible for a poor man to be a candidate for state office unless his campaign is financed by others, which is highly dangerous to the public interest. Eventually it must result in corruption and scandal.

"The primary has not resulted in a rule of the people. Few votes are cast at the primary. Therefore the politicians of a few big cities can get together and nominate a state ticket, as an unbroken line of experience has demonstrated.

"The primary has destroyed party responsibility. Under it there is no chance for party leaders to get together and consider the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of the party. The people no longer write platforms. This is done by candidates who are thinking more of their own success than of party welfare. Consequently platforms no longer represent principles in which the public is interested, but compromises and evasions of candidates.

"Under the primary, campaigns have grown continuous. No man worthy of high office will spend money or de[illegible] to make [illegible] able men seek offic[illegible] of unkno[illegible] rank and [illegible]

"The c[illegible] the real [illegible] has cost [illegible] localities [illegible] be in exc[illegible] cast in t[illegible]

"Committee:
"CHARLES L. KNIGHT,
"H. H. TIMKIN,
"LOUIS H. BRUSH,
"ROBERT A. TAFT,

Argument Against Primary Amendment.

"The constitution of Ohio provides that nominations for elective officers shall be made at direct primary elections, except as such as may be authorized by petition. This constitutional provision should be retained, because:

"1—Of the right given to every individual voter of the state to participate in the selection of public officials.

"2—The 'right of suffrage' is one of the fundamental and basic principles of democracy. No legislative act should jeopardize this right.

"3 — This proposed amendment

MRS. DALES IS BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. Wilbert Dales was hostess to members of the Semi-Monthly Bridge club Friday evening at her home in Riverside avenue.

Two tables of bridge were in play, honors being awarded to Mrs. Lester Donnelly and Mrs. Elmer Evans.

Mrs. Clifford Dawson and Mrs. Jess Tarr were guests.

Luncheon was served at the close of the affair by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Paul Eaton in Washington avenue.

Rational Method For Home Use Takes the Place of Old Trusses

Having no leg-straps, no elastic belt, no cruel binding spring bands, no "plug" pads, and declared by many users to be superior to every type of truss used by them, a special type appliance of common sense principles for groin rupture is the latest invention of Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 4844 Koch Building, 2906 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo. The Doctor has long specialized on rupture. He will gladly send his appliance on trial to any ruptured person who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he may refer. If you have groin rupture and wish quick relief from your old truss torment with improvement and safe protection take advantage of his offer. Write him today.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these year he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Pimples and Blotches

There is a clean, healing liquid, easy to use any time, that will shortly clear away Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches, Blemishes and similar Skin Irritations.

To keep your skin clear and healthy always use Zemo, the clean, healing, Liquid astringent for skin and scalp irritations. 60c and $1.00 at all druggists.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutin won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

P. T. A. TO HOLD MEET TONIGHT

Program Arranged for First Session of New Year.

The Central school building Parent-Teachers' association will hold its first meeting of the 1926-27 term tonight in the Ninth street building. Mrs. J. G. Paisley is the new president of the association.

Plans are completed to make the opening session a rally night and the beginning of the October membership drive which will be conducted by a committee headed by Mrs. C. W. Arnold.

Program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. R. W. Ustick and her committee.

A special address will be delivered by W. R. MacDonald, member of the board of education. Miss Martha Rex, city nurse, will discuss "Health Examination and Conservation."

Musical selections will round out the program.

FAITH MISSION IS DEDICATED

With ministers and laymen from a large number of district churches in attendance, dedication services were held yesterday afternoon at Faith Italian Mission, Center street.

Rev. Willis Rowe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, presided. The Mission was crowded to capacity.

One of the chief addresses was delivered by Rev. John Sharpe, of Bellaire. Special musical selections were rendered by Prof. Alexander's orchestra; Miss Jennie Alimo and Miss Irene Maley.

Mrs. A. J. Stolliper was organist.

Among the churches represented were: First Presbyterian, Second Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant, Evangelical Christian and United Presbyterian churches, of this city; Baptist, First Presbyterian, and Methodist Episcopal, of East Liverpool.

D. OF A. SOCIAL TUESDAY NIGHT

Queen of Ohio Council, No. 141, Daughters of America, will meet tomorrow evening in the Knights of Pythias lodge rooms in Fifth and Main street.

The lodge session is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock. This will be followed by a social, beginning at 8:15, to which all Junior Order members, Daughters of America and families are invited.

A program is being arranged for the affair, in charge of Mrs. R. W. Beymer, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Luncheon will be served by the social committee, of which Mrs. Donald Morris is chairman.

CHURCH PLANS LECTURE COURSE

Plans for a popular lecture course series in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church were announced today by the pastor, Rev. K. J. Stewart.

The course will be held during the fall and early winter, the first number of the series being scheduled for Thursday, October 7, when Samuel Grathwell, "a mountain highlander," will deliver a talk on "The Present Crisis."

Grathwell has been on the chautauqua and lyceum platform for 13 years.

The lecture couse is being held under auspices of the Young People's society of the church.

MRS. GRANT SMITH W. C. T. U. HOSTESS

Members of the Victory W. C. T. U. were entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Grant Smith, the president, in Broadway.

Music and games were diversions. A three-course luncheon was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held the first Friday in November at the home of Mrs. Ernest Tackett, 306 Sixth street.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT WILSON HOME

R. J. Wilson was host to 26 members of the Knights and Ladies of the Golden Eagle Saturday at his home in Norristown, the affair honoring his birthday anniversary.

Music, games and dancing were diversions. Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. C. McLaughlin and Mrs. H. Carpenter.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hughes and daughter, Helen; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crawford and daughter, Helen; Mr. and Mrs. Carlos McDouglin and daughter, Naomi; Mr. and Mrs. Cal McElroy; Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDouglin; Mr. and Mrs. William Butler; Mrs. Morgan and son, Wayne; Mrs. Joseph Grimm; Mrs. Grover McElroy; Mrs. Mabel Newton; Mrs. H. Carpenter; Miss Anna Thompson and Mrs. A. McDouglin.

Attend Hamilton Obsequies.

Miss Rhomeyn Hamilton, student at Muskingum college, called here on account of the death of her grandfather, J. C. Hamilton, returned today to New Concord to resume her studies.

Mrs. Nellie Gould, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Mattern, of Pitcairn, Pa., attended the funeral services.

PERSONALS

Mrs. M. R. Shingler, Miss Edith Evans, Mrs. Ann Ferguson and Miss Jeanette Grafton are spending the week in New York City.

Mrs. T. W. Butler, and daughter, Ethel, of Main street, are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. R. H. Marriott, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Wilma Gregory, of Broadway, has returned after a visit in Orrville, O.

Mrs. Helen Cooper and daughter, Martha, of Broadway, and Ralph Merriman, of Ninth street, spent Sunday in Mansfield.

Miss Mary Davidson is confined by illness to her home in Broadway.

Nearly $14,000,000 will be spent by one city alone in Japan for construction of electric car lines.

A fish packing plant to be built in Argentina will handle 100 tons of fish daily.

"CASCARETS" FOR HEADACHES, COLDS, CONSTIPATION

To-night! Clean your bowels and stop headache, cold sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret to-night to cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, a bad cold, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

Watch Your Frail, Puny Child Grow Strong—Take on Weight

Cod Liver Oil in Sugar Coated Tablets Puts on Flesh and Builds Them Up.

In just a few days—quicker than you ever dreamed of—these wonderful health building, flesh making tablets called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets will start to help any thin, underweight little ones.

After sickness and where rickets are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good, but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine and they surely do it.

A very sick child, aged 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

Ask Mathews Med. Store or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—as easy to take as candy—60 tablets, 60 cents, and money back if not satisfied.

Florida Boy Scout Saves Girl Bitten By Poison Snake

Harnold Falconnier.

A 12 year old boy, with some six months' Boy Scout training, saved the life of a little neighbor girl, near St. Petersburg, Fla., who had been bitten by a snake. His quick realization of what her injury was and his prompt fashioning of a tourniquet, followed by his rush for a surgeon, unquestionably puts him in the hero class. He is Harnold Falconnier, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W Falconnier of St. Petersburg.

Within two years, it is predicted, hydroelectric plants in Italy will have a capacity of 2,341,000 kilowatts.

Q. What shades of silk are to be shown this Fall? E. L. B.

A. Sales of silk during the months of July and August indicate that black, white and navy blue are as popular as ever. Outside of these the most popular shades were reds, blues, greens, browns, and grays. There are of course many varying shades in each of these colors.

Q. I would like to know what the Indians used for fish hooks? H. S. F.

A. The following is an extract from an article prepared by the Bureau of American Ethnology: "Starting from the simple device of attaching the bait to the end of a line, the progressive order of fishhooks used by the Indians seem to be as follows: (a) The gorge hook, a spike of bone or wood, sharpened at both ends and fastened at its middle to a line, a device used also for catching birds; (b) a spike set obliquely in the end of a pliant shaft; (c) the plain hook; (d) the barbed hook; (e) the barbed hook combined with sinker and lure. This series does not exactly represent stages in invention; the evolution may have been effected by the habits of the different species of fish and their increasing wariness. The material used for hooks by the Indians was wood, bone, shell, stone and copper. The Mohave employed the recurved spines of cactus, which are natural hooks."

Q. Can an American obtain a position as a member of the Royal Mounted Police? H. A. K.

A. The Royal Mounted Police Force of Canada is a Canadian organization and is not accepting any but Canadian citizens at the present time.

Q. During the World War I contracted tuberculosis. The disease has now been arrested and I am drawing $10 a month compensation. Am I entitled to the $50 per month under the bill passed by the last Congress? J. C. H.

A. The Veterans Bureau says that since your tubercular trouble is service connected, and has become arrested, you are entitled to the $50 a month, effective from July 2, 1926.

The first hygenic exhibition ever held in Netherlands, East Indies, is to be held at Bandoeng, Java, next summer.

Fashion and Style Combine in These Quaker Curtains!

The latest thing in curtains is a sheer transparent net body with an interesting design in the bottom border extending up into the net ground from six to eighteen inches.

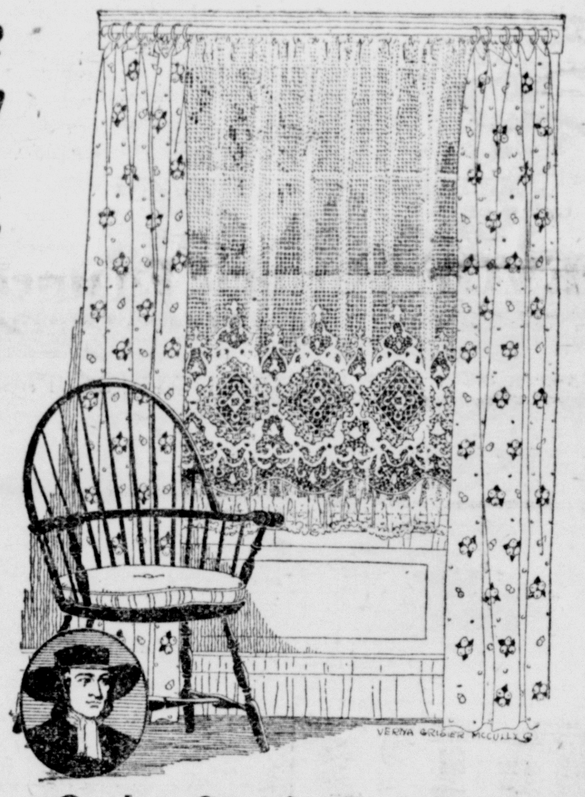

And for trimming, the "right" thing is a silk bullion fringe or a deep lace flounce.

HOME CRAFT WEEK
October 4th. to 9th.

is the week we set apart to demonstrate in our Drapery Department these new ideas in interior decoration.

What about price? Just look at the items listed below and see how we have managed to combine the value and the vogue for you in this Home Craft Week event.

—that Correct Feminine Touch

The modern home has a dual nature—masculine in facade; feminine in interior. The new Quaker Ban Valont Curtains harmonize these dual needs. The soft flounced border gives the desired touch of the feminine to the interior decorations, the simple Quaker Net maintains the rugged architectural ensemble. At $7.00 to $13.75 the pair.

Quaker Curtains With Bullion Fringe

The bullion fringe trimming on these Quaker Curtains not only gives them an air of distinction but also serves the eminently practical purpose of supplying just the needed weighting to make the curtain hang most gracefully. At $4.50 to $13.50 the pair.

Rayon Beauty in Quaker Quality

Do you demand lasting beauty in your curtains? Then here is the merchandise for you. Rayon (artificial silk) fabricated by the famous Quaker Craft mills into curtains which will hold their original beauty till worn out. At $10.00 the pair.

Quaker Lace at all Prices

"Quaker Lace" curtains are also shown in panel effects with fringed bottoms and motifs above—goods of great distinction, priced at $1.50 the panel.

For Odd-Shaped Windows

For the window that cannot be readily fitted with a made curtain we have appropriate Quaker Nets and Laces—in many cases in patterns to match the Quaker Curtains, at 35c to $2.25 the yard.

MAKE THE HOME MORE LIVABLE

And there is no better way to do this than to make new draperies, cushions, etc., of some bright-colored cretonne, chintz or other drapery fabric. We have an extensive collection of every kind of material to use as hangings in every room in the house. Cretonnes in bright hues or conservative combinations and patterns. Priced from 35c to $1.25 the yard.

Chintz in floral and other designs—Priced from 45c to 75c the yard.

New Fall patterns in Sunfast draperies — priced at $1.00 and $1.25 the yard. Side draperies and valances to match Sunfast fabrics—priced from 45c to 65c the yard.

Silk drapery fabrics in a variety of qualities, colors and designs. Priced from 95c to $4.25 the yard.

Many other interesting items that you may be able to utilize this Fall when making the home over for the dreary Winter days and evenings.

Viennese Firm Given Soviet Wool Concession On Long Contract

MOSCOW. — A concession to manufacture woolen textiles has just been granted by the Chief Concessions Committee to the Viennese firm, Bernhardt Altman. The Soviet government has granted the firm the privilego of taking over the factory formerly belonging to the Russian manufacturer Gorbachev, located at Kosino, on the Kazan railroad.

The concessionaire has obligated himself to re-equip the factory with modern machinery. He will be charged the regular customs duties for the import of raw materials from abroad, but as far as internal taxes are concerned, will be taxed on the basis of a government institution.

At the expiration of 18 years the works with all the inventory will automatically revert to possession of the Soviet government.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold "Go Down"

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger.

A "head cold" is only a bother while it stays in your head. But once it gets down into the danger zone, serious trouble threatens.

Act promptly to check the cough; to keep the head cold from "going down." Sure and lasting relief is as near as the nearest drug store.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1b26c

DORIS KENYON AT AMERICAN

Co-star of Milton Sills in "Men in Steel."

Thrills of the sort you see once in a lifetime are in store for motion picture patrons in "Men of Steel," First National's big steel photoplay, which opened a three-day run today at the American theatre, with Milton Sills in the starring role and Doris Kenyon as the featured feminine player.

Sills has always been known as a "he-man." In past pictures he has been called upon to perform some difficult feats, but in "Men of Steel" he surpasses anything he has ever done on the screen, both in scenes calling for strength and courage and in acting.

For example, there is a scene in which Sills and Victor McLaglen are trapped in a huge vat in a steel mill. A maniac is trying to dump a ladle of molten steel on their heads. Sills catches hold of a big iron hook swung over the vat on a chain from a crane and with McLaglen hanging to his feet is swung out of the vat, over masses of molten steel to safety at the other end of the big room.

McLaglen stands well over six feet and weighs more than 200 pounds. The task of carrying him, to say nothing of the molten steel that was ready to bring death was one requiring iron nerve as well as strength.

Clear your skin

Make your face a business asset

That skin-trouble may be more than a source of suffering and embarrassment—it may be holding you back in the business world, keeping you out of a better job for which a good appearance is required. Why "take a chance" when Resinol Ointment heals skin-eruptions so easily?

Pimples, blackheads, stubborn rashes quickly yield to its soothing touch. Ask your druggist.

Special prices will be withdrawn Oct. 9th.

Your home should come first

How big is a dollar? As big as the thing it buys. What are the biggest things it can buy? Not extravagances that give but temporary pleasure—luxuries that take you away from home. But lasting things to add attraction to the home. To give it the beauty that soothes the spirit; the comfort that brings rest to a tired body and peace to a weary mind.

Dollars buy these worth-while things when spent for home furnishings. Spent for Karpen furniture at any time in the year, they buy them in full measure. Spent for Karpen furniture during Karpen Week, they buy them in an unprecedented degree. For Karpen Week is the time of all the year when latest styles of beautiful, comfort-assuring, home-adorning furniture may be had at sharply reduced prices. Dollars spent during this week are not truly spent but wisely invested in lasting home happiness.

Next to food and air, there is nothing so important as your home. Make it one you will be proud of, one your family will be proud of. Take advantage of this event to beautify it at the most advantageous prices of the season. Don't fail to come in this week. The national scope of Karpen Week fixes the dates beyond recall. The special reductions must be withdrawn after next Saturday, October ninth.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1926.

Absent Voters' Ballots

Voting under the provisions of the absent elector's law, in effect since 1917 when the legislation was enacted for Ohioans who were preparing for the "Big Parade" overseas, is now under way in Columbiana county.

The polls, which opened Saturday, will close on Oct. 30, three days before the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 2, thus giving electors who expect to be absent from their home precincts on balloting day, an opportunity to exercise the right of suffrage.

Application for ballots should be made in person or by mail. If a voter is in a distant city, his supplies will be sent to his address upon written application. Or he has the privilege of marking his ballots at the election board's headquarters.

East Liverpool electors will select state, district and county officials and pass judgment upon two local issues—a 2.3 mill levy for school purposes and a proposed $225,000 bond issue for the erection of a municipal building—and a proposed state amendment to modify the state primary law at the fall election.

Don't disfranchise yourself.

Budgeting Taxes

The man with the little business of which he was proud, and which brought him in an adequate income, had to go to his banker for an extension of his house payment. The banker cheerfully acquiesced, and offered him twice the time he asked.

"But," asked friend banker, "I am curious about this. You told me once that you liked your business particularly well because it brought in a constant stream of small sums, almost as regular as a salary. What's happened?"

The man explained that this was still true. But that every once in a while came a month when collections were very slow. He had been examining his records and found that it was a month when income or other taxes were due.

"I budget my own taxes and am prepared for them," he said. "But apparently lots of people are still surprised when taxes come due. They have to hedge here and dodge there in order to take care of them. And just because my bills are small they delay them. I am equipped to absorb delay in twenty or thirty small bills, but when it gets to fifty or sixty, even my little amounts run into money, and there is an aching void in the bank balance."

Big businesses as well as little have been known to undergo serious difficulty because of the drain occasioned by the delayed payment of many small bills.

The first time an income tax or illness or plumbing accident happens, it may be reckoned justly as an emergency, and make a difference in bill-paying. But by the third or fourth time, it ought to be reckoned as a regular expense, with a reserve ready for it, and it should not put a crimp in the normal ability to pay normal bills.

The Hurricane Season

The news from Vera Cruz, added so swiftly to that from Florida, together with Florida's second scare, is rather terrifying. Where will this end?

It is a comfort to learn that hurricanes have their regular seasons, just as northern snows do, and that the season is just about over. The height of the season, writes an expert in the Boston Transcript, is reached during August and the first part of September. More than 54 per cent of the true hurricanes over a period of 37 years were found to have come within this six-week period. When a "tropical disturbance" starts in June, the chances are three to one half in nine that it will grow up into a real, life-size hurricane. The chances increase until the first half of September, when they are six and one-half in nine. Then they decrease until November, when they run down to one in nine.

Even one in nine sounds like one too many to the people who have just been through the experience. But only a few of the hurricanes, all in all, strike land. And September is gone, taking with it the most serious danger.

Briand and Stresemann

Briand and Stresemann lunched together the other day on sausages—humble though satisfactory repast enough—and after a four-hour discussion they are said to have come into complete accord.

This is a pretty good way to solve international problems compared with the methods being pursued this time 10 years ago.

There doesn't seem any real reason, either, why nations shouldn't keep on settling their vexed problems by quiet conferences over simple meals.

'It Rained Frogs in Miami" says a woman returned from there. Such rains used to be viewed as uncanny marvels by the superstitious, and wholly disbelieved by the cynical. Nowadays we know big winds often pick up small objects and transport them long distances before they are dropper.

What is needed to prevent war is an international law forbidding any nation to start a war without enough cash on hand to pay for it.

One fine thing about air travel is that the detours are so much easier.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Aroused by an air letter from Marshall Neilan, the cinema director, amusing enough to compel state for being awakened. So to breakfast and sat next to a fellow who put salt and pepper in his coffee.

Walked along the Park Avenue mall and sat on a bench and a man I took to be Will Hays strolled by and I inquired: "Is this how you run Hollywood?" and it was a stranger who eyed me curiously and stopped at the corner to talk to a policeman, pointing back at me.

Home and made short shrift of my labor, and to dinner and saw C. D. Williams, the illustrator, with two lovely ladies. Then to stroll along the brilliantly lighted Rialto with my wife and to bed.

Perhaps no writer in America has a more devoted following than Abraham Cahan, editor of the Yiddish daily, "The Forward." More than a quarter of million workers erupting from factories, lofts and swetshops at dusk snatch this curiously printed journal to read on the homeward journey.

He is the oracle of thousands who live in the dank tenements of the East Side. At 22 he was driven out of Russia by the czar and his sympathy for the oppressed is keen. The majority of his readers are humble and uneducated workers.

Cahan is of the intelligentsia but, despite several brilliant novels, has cast his lot with the submerged. He is not a thunderer although his ideas are radical. He is nearly 70 years old.

The chronic drug addict invariably has a sort of lusterless oyster white pallor. In this way he is often spotted by the law and caught with dope. Consequently many through artificial tanning are now appearing the brown of an autumn leaf. One on Broadway gives a hilarious touch to what is otherwise tragedy by wearing a yachting cap to accompany his heavy tan.

And—pianissimo—it is related a deceptive type of hypodermic syringe has been made to look exactly like a fountain pen.

The opium smoker is the most listless of all addicts after a debauch. His skin is onion colored, dry and febrile. He cannot eat and is consumed by burning thirst. A year or so ago narcotic statistics placed the number of "hop heads" in New York's Tenderloin at more than a thousand. There used to be a little cafe hard by Times Square that was their rendezvous and often they would be seen sitting at tables ghostly pale, silent, and shaky—gulping table water by the quart. Many made no secrets of their habit and related their experiences with disarming candor.

Fame flits. There is the yarn of a patron enterin "Pop" Ederle's butcher shop on Amsterdam avenue the other day. The walls held several pictures of the famous "Trudy." The patron looked them over. "My daughter" said the butcher. "That so. What did she do?" asked the patron.

A new racket of side street panhandlers. They approach a victim with a telegram which read: "Report at Long Island studio in the morning. Glad you have sobered up," and the name of a director is signed. They pose as motion picture small part players winding up a spree and need enough to rent a room and have breakfast in the morning. The scheme usually clicks and as a result they can afford to send themselves telegrams daily.

A New York business man has caused the dismissal of three taxi drivers because they were discourteous. One attempted to block his path when he had the right of way across the street and the other two applied insulting epithets because of the size of tips. In each case the victim secured witnesses, the number of the taxi, and discharge resulted.

BETWEEN THE CLOVES AND THE HICCOUGH

Before prohibition the bar in the Lambs' club—now given over to soft drinks, confectionery and vain regrets — was a famous place. I think more quick humor originated there than on any other spot of similar size on this hemisphere.

I remember one night when a distinguished comedian in a groggy condition was clinging to the rail. Only a few days before, he had announced that he was off the stuff forever. A fellow-actor entered.

"Why, Jack," he said, "I thought you'd taken the pledge and now here you are with a bun on. How did you get it?"

The inebriated one raised his head, revealing a happy, dreamy smile.

"Drink by drink," he murmured softly, "Drink by drink."

Another time, a member who was renowned for his capacity had just given his order when a friend appeared. The friend had had a good stroke of business down-town that afternoon.

"Bill," he chortled, "I'm in luck and I want to celebrate. Let's us two embark on a jag together."

"Fine," said Bill. "I'll spot you five to start with."

Here also befell the historic moment when a Thespian, meeting a pal who for months had been on the water-wagon and had suffered a relapse, asked the question:

'Drinking anything Gus?"

And Gus answered straightway:

"Yes—anything."

But, to my way of thinking, the honors for repartee at the Lambs' bar should go to Hap Ward, of the old team of Ward and Vokes. Hap, one day, was acting as host to a group of thirsty Lambs. A newcomer joined the party, bringing with him as a guest a gentleman of a serious aspect. When introductions had been completed, Hap addressed the stranger.

"What will you have, sir?"

The visitor drew himself up.

"I have never indulged in the habit of imbibing strong drink in my life," he said.

"My friend," said Ward, "I can teach you in three easy lessons."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Military Music.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4, 1926.—There appears to have been a decline in the use of military music in connection with the Army and Navy of the United States. Some officers are of the opinion that military bands are superfluous save for peace time parades or military reviews and may be regarded as more in the way than anything else in time of war. Also some legislators called upon to appropriate funds for the support of the Army and Navy believes a large number of bands to constitute a needless extravagance.

Perhaps the introduction of the talking machine and of musical programs over the radio have caused some people to feel that there is enough music available and that the taxpayers might be saved money by dispensing with the bands.

These considerations make a brief examination of music in war in point. True the World War brought about notable changes in the type of warfare but nevertheless, it seems reasonable to believe that music will always have a place in military operations. It always has had in the past and nature doesn't change much. Soldiers are certainly human beings and it is a foregone conclusion that a test vote taken among the soldiery of any modern army would show an overwhelming majority in favor of the bands. This doubtless would include most of the officers.

American military music did not take a very conspicuous part in the overseas work of the American Expeditionary Force in the last war but music was important in the British, French, and German armies. Some of the known exploits, some of the stories told by returned Americans reveal how important music was as a military feature. Every American soldier with half an ear for music is eloquent in telling of the inspiration drawn by Americans as well as French and British from the French military bands which are quite numerous. The French bands, in some cases, carried their music to well within the firing line of pitched battles and heartened the troops with their martial cadences. Many fell from enemy fire.

French Military Bands In World War.

The war stories from the very front say that to hear the spirited playing of Madelon or the Marsellaise put heart into many a battalion which was near to defeat. In this connection it will be remembered that from the time the latter anthem—by millions considered to be the greatest pice of martial music ever composed—was written it has played a substantial part in all French military operations. It might almost be said that it can be given credit for making France a republic.

The German Watch on the Rhine was relied upon by German commanders in many a pinch and that reliance was almost inevitably well placed. The same may be said of the British God Save the King.

But by far the most impressive story of British military music is in connection with the Scottish bagpipes. The pipes are not liked by everybody in the concert hall but there is fairly general agreement that bagpipe music is the most stirring martial music in the world. Heard in the open air above the roar of guns it means more than on the concert platform. There were many Scots regiments in the War and

BOOK THREE—XI.

"They brought the tug so close to the liner there was only a narrow span of water between, and the liner stopped, and we stopped. Close enough that we could look up high and see the soldiers' faces. Thousands of soldiers. I'll never forget them. Waving and cheering and jammed in rows a dozen deep all up and down the decks. I tried to find Paul. I couldn't, but it didn't matter—I was so sure he was there, somewhere. I smiled and smiled, and threw kisses. And all the time, I was smiling at the rail they had pushed him off of two days before, wrapped in a flag—and I didn't know."

She broke off, fighting to retain the self control that had kept her voice low and even . . . with an evenness that had somehow testified more poignantly than screams to the depth and truth of her emotion. Her dry-bright eyes looked out over the sea, and she shivered almost imperceptibly. Jock sat motionless, wracked. "God—how you did hurt her—" He would have taken her in his arms to soothe her, but something forbade him. It was as though she hid from him now, behind the ghost of the man she had so loved.

Presently he sensed a change in her, a definite hardening . . . steel doors pushed shut with a clang . . . and she was again the Yvonne he knew best, cool and possessed and faintly satirical. "Light me a cigarette, Jock. Appropriate to the rest of this autobiography.

"I won't try to tell you about those next few weeks. I couldn't tell you if I wanted to, because I can't remember anything about them except a sort of dazed, bruised agony. Just two things I knew: that there wasn't any God, and that it didn't matter in the least what happened to me, any more.

"I didn't go back to Ohio. I don't think it even occurred to me that to go back would be the logical thing, and I've never been back since, to this day. I went to New York . . . did you ever notice how people crawl there when they're down, like poisoned animals toward water? . . .

"Of course I had no money, to begin with. I lived in a little black hole of a room in a boarding house just off Broadway, and worked. Sold magazines at a stand in the Grand Central station—that was my first job. Then I was a model in a cheap wholesale house for a while. I suppose you've never been in one of those places, have you, Jock Hamill? The models sit around in little pink silk slips, and fat greasy buyers have a perfect right to paw them over like the merchandise . . . and do it. . . . Later I got into the misses' department of one of the big stores as a dress model, but I didn't stay. That sort of thing wasn't what I wanted.

"Then I worked in a cabaret. Carrying a tray tied around my neck with a ribbon, and crying, 'Cigars! Cigarettes!' all night long, and smiling at the men so they'd tip me well. . . . Finally the manager found out I could sing, and I did a couple of solos every night. You know, going from table to table. I took a new last name then—Mountford—the Yvonne is my own.

"There were several different jobs after that, each one of them a little step up. Cabaret singer at Huber's, and later at the Cafe Mandalay. And all the time, things were happening to me. Sordid things. I needn't tell you, they weren't important. Then—do you remember the Sedgewyke divorce case? The papers were full of it at the time. I was co-respondent . . . That gave me a lot of notoriety, and got me a new place. On the stage. You guessed right about that, though I wasn't really what you could call an actress. Just sort of a glorified chorus girl in 'Pretty Baby' for a year on Broadway. I wore clothes, and walked around, and sang one song in the second act. . . . In the spring I married the leading man." She mentioned a famous footlight name. "I don't know why. I didn't even like him. But he made a huge salary. . . . Gold-digger, you see. That's all I am. Or was," she added on a quiet breath.

"We lived together seven months in an apartment on Central Park West, and kept open house. He used to pick up the queerest people—I don't know yet where he found them all. There were a lot of show people, of course, and prize-fighters, and gamblers, and Greenwich village poets, and "ladies with no destination," as Kipling calls them, and flotsam and jetsam. We had parties all the time, night and day. Just drunken brawls. I was forever helping people to bed. Even now, when I think about that apartment, I can only see it as it used to look every morning before the maids got to work on it. Bottles, and siphons, and cigarette butts, and broken glasses, and stale, sickening air. I suppose that's what made me hate liquor the way I do. . . . I used to have an awful time, trying to get him straightened up before the performance. You never saw anybody become so drunk so often. And then one night he struck me across the face, and that was the end. I left him, and got a divorce—oh, I had plenty of grounds, even in New York.

"There was a lot more publicity connected with that, because he was so well known, and when it was over I wrote a story for a newspaper syndicate—or rather, some man wrote it, and I signed my name and got a sizable check. The thing was called, 'Why I'm Through With Matrimony,' and it ran in four installments in Sunday supplements all over the country. It was mostly bunk, of course, and very lurid. Pictures of me splashed all over the pages. I got a lot of letters about it. Letters from men, making all sorts of proposals, and from crazy girls, and people wanting help. And one from a woman who said I ought to be locked up somewhere. . . . I've always remembered that. Sometimes, you know, I almost get myself to thinking that she was right.

"I'd put away a little money, but not much, and I had to make my living again. So I was hostess at the Twelve-to-Five Club. You've been there, haven't you? — you know the sort of place it is. Just like a hundred other supper clubs. That's where I ran on to some of the people I know—college boys, for instance. I met a lot of college boys. One reason I wouldn't come down to the games you asked me to last fall was because I was afraid I'd meet some of them again and they'd tell you all about me. I didn't want you to know. I don't now, but I've got to tell you. Something is making me tell you. Don't think I'm enjoying this, Jock Hamill!

"Of course I had grown very hard and cynical—and mercenary—by that time. New York does that to a girl alone, and losing the only thing you really cared about does it. I wanted money. . . . See, I told you! Glitter. . . . I'd made up my mind that money was more important thany anything else in the world, a lot more important than a fickle will-o'-the-w'sp like happiness. Money was so tangible. So—so there. A thing you could hold in your hand. I wanted lots of it. And it didn't matter much how I got it. Do you understand, Jock Hamill? It didn't matter how I got it.

"Well, there was a man who used to come to the club often, named Parke Demorest—"

"I know," Jock unexpectedly.

The sound of his voice surprised him. He had spoken aloud without volition, for the first time since Yvonne began talking.

She stopped short now, and fixed him with her glance. "You—know? Who—who told you, my dear? You didn't know before I went away—" Her eyes filled with sudden enlightenment. "You've talked to that Toby Jennings who brought me to the dance the night I met you!"

"No I haven't," Jock said quietly. "Do you think I'd gumshoe around trying to find out things you didn't want me to know? I stumbled on it accidentally. Demorest's picture in a newspaper, and something about his leaving for California. The day you did. I knew you knew him—that time in Sherry's, remember? — but even then I wasn't—I didn't believe—"

"You didn't want to believe, did you?"

Electric Railway Men To Have Trolley Show At Cleveland Meet

CLEVELAND, O. — Every type of street car and bus manufactured in this country will be on display at the annual convention of the American Railway association here, October 4-8.

More than 9,000 delegates representing the nation's street railway companies and manufacturers of street cars and busses are expected to be present, according to Colonel John Alexander, vice-president of the Cleveland Railway company, in charge of the display.

The exhibits will reveal that street transportation methods have greatly advanced during the year alone and that there is very little room for further development, he said.

A special convention hall to house exhibits which will not find room in the city auditorium, has been erected; and two miles of track have been laid on lots surrounding the * buildings upon which the street cars will be displayed.

Light—the Best Night Watchman

THERE is no better protection against the sneak thief and burglar than a light burning in your home. It suggests the dangerous possibility that someone is inside and it takes a lot of nerve, even for a crook, to enter a home where a light is burning.

When you go out for an evening leave a light burning upstairs!

When you go to bed leave a light burning in the hall or bathroom!

If you go away for a visit, a light in the house is the best kind of burglar insurance you can buy.

HIGH GRIDDERS DISPLAY FORM

Coach Wilde's Charges Down Wellsville in Opening Tilt.

Chester high school football team opened the season Saturday afternoon by defeating Wellsville in a hard fought game by a score of 6 to 0.

Coach Wilde's charges showed good form and for the most part outplayed their opponents.

Chester's lone touchdown came in the second half when Johnston carried the ball over for the only score of the game. Wellsville threatened to score but once during the game when the local line held for downs.

The game was witnessed by a good sized crowd including a delegation of students who accompanied the visitors.

Kenneth Simcox, half back of the Chester team, dislocated his shoulder and will probably be unable to play for at least a month.

Chester is scheduled to play Follansbee next Saturday at the latter place.

Defeat Salineville in First Sunday Gridiron Game Here.

Chester Valley Stars defeated Salineville in the first Sunday football game ever staged here yesterday afternoon at Smith Field by a score of 7 to 6.

The contest attracted a crowd of 1,000 gridiron fans from Chester, Midland, East Liverpool, Newell and Wellsville.

Both elevens played good football and the result was in doubt until the referee's whistle sounded the end of the battle.

Chester, although finishing on the long end failed to negotiate a first down, while Salineville was credited with six. The coal town players also gained considerable more ground than the locals.

Chester kicked off to start the game. Salineville failed to gain any ground against the strong offense of Chester and was forced to punt. Neither team made much headway in the first quarter which ended without scoring.

Chester scored in the second period of play when Ferris carried the ball over the goal line after a 50 yard punt was fumbled by Salineville five yards from the goal line. Dill made the point after the touchdown. After the ball was put into play Beckett made first down after the ball had been carried up the field by Grundy. Beckett punted to Cebula who made a 15-yard gain. Beckett and Grundy hit the Chester lines for gains with the former crossing the line for a touchdown. He failed to make the point after touchdown.

The third quarter was mostly contested in the center of the field with no scoring. Salineville made a desperate attempt to score in the final quarter. A forward pass from Floto to Beckett brought the ball near the Chester goal line but scoring was averted when Ferris punted out of danger. The ball was in the center of the field when the game ended.

Benedict, Mundy, Ferris, F. Dill and Dalrymple showed good form for Chester, while Beckett, Grundy, Floto, Hanley and Wycoff were the stars for Salineville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rembert, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Jackson and Ray Leonard motored to Canton yesterday, where they attended the dedication of the new Masonic temple.

Parade in which more than 10,000 Masons participated was one of the features.

SUNDAY GRID BAN IS ASKED

Council Will Act Tonight on Football Question.

Petitions seeking a ban on Sunday football in Chester will be presented tonight at the semi-monthly meeting of the city council.

Movement to halt the games was launched yesterday when the question was discussed in the churches after which the papers were circulated for signatures.

Council, under the rules, can prohibit the games at once if all members vote to suspend the rules and enact a prohibition ordinance. In the event the bill is not unanimous it will require another meeting and a majority vote to adopt the legislation.

The protest is an aftermath of the game played here yesterday between Chester and Salineville teams.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY LISTED

Grant district Sunday school rally will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. W. S. Hamilton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, New Cumberland, will be the principal speaker.

Delegates will be present from every church in the district.

To Attend Conference.

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will leave tomorrow for Carnegie, where he will attend the annual conference.

Fancywork Club Meeting.

Members of the Franklin Fancywork club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Hugh Huff, near the Franklin school. The usual program will be carried out.

County Court Meets.

Regular meeting of the Hancock county court was held today at New Cumberland. Routine business was transacted.

To Draw Jurors.

Grand and petit jurors for the November term of the Hancock county circuit court will be drawn this week by the jury commission composed of J. L. Mayhew and H. H. Robb.

Many Attend Meeting.

Number of former members attended the meeting of the Young People's Christian Union held last night in the United Presbyterian church. Allan McDonald presided at the session.

Hooks and Eyes in Surgery.

When H. L. Smith of Eureka, Kan., suffered a bad scalp wound in an auto accident, the attending surgeon was unable to draw the ends of the wound together in the usual way. He did, however, sew hooks on one side of the wound and eyes on the other, and by the use of rubber bands gradually draw the scalp together with good results.

Napkin Artists Die Out.

Throughout the world today there are only a few dining room stewards who retain the art of folding napkins into fantastic shapes, though it was a steward's boast a few decades ago. Robert Jack, a steamer steward on the Atlantic can make swans, dogs, and sail boats with a dinner napkin.

....they're buried just the same

A MISER buried his money in the earth at the foot of a tree. Every day he went to feast his eyes upon the sight of his treasure. A thief who had watched him for some time came one night and carried off the miser's gold. The next day, the miser, finding his treasure gone, tore his clothes and filled the air with his lamentations. A neighbor heard him and when he learned the cause said, "Don't grieve so, but go and get a stone; place it in the hole and fancy it is your gold. It will be of quite as much USE to you as your money was."

YOUR savings are probably not buried in a hole at the foot of a tree. But maybe they're BURIED just the same. The miser's gold was of no service to him, and if your savings are of no service to you they're buried just as much as the miser's treasure was. Make your money be of some USE to you. Make it EARN MONEY for you. You do this by investing

OFFER REWARD FOR BODY OF MISSING CHILD

Hunt for Orwell, Ohio, Girl is Spurred.

MURDER HINTED

County Commissioners Post $1,000 in Mystery Case.

ASHTABULA, O., Oct. 4.—A reward of $1,000 for the body of Isabel Zandarski, 3, who disappeared from her home at Orwell, September 22, was offered here today by the Ashtabula county commissioners.

The reward declared that the sum would be paid for the girl's body "dead or alive" but that $500 of the amount would be paid for knowledge that she had been murdered or for information concerning her murderers.

Mother and Uncle Held.

ORWELL, O., Oct. 4.—A mysterious automobile, seen traveling toward the muck lands from the direction of the Zandarski home, at 1:30 the morning Isabel Zandarski disappeared, has brought a new clue into the case and caused Sheriff H. D. Hannum virtually to abandon a kidnaping theory in favor of a murder suspicion.

Mrs. Josephine Zandarski, mother of the child, is in the county jail here where Sheriff Hannum says he is "keeping her isolated from the rest of the family." She is not under charges.

Mrs. Zandarski told him, the sheriff declared, that the night before the girl disappeared, she had occasion to punish her rather severely, whereupon the child went to sleep. Later, still sleeping, she was put to bed by the father. She has not been seen since. That was September 22.

Frank Krurick, 18, an uncle of the child, who occupied a room adjoining that of the girl the night she disappeared, also is being held in jail.

Thousands of persons visited the muck lands here Sunday and searched for evidence of the missing child.

One Liquor Charge Heard—Daniel Parsons Goes to Jail.

Edward Davis, Lisbon street, was fined $100 and costs, Sunday morning by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, after he was found guilty upon a charge of the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors.

Eight half pints of whiskey are alleged to have been found at Davis' home when it was raided Saturday night by Captain Conley and Patrolmen McFarland and Haley. Davis paid $40 on his fine and arranged for settlement of the remainder.

Daniel Parsons was committed to the county jail at Lisbon after he had been fined $100 and costs upon an intoxication charge brought under the state law. Parsons was arrested on Second street Sunday by Captain Conley.

Leroy Smith is being held by the police pending further investigation of a charge filed by Bud Woomer, who claimed that Smith has taken his Essex touring car without his consent. Smith was arrested Sunday evening by Patrolman Lister.

Four motorists who were arrested on Eighth street by Special Patrolman Leslie Curran Saturday night, charged with fast and reckless driving, were each fined $1 and costs. They were Clyde Carpenter, Charles Davis, Donald Vandyke and Ernest Ehlenbach. A similar fine was assessed against George Russo, Minerva street, who was arrested for parking in a restricted zone on Dresden avenue.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Elsie Keller.

Mrs. Elsie Keller, 50 years old, wife of John L. Keller, died yesterday morning in her home, two miles from Leetonia. Death was caused by paralysis.

Mrs. Keller, who was a lifelong resident of that section, is survived besides her husband by four sons and two daughters: Carl, Ray, Orland, Merlin, Mildred and Mrs. Hosea Peppel.

She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held in the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in charge of Rev. H. C. Brillhart, pastor of St. Paul's church, Leetonia.

World Series Photos Ruined When Plane Falls Into River

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 4.—Earl F. Ward, United States air mail pilot, prepared to resume his "route" today despite an accident yesterday which wrecked his plane.

Ward was compelled to make a forced landing near Sunbury, Pa., as he speeded from New York to Cleveland. In landing his plane hit a tree and careened into the Susquehannah river.

The pilot swam from beneath his craft with his pouches, secured another machine and arrived here only a few hours late.

YOU respect a man who takes his own medicine. Braunsegard, a great French physician and scientist, was called cruel because he practiced vivisection on animals, to prove that a man might think and recognize his friends after his head had been cut off. He separated the living head from the body of a dog which turns its eyes to the right of left as the doctor whistled on the right or left side.

Having explained to his students that atmosphere pressure kept enough blood in the brain to allow for thought, the doctor then past seventy, lectured on vital processes involved in the knitting of bones, as a preliminary he broke one of his own fingers in a vise and lectured as he put on a splint and explained what happened, calmly commenting on his sensations.

ONE HUNDRED cancer specialists of this and European countries have boiled into one brief statement all that is known about cancer. This is said to be the most important statement on the subject ever made.

FIRST nobody knows what cancer is, some think it comes from a germ, other from a growth caused by irritation of tissues. Nobody knows.

Most important of all cancer is not contagious or infectious. You cannot "catch it" from a cancer victim.

CANCER like drunkenness, is not inherited, but you can inherit a tendency to cancer, and attendency to alcoholism, as regards cure, everything depends on early treatment. Of a hundred that die of cancer in accessible part of the body, which means practically all of the body, in these days, ninety could have been saved by early treatment.

The only treatment worth while depends upon surgery, radium and X-days. Medicine is worthless.

WHAT price royalty? The Queen of Rumania is coming with her charming daughter, Princess Ileana. The young lady, related to King George, the recent German kaiser, and the late Russian czar, might consider marrying a young American to finance a royal wife.

BORIS, young bachelor, King of Bulgaria, also plans to visit us. Some American father might get him for his daughter and be royalty's father-in-law.

Since Mrs. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king, married a Greek prince, financed a Greek restoration and died just as she had finished spending her money, the ambitious eyes of Europe turn this way. A comparatively small fortune say half a million or a million income could do wonders in a Balkan kingdom.

WHAT is it that frightens men, making them more and more timid as they climb higher in the world of success? There is a story of a king frightened in a thunderstorm who said to one that expressed surprise, "of course you are not frightened. You are not a king, lightning would not strike you."

ALL American citizens are supposed to be kings and many of them are frightened in the midst of their prosperity.

EIGHT out of ten Americans will ask you: What do you think of business conditions? Does everything look all right for the next five or six months? They specify a number of months with an eye to business commitments.

WHAT is there to worry about in this country, if we mind our own business and continue to work?

Apart from the fact that the nation is absolutely unprepared for attack in war, there is nothing to worry us. And war for some years to come is not probable. Therefore amiable optimistic amateurs in charge of the nation's defense are no great menace yet.

If there is anything a nation needs that we haven't got, what is it?

Men like gold, we have more than half of all there is in the world.

We have the greatest crops on earth, plenty of land to double and treble them.

WE have 115 millions of people and could soon have 250,000,000 and be individually and collectively twice as rich as we are now if we had the intelligence to encourage instead of shutting off immigration.

There has never been such prosperity as ours, and it has only begun. "It hath not yet been shown what we shall be," and yet intelligent Americans are nervous.

TOWN IS WIPED OUT BY STORM

Two Hundred Persons Reported Drowned in India.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The town of Mandla in the central provinces of India has been practically wiped out by terrific rain storms, it was reported today in a Central News dispatch from Calcutta.

Two hundred persons already are reported drowned. The population of Mandla is 5,400.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The tropical disturbance south of Havana is apparently of slight intensity, the weather bureau declared today.

It is central about latitude 17, longitude 85, and is moving northwestward. Caution is advised shipping in that region.

WAGES OF SIN IS FAME FOR GREAT ALEX

Chicago Gave Him Boot Into Court of Honor.

HE'S OLD MASTER

Another Grover Cleveland is in Spotlight.

By DICK WILLIAMS.

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS WITH THE CARDINALS AND YANKEES, Oct. 4.—Verily, the wages of sin are world series fame and the way of the transgressor is strewn with daffodils and sweet scented begonias.

Yea, even iniquity brings its reward of acclaim, and moral turpitude is but the gateway to sunny pastures and bright meadows where sweet nectars ripple in the babbling brooklets, etc.

Some months ago the great and only Grover Cleveland Alexander was excused from the employ of the Chicago National league baseball club. The method of excusing the Great Alexander was that of aiming the right foot at a point due south of his coat tail, inhaling deeply and letting drive.

Pitched Sensational Ball.

Yesterday at the Yankee stadium this he-booted great man pitched nine innings of the most sensational baseball a world series has been blessed with. The fact that he won his game 6 to 2 and put the emotional young men from St. Louis on an even plane with the Yankees in the scramble for the world title is little more than an incident. The drama lies in the way he did it.

The Yankees, who are said to hit the ball with great emphasis and power at any and all times, got just four hits off Alex. Furthermore, they did not collect a single hit after the third inning when Mr. Earl Combs, the first man up, singled and then gasped his last on first base while three teammates, including the great George Herman Ruth and efficient Robert Meusel, did nothing to aid him.

Moreover, ten Yankees were fanned by the aged and erring Mr. Alexander while the St. Louis outfield was obliged to take care of but a single put-out, a fly to Hafey in the eighth inning. Furthermore but one ball was driven beyond the Cardinal inner defense by the Yankees after that single by Combs in the third inning and that was that gentle fly to Hafey, of which Mr. Combs likewise was the author.

Get One Base On Balls.

What's more, the Yankees were treated to but a single base on balls. That also went to Combs.

The foregoing represents the high lights of Mr. Alexander's success. There was one incident that caused the celebrated antique concern. It occurred in the second inning when the Yankees scored both their runs. At that unfortunate hour, Mr. Alexander undertook to run down Signor Antonio Lazzerri, New York's agile second baseman, with the result that he looked even more senile the records admit.

There is an old saying in baseball that when a pitcher gets hold of a ball with the idea of putting someone out on the third base line, the proper procedure is to summon the bat boy, have him bring out the fungo stick and sock the pitcher above the medulla oblongata. This done, the ball may be retrieved and the runner retired.

The Cardinals, with that respect that youth accords extreme age, did not do this. Subsequently Mr. Alexander chucked the ball at Umpire Hildebrand instead of Lester Bell and Signor Lazzeri scored before it could be repossessed. Aside from this incident, things were most merry, indeed, for the well known falstaff of the so-called national game.

Secondary Heroes.

The secondary heroes of Sunday's ensemble—the young men who did most to carry Mr. Alexander's coattails across the finish line in a blaze of glory, were William Southworth, whose departure from New York was approximately as informal as Mr. Alexander, from Chicago, and Tommy Thevenow, a small man with a large Adam's apple who, incidentally, is about the ablest short fielder this great old game has seen since Bobby Wallace's thick Scotch brogue disturbed the wave lengths of old St. Louis.

Both Southworth and Thevenow added home runs to the services. Southworth's coming at bright moment in the seventh inning when Bob O'Farrell and the same Tummas Thevenow were on base and the score was tied with prospects of it remaining so. It was a vigorous hoist into the right field bleachers in pursuit of which George Herman Ruth knocked the hats off seven bleacher fans, but to no avail.

The Thevenow home run was a bit of oddity, like the managerial system of the Pittsburgh Pirates or a Broadway speakeasy in the hands of a receiver. Tommy popped a drive to right field that would have been good for two bases under ordinary circumstances. On the contrary, it was under Mr. George Herman Ruth. Not only was it under Mr. Ruth, but it was under that part of his anatomy that projects into the horizon like an offset on a medieval fortress.

Cards Did Hitting.

Before George Herman Ruth could remove the shadow of his vast torso from over the ball, Thevenow, who scampers about the bases with great alacrity, had crossed the plate and Sad Sam Jones, who was then pitching for Miller Huggins' charges, was infinitely sadder.

Thus the outstanding incidents of the second game. Unlike the first game, it was a contest of fine thrills, some fine baseball and a few singular mistakes. Oddly another game without a bobble for the Yanks, while the Cardinals, noted for their adamantine defense, added a miscue to their one of yesterday. Adversely, the Cardinals did the enthusiastic hitting while the Yankees, supposedly the fair haired scions of the god of sock, were quite docile and tractable.

Rogers Has Edge In Ruth-Hornsby Duel in Classic

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Ruth-Hornsby results for Sunday showed a complete reversal of the Saturday order, with Hornsby not only taking the lead in effective offensive play, but likewise adding to his margin of fielding superiority.

In five trips to the plate, Rogers got one hit, a clean double, sacrificed a runner to third and second. Both of whom subsequently scored, and drew a base on balls, in the meantime Ruth, in four tries failed to get a ball out of the infield. He looked at a third strike the first time up, popped to Thevenow the second time, rolled out to Hornsby the third and on the fourth helped to make a star of his rival by lining a smash toward right field that the St. Louis manager grabbed in a diving catch.

Afield Rogers had two putouts and four assists while Babe had one put out. In justice to the big Bam, it is hereby recorded that he almost caught Thevenow's drive on the foul line before it became misplaced and went for a home run.

St. Louis Baseball Mad

prices leaped and whereas on Saturday $25 a ticket was a top price, the quotations were almost doubled and probably will go beyond that figure before game time tomorrow.

EN ROUTE WITH THE CARDS AND YANKEES, Oct. 4.—One of the greatest welcomes ever tendered a baseball team waits the Cardinals when they pull into St. Louis tonight. If reports along the road are to be believed, the entire middle west is all "het up" about Rogers Hornsby and his boys.

Alex Baffles Foe.

The fact that the "Show Me" gang evened the count with the Yanks before the largest crowd, 63,600 paid, that ever saw a ball game will make the homecoming all the more strenuous. But whatever they do the folks at home can't give their prides too much credit.

Behind the clock-like, near-perfection pitching of Alexander, Hornsby and his horde rode to a well-deserved triumph. There was something reminiscent of Matty and Brown and Walsh, of the great pitchers of those other mellower days in the work of Grover Cleveland out there in the tanbarked box of the Yankee stadium yesterday.

BY FORD C. FRICK.

ABOARD YANKEE SPECIAL, Oct. 4.—The Yankees, fast heading toward the camp of the enemy, already have forgotten the sting of defeat handed them yesterday by the St. Louis Cardinals, and more especially Alexander. If there is any tinge of disappointment or any wavering of Yankee faith it isn't apparent this bright October morning.

As Mr. George Herman Ruth remarked, only a few moments ago:

"A world series is a world series, but a bridge game is a bridge game, and you can't cry over defeat when you're playing a no trump hand."

Mr. Ruth's remark was forthcoming when one of the war correspondents inadvertently trumped his partner's ace. The correspondents, it seems, take the Yankee defeat more seriously than the Yankees themselves, which is a good thing for the Yankees.

Expect Inimical Attitude.

If there is any conjecture among the athletes at all, it pertains to the sort of reception they will get from St. Louis fans when they take the field tomorrow for the third game of a series that today is tied up tighter than a Salvation Army drum. St Louis fans never have been inclined to give the visiting players any the best of it, and with a world championship at the stake the chances are that their attitude will be even more inimical than usual.

Which is the thing the Yankees are expecting when they open tomorrow in the Cardinals' home bailiwick. They hope for the best, but they're prepared for the worst.

What little baseball entered into the conversation today had to do with the wonderful work of Grover Cleveland Alexander, who, as his name signifies, dates back to a long forgotten era when free silver was a party issue and "innocuous desuetude" was a seven-dollar mouthful in any language.

Alexander Had Stuff.

The boys offer no alibis. As concerned the pitching produced by the venerable right-hander, he had the stuff.

"The greatest control I ever saw," remarked Lou Gehrig, as he forked his ham and eggs this morning.

"His screw ball was a wonder," contributes Earl Combs, who with Mrs. Combs viewed the fitting Indiana landscape from the observation platform.

"His fast ball hopped a foot," declared Mr. George Herman Ruth.

Card of Thanks.

We, the undersigned desire in this manner to thank our many friends and neighbors for their many kind acts and loving words to us in our time of loss of our dearly beloved wife, mother and sister. Especially do we thank Rev. B. R. Johnson, Ohio City Rebekah lodge, Private Eddy Auxiliary No. 66, Private Eddy Post No. 66, Vets of Foreign Wars, D. E. McNicol Clay Shops and kilnmen Edwin M. Knowles Decorating Shop, Gold Star Auxiliary of Salem, Ladies Department of Ohio and all others for their beautiful tokens of love. We also desire to thank all those who so kindly donated cars.

MORE ARRESTS IN HALL-MILLS CASE PROMISED

Inquiry Moves Back to New Jersey Today.

WOMAN SOUGHT

Brooklyn Detective is Admitted to $10,000 Bail.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 4.—The Hall-Mills murder investigation moved back across the New York state line to New Jersey today where the state investigators were busy preparing their case for presentation to the grand jury which meets on Thursday. Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in charge of the case, intimated he will ask for four more arrests on charges of accessories after the fact. One of these persons is said to be a woman.

The trial of the four year-old mystery shifted temporarily to Brooklyn supreme court, when Felix di Martini, chief detective for Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, was admitted to $10,000 bail, following his arrest on charges of being a fugitive from justice in New Jersey, where he is wanted as an accessory after the fact in the slaying of Dr. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Di Martini was released after attorneys for Mis Hall had applied for a writ of habeas corpus. Hearing on the writ was set for Friday. Simpson asserted di Martini in the first investigation four years ago had access to witnesses and much information which the state of New Jersey is desirous of obtaining.

Joseph H. Porter, president of a banking institution in New Brunswick, was scheduled for further questioning concerning the safe deposit box rented by the slain pastor in the National Bank of New Jersey, of which Porter was trust officer at the time of Dr. Hall's death.

Walter R. Burnley, private detective formerly employed by Dr. Hall, has informed Simpson that the safe deposit box number which Dr. Hall gave Burnley did not correspond to the number of the box opened at the bank after the slayings.

Call For Bids

tween Union and Monroe streets also will be opened.

Bids for the resurfacing of St. Clair avenue, from Young's alley to the north line of the J. T. Croxall property will be opened on October 15, while figures for the grading and surfacing of Avondale street from Bank street to North street will be received on October 18.

Director Moore announced that the St. Clair avenue job will be the first to be taken up, after the sewer jobs have been disposed of. This job is slated for completion before winter. The Fourth street and Avondale street contracts will be awarded as soon as the money is available. Because of the lateness of the season it it not likely that the Avondale street job will be finished this year, although the grading work may be undertaken this fall.

The St. Clair avenue job, the last link in the new improvement between the Diamond and Calcutta, will be either sheet asphalt, Willite process, or asphaltic concrete. The same improvement also has been planned for East and West Fourth streets. In addition to sheet asphalt and asphaltic concrete, estimates have been asked for concrete on the proposed Avondale street improvement.

Because of the lack of funds little steer and sewer improvement work has been undertaken in East Liverpool this year. The main project finished this season is West Eighth street in which the county and the street car company shared. Shadyside avenue, also within the city, was improved this year at the expense of the Liverpool township trustees.

Five Go To Retormatory, One Given Prison Term

Judge W. H. Spence Metes Out Penalties After Six Plead Guilty to Indictments — One Man Fined.

Five reformatory sentences and one penitentiary term were meted out by Judge W. H. Spence in the common pleas court at Lisbon today after pleas of guilty to indictments had been entered.

William Kirby, Philip Longstreth, Francis Terloskey and Meryl Young, indicted for assault with intent to rob, in connection with the attempted holdup of the Charles Loop filling station near McCracken's Corners on the Lisson-Salem road a few weeks ago, were sentenced to from one to 15 years in the reformatory.

Arthur Jones, colored, of Greenville, Pa., arrested in Salem for the theft of a motor vehicle, was given from one to 20 years in the Mansfield institution.

Carson Haas, Youngstown, who was arrested in East Liverpool about two months ago, after he had looted the Jay Crawford filling station near West Point, was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the penitentiary.

W. E. Figley, who was arrested in Philadelphia, charged with removing a mortgaged automobile from the state, and who was brought back to Ohio after extradition papers had been granted, was fined $50 and costs after he had entered a plea of guilty. Figley had been in jail about seven weeks.

The jury was excused by Judge Spence until Tuesday morning.

Pro-Con Arguments

would surrender a constitutional right for a legislative enactment. The former is fixed, definite and certain, the latter, variable, vague and uncertain and subject to frequent change.

"The proposed amendment should not be adopted, because:

"1—It would virtually nullify the primary election system of Ohio. The nomination for United States senator and every state, district, county, township and municipal office would be subject to legislative contention. So far as these officers are concerned the primary would be abolished. It would remain in form only as a means of choosing delegates to political conventions.

"2—It in no way decreases the cost of the present primary system. The choosing of delegates to political conventions would necessitate the same election machinery and expense as is now required for all primary purposes.

"3—Unless the candidate for public office depended upon the county political organization, his expense is running for district or state office would be vastly increased. Instead of making a direct, personal campaign, he would be compelled to sponsor a slate of delegates who would represent him on the ballot in the several counties of the district or state.

"4—The men and women elected under the primary system, with few exceptions have been able, courageous and efficient public servants and compare most favorably with those under the convention plan.

TWO MOTORISTS DIE IN CRASH

CLEVES, O., Oct. 4.—Arthur Muliex, 30, and Walter Moore, 36, were dead here today the victims of a week-end auto accident. Their automobile was demolished by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train at the Columbia Power company crossing. These two deaths with two that occurred late Saturday, brought the total of traffic fatalities in Hamilton county to 100 for the year.

Lockjaw, Developed From Blister on Heel, Kills Girl

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—Bernice Marie Bugh, 8, of Baltimore, Md., was dead here today, a victim of lockjaw. The poison developed from a blister rubbed on her heel by a tight shoe.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—After absorbing a considerable volume of week-end selling orders in early trading today, the stock market displayed a firmer tone, particularly in the railroad and motor stock divisions. In the absence of any special factors affecting stock values there was a limited volume of new buying, and the professionals and pools continued to press their stocks for sale.

The market was dull rather than reactionary in the first hour, the price gains in General Motors, Werner Brothers, American Smelting and other market leaders counterbalancing the losses in Mack Trucks, Pullman, the oil stocks and various specialty shares. The 5 1-2 per cent call renewal rate announced by the money brokers was not to the liking of the speculative district which looked for at least a fractional decline in the first call loan rate for the week.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, O.

Rainfall During Past Month Heaviest Ever Recorded.

Approximately 9.60 inches of rain fell in Columbiana county during the month of September, according to Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, United States department of Agriculture Cooperative Observer for this district. The heaviest rainfall in September in a given 24 hours was on the 23rd when 1.70 inches fell. September was the greatest month for rainfall since the observers' station was established at Millport."

There were but five clear days last month, seven being cloudy and 18 partly cloudy. There were three thunder storms during the preceding month, these occurring on the 15th, 22nd and 23rd.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 73.2 and the mean temperature 54.4 and the mean temperature was placed at 63.8. Sept. 4 and 22 were the warmest days when 85 was registered, and the coolest was Sept. 26 when it was down to 37. The greatest daily range was 34 degrees, registered Sept. 12.

The month was noted for its evenness of temperature. There were few cool nights, neither was there any frost. The lack of sunshine was pronounced. As a result of the heavy rainfall there has been a decided decrease in the wheat acreage, as many wheat fields were washed out after they had been sown.

One year ago wheat was all sown, and corn was all in the shock and well matured, but this year very little corn is in the shock, and practically no wheat sown. This will probably result in the smallest acreage of wheat ever planted in the county, after loss has been taken into consideration, the report declares.

The month of September had five heavy rains when 1.60 inches fell on the 2nd; 1.23 inches of the 5th; 1.05 inches on the 6th; 1.96 inches in the 15th and with 2.40 inches falling between the 23rd and 24th. Beginning on August 15th and continuing for 45 days or until Sept. 30th, there was a rainfall of 14.80 inches in Columbiana county, this being the greatest amount of rain in any 45-day period at the Millport station. In fact the record shows that out of this 45-day period rain fell on 25 days.

During September 1925 the rainfall was but 2.80 inches, and September last had an increase of 6.80 inches of rain. The previous wettest September was in 1924 when 8.29 inches of rain fell.

Commissioners Given Report on Highways By County Surveyor

County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk in a communication to the county commissioners gives road contractors the option of either correcting pavements they built or to conform to specifications or accept deductions.

The communication followed receipt of a report by the surveyor of a report of a record of a profilometer reading on the five roads recently completed in the county:

The report follows:

"The Wellsville-Salineville road is 3.76 miles long and the graph showed 24 bumps or depressions of over 1-4 inch, 21 of them being 3-8 inch and three of 1-2 inch, this then makes an average of seven bumps per mile of road.

"The Wellsville-East Liverpool road is 0.78 miles long, the profile reading shows three bumps of 3-8 inch and two of 1-2 inch, a total of five bumps. This makes an average of seven bumps per mile.

"The West Eighth street job shows 28 bumps of 3-8 inch, 15 of 1-2 and six of 3-4 inch or more, making a total of 50. The length of this job is 0.393 miles. This makes an average of 127 bumps per mile.

"The Shadyside job is 0.447 miles in length and the graph shows 38 bumps of 3-8 inch and four of 1-2 inch. This makes an average of 94 bumps per mile.

"The state and county specifications state that a pavement shall not vary more than 1-4 in any 10 feet, and in the case of the state they deduct from the contractor the price of one square yard of pavement for each and every bump exceeding 1-4 inch and Lewis & Copeland and George B. Patterson accepted this. (The contractor has the option of either accepting this or going back and correcting the pavement) or in order to be consistent, we will have to give the firms of Tatgenhorst and McLaughlin and the Ohio Willite Paving company the option of either correcting their pavements to conform to the specifications or accept the deduction.

"The Wellsville-Salineville road is of concrete.

"The Wellsville-East Liverpool road and west Eighth street are of brick.

"The Shadyside avenue is of willite.

"I shall admit that it is easier to construct a road of concrete or willite and get a smooth surface than it is one surfaced of brick. Nevertheless the specifications call for a 1-4 of an inch in ten feet on brick and concrete and 1-4 of an inch in eight feet on willite or bituminous concrete. However, in checking the Shadyside avenue job it was checked on 1-4 of an inch in ten feet.

"Through the courtesy of R. S. Beightler, chief engineer of construction of the state highway department, this machine was loaned to me for these county jobs."

Sheriff Returns.

Sheriff George Wright returned to Lisbon Saturday afternoon, following a two-day trip to Mansfield and Gallipolis. At Mansfield he delivered two prisoners recently sentenced by Judge Spence for forgery and automobile stealing, and at Gallipolis he delivered a youthful epeleptic.

Preaches Initial Sermon.

Rev. C. N. Church, recently assigned to the pastorate of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church preached his initial sermon at Lisbon Sunday morning. Mr. Church was formerly located at Uhrichsville.

MORE FUNDS FOR COUNTY ROADS

That more funds will be available for road purposes in this county next year than what has been the past season is generally admitted by the county commissioners.

Because of a law passed at the last session of the state legislature, commissioners and other municipal governing bodies were not privileged to follow former financial plans in order to obtain funds to proceed with improvements. In other words, the new law compelled all of these bodies to "live within their income."

While there will be no change in the current 1927 major road program as was outlined by the 1925 bond issue, the commissioners may have at their command next year larger funds for road purposes than has been the rule this season. Few if any townships have been aided by the funds under the control of the commissioners this year. However, the commissioners will not have additional funds at their disposal until after the February tax settlement period.

PARTITION SUIT FILED IN COURT

Nathan Reich of East Liverpool, through his counsel J. M. McGarry has filed an action in partition in common pleas court against Ira H. Aronson of East Liverpool, and at the same time an account is demanded under an order of court by Reich from Aronson.

The petition relates that the two own a property in Second street, East Liverpool, and that Aronson has collected all rents since May 16, 1924 and that although an accounting was sought by the plaintiff from the defendant Dec. 1, 1925, he has not received a record. Reich believes that $900 has been collected by Aronson and the Potters' Savings & Loan Co., of East Liverpool has been made a party defendant because it has an equity of $2,500 in the property.

Fire Truck Accepted.

At a special meeting of the Lisbon village council, the acceptance of the new Deluge fire truck was approved, and the payment of $6,500 for the equipment approved. The council authorized the purchase of the new machine under a bond issue several months ago, but with the provision that it would not be accepted until its worth was proven by actual demonstration at Lisbon.

Board Inspects Home.

County commissioners today made their regular monthly inspection of the county home, which is under the management of John P. Neill. The board will be given a detailed report within a few weeks of the record of the harvest from the lands of this institution, for the current season.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

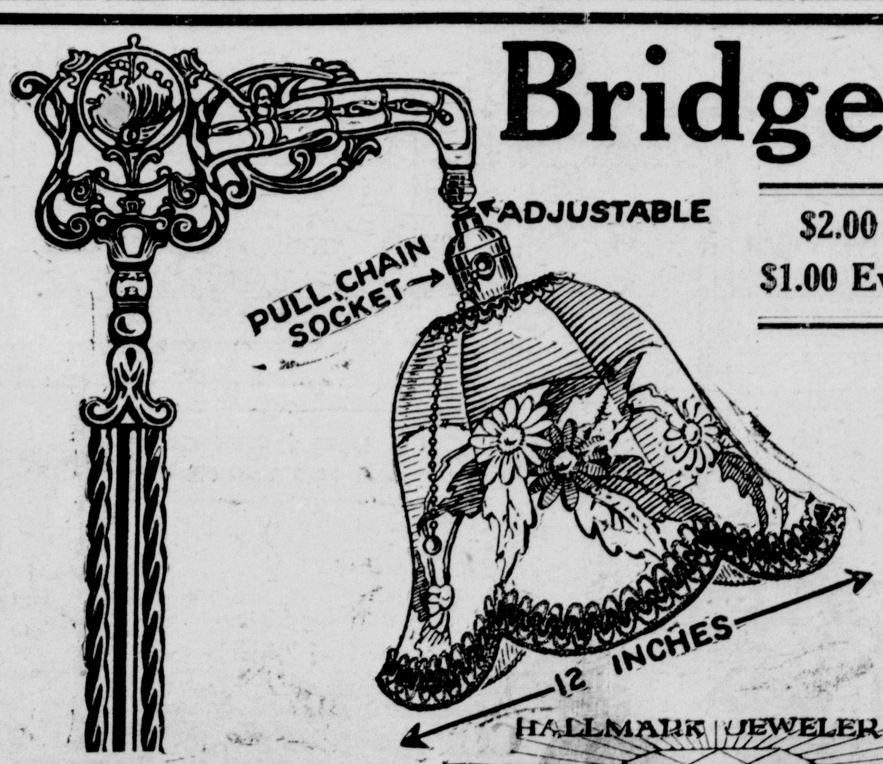

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

STATE LAUNCHES PURE FOOD DRIVE

Adulterated feed stuffs, particularly the kind known as "middlings" sold by some dealers in West Virginia, has caused considerable activity on the part of the department of agriculture, during the last several months, according to information obtained from John W. Smith, the commissioner. The practice now has been about broken up, Mr. Smith said, and, it is his aim to clear the state very soon of all such illegal practices.

There have been no prosecutions, Mr. Smith said, because other means have been adopted to bring the dealers to terms. In many cases registrations were cancelled and the dealers found guilty as adulterating feedstuffs have been forced in this way to cease the practice.

Mr. Smith said inspectors from his department found numerous cases of dealers selling adulterated mixtures as "middlings." The adulterators used in some cases, rice hulls, and there have been cases where rice hulls have been brought into the state in car-load lots. One dealer some time ago purchased 50 car loads of hulls to be delivered to his place at different times.

MONTE BLUE AT CERAMIC

"Across the Pacific" Story of Days of '98.

Ninety-eight! The Maine was sunk, cries of "Cuba Libre!" filled the air, and McKinley called for volunteers. Roosevelt gathered together what Richard Harding Davis called the aristocracy of the wild men of the West and the wild men of the aristocracy of the East. Men changed their bicycle bloomers for khaki pants and marched away to the tune of "A Hot Time in the Old Town." White-painted battleships went hunting for Cevera's fleet. Shafter took to a hammock and mosquito netting. The public took to "Good-bye, Dolly Gray." And America found herself turned into an empire of far-flung possessions, with Aguinaldo, a tinned beef scandal and Hobson's kisses on her hands.

It is against this background of the Spanish-American War that Charles E. Blaney constructed his melodrama, "Across the Pacific," at the Ceramic Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. And now "Across the Pacific" is sweeping across the continent as a Warner Brothers picture, recalling the days of ninety-eight to the generations that knew them, and making vividly clear what those days meant to a generation that knows its war only on the 1918 scale.

"Across the Pacific" is one of the big pictures of the season; a Spanish War picture that manages to revive the thrill of one of the splendidly romantic periods of history: the period of America's venture across the seas into the turmoil, intrigue and adventure of the Far East.

The story concerns a Southern boy, who enlists and fights through the war in the Phillippines, only to be held there with Funston, assigned to the task of subduing the Aguinaldo rising. It is a swift-action tale of fighting lives, and of loves that burn with tropical intensity.

Monte Blue is certainly cast amid the fighting and the loving, and is said to revel in the exhuberant joy of it all. Jane Winton appears as the demure American Miss with whom he used to go bicycle riding, and Myrna Loy as the Filipino girl, who never heard of a bicycle, but whose technique along lines of more primitive amusement proves almost disastrously effective when in operation upon the heart of the big boy in blue. Charles Stevens gives a convincing performance in hte historic character of Aguinaldo, and others in the cast include Tom Wilson, Walter McGrail, Herbert Pryor, Ed Kennedy, Theodore Lorch and the unforgettably sinister Oriental, Sojin.

Number of important matters will be considered at this session.

Fills Local Pulpit.

British Climate Makes American Matches Lazy Belief of Visitors

LONDON.—Britain's climate makes American watches lazy, is the fixed belief of many visitors from the United States.

Many of them observe that a watch that never varies in America will lose two minutes a day in London. Evidently American watches used to a dry crisp climate find London a trifle enervating and react accordingly.

It is for this reason that the management of the Savoy Hotel say they always keep the principal clock in the vestibule three minutes ahead of Greenwich time.

Nearly 13,000 laborers in the Norwegian paper industry recently went on strike in protest against reduced wages.

Veteran Alex and His Fast Ball Even Up Series Standing

Clubs Head Westward; Rhem and Ruether to Pitch In Third Game

Walsh Ventures Predicti on That Victor in Next Clash Will Cop Serie s; Work of Rival Hurlers Biggest Factor in First Two Engagements.

ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—The Yanks said they liked speed, so Rogers Hornsby, being accommodating and a courteous gentleman of the old southern school, fed them Alexander, and today the New York club was speeding west towards old St. Louis and the third game of the world's series with a severe attack of competitive indigestion. The patient may recover, but it is possible that he will never be the same.

For one thing, the Cardinals will come back at them in the third game tomorrow with Flint Rhem and while it is said that the eye is quicker than the hand, this isn't meant to mean your eye and Flint's hand. If the Yanks didn't like Alex's fast one yesterday, they may become plumb tired of Rhem's tomorrow.

Still, the series today merely was tied at one-all and St. Louis would do well to reserve its dancing on the levee until such time as the fiddler is ready for the jig. There can be no real choice between one club that looked good in the first game and another that looked better in the second.

Cards At 6 to 5.

However, boys will be boys, and men will be gamblers. The writer heard the Cardinals quoted as a six to five favorite this morning, whereas they were held at 5 to 9 only twenty-four hours before. Perhaps the speculative instinct was influenced by the obvious change in the general attitude on the part of the Cardinals between the first and second games.

They were dead on their feet throughout the opening game and even when they went to the plate in the first inning, one sensed the fact that it was all a mistake. The Cards were dut to lose to Pennock, and they did.

It was the Yankees' turn to jump the gun yesterday with two runs in the second inning and this time one knew instinctively that, came what might they were going west behind an even break.

Even when behind they had the dash and confidence born of the belief that they were the inevitable winner.

Of course that sort of thing runs hand in hand with good pitching. The Yanks had it with Pennock on Saturday; the Cardinals had it with Alexander yesterday.

Pitching Biggest Factor.

If Rhem's fast ball has the Yanks blinded tomorrow, everyone will run around in short circles informing all concerned that they knew all along that the Cardinals were the class of this series. If Dutch Ruether's left hand proves as disconcerting as Pennock's did on Saturday, the same citizens will complete the same circles but to the tune of a different lyric. Their story, then, will be that the Cardinals would have been lucky to finish in the first division in a good national league year.

Pitching, in other words, can make a champ or a chump out of any ball club, almost to order. The boys may write learned pieces about the way Joe Windmill chased a fly ball or how Bill Gum's pinch hitting turned the tide, to use an expression exclusively my own.

The fact of the matter is that Windmill probably wouldn't have had to chase that long fly at all if the pitcher had been working on the batter correctly, and Gum's pinch hits probably would have been foul tips under similar conditions.

The pitchers for tomorrow's game probably will be Rhem and Ruether. I don't see how the opposing managers can make any other choice. The Cards were stopped by a left hander on Saturday. Ruether either is left handed or he has defied Lincoln and fooled all of the people all of the time. A fast-ball with a good curve made the Yankees look silly yesterday. Rhem is that type of pitcher.

Support Almost Faultless.

It seems to be just one of those things where you pay your money and take your choice. Both are good ball clubs, more evenly matched than the writer had supposed. They seem to give their pitcher about as much support as he is entitled to become accustomed to and they hit with a real punch with men on bases.

I probably would be guilty of committing a bromide to say that the club that wins tomorrow's game will win the series, but the truth always is welcome, bromidic thought it may be. I should say that the remark applies particularly to the Cardinals. They have Alexander and Sherdel ready for a comeback in later games, whereas Shocker probably is all washed up. That throws the Yankee burden on Pennock, Hoyt and Shawkey and the last two have yet to prove that they belong in the series. Alexander and Sherdel have done that already.

"Who's Sorry Now?," Latest New York Hit, Stars Bill Southworth, Gotham Castoff

By KATHARINE BRUSH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—If Mr. David Belasco or Mr. Morris Gest were to make a play out of today's world series game, the billboards would doubtness read somewhat as follows: "He Who Laughs Last," or "Who's Sorry Now," starring William Southworth. "Standing room only." Permit me to introduce William. Strange though it may seem, he is commonly known as Bill. He is five feet nine inches tall, he weighs 165 pounds, his eyes are blue, his hair is brown and half missing, and he was born at an early age of perhaps poor but certainly honest parents in Harvard, Nebraska, wherever that it. He began almost immediately to play baseball, and in the course of his career he played it with the New York Giants. Or didn't play it. There seems to have been much dissension on this point.

New York appears to have been of the opinion that he did not play it, and accordingly in the middle of this summer they presented him in a casual sort of a way to the St. Louis Cardinals. "Take this, it's no use to us"—something like that.

Now the slogan of the state of Missouri has ever been, as every one knows, "you gotta show me." Mr. Southworth upon his arrival in the metropolis of Missouri took this slogan very much to heart, and he concluded after mature deliberation it ought to work both ways.

He would not only be shown—but he would do some showing on his own account, and did he? In the words of the generation, you should ask me. the ald he gave the Cardinals in winning the National league pennant is ancient history now. It is his feat of today to which your correspondent would respectfully call your attention. He came to bat in the first half of the seventh inning, with the score 2 to 2, and a man on first and a man on third and two men out—and just by the way of showing New York what a mistake it had made when it said to him, (go west, young man, go west), he knocked the highest, widest and handsomest home run you ever saw—the first home run of the series.

A second home run was later scored by Thevenow of the Cardinals, but though pretty it was unnecessary, like the paper pantalette on a lamb chop. Mr. Southworth, the cast-off and none other, won the baseball game.

BILLY SOUTHWORTH

It then appeared to your correspondent that a gentleman winning a world series game under such circumstances ought to have something interesting to say on the matter, even if it was only a loud derisive "yap." Accordingly, as soon as the game was over, I made a flying wedge of myself and at great risk of life and limb got through the 63 000 or more departing clients, into a taxi cab, and down to the Pennsylvania station, where the Cardinals were to entrain immediately for St. Louis.

They had a special train of five Pullman sleepers and a baggage car and the platform adjoining presented quite a scene by the time I got there.

Ball players were like excited small boys about to start home from boarding school, for vacation. There was a flock of equally excited wives, well dressed attractive young women, and a delegation of baseball progeny—youngsters who cut their teeth on basemen's gloves and said, "hit" before they said "mamma."

Every father in the Cardinal outfit had apparently brought all the children he had. Willie Sherdel, for instance, was to be seen with two, a son and a daughter, one hanging to each hand. And such is the lack of stature of Wee Willie that it was almost impossible to tell from the rear which was he and which was the son.

Mr. Bill Southworth was still being surrounded and slapped on the back by his team mates, but he contended to disintangle himsef and lend ear to my various questions. He is a modest gentleman, is Mr. Southworth. He seemed surprised, and genuinely surprised, because I though he ought to be proud of himself. He wanted to know why I thought he ought. I said "but you brought in three runs" where upon, he grinned and replied that it was "just a good break for him" that there happened to be two men on bases.

The ball players' special is expected to reach St. Louis about four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the town en-masse is going to be out to greet them. Automobiles decked with flowers will carry the pennant winners all over their native city, and bands will play and people will scream as they have not for forty long years had a chance to scream in St. Louis. And I dare say much of the tumult and shouting will be for Mr. Bill Southworth, the Card that the New York pitcher couldn't hold.

Visitors Penetrate Local Defenses For Score In Last Frame

Teams Battle at Fifty-fifty Gait Throughout Contest; Keeney's Short End Run Responsible for Only Score; Captain Larkins Injured.

Nearly two thousand fans saw Coach George Kidder's Blue and White eleven go down to defeat Saturday afternoon at Columbian park before the strong Akron East high school squad, 6 to 0, the visitors' sole touchdown being the indirect result of two penalties assessed the locals, one for 15 yards and one for five.

Akron East carried home a victory with them, but they knew they had been in a football battle, for the locals gave them all the football argument they cared to handle. Although, as the saying goes, it's no use crying over spilled milk, the result, at that, might have been different if Ducky Holmes had been in there, the local eleven missing his line plunging, his punting and all around backfield experience.

Both elevens battled at a fifty?fifty gait for the first three quarters, with the visitors having a slight edge in the opening frame.

The Rubber City combine came through with a victory in the final period when, after high had been penalized, they blocked Pusey's punt, recovering the ball on the 10 yard line. They began to ram the Blue and White line, but finding this more or less of a stone wall and quite resistant, they changed their tactics, Quarterback Keeney circling the right end for six yards and a touchdown on the fourth play. They failed to make the point.

Fast football was out of the question considering the condition of the field, both elevens depending largely on line plays for whatever gains they made. First downs were few and far between, the East eleven registering four and the local three.

The visitors went through the local defenses for two first downs in the opening quarter and the same number in the last period. Kidder's squad penetrated the Akron defenses for one in the first period and two in the third.

The Akron lads also had the best of the punting end of the game, Johnson out-kicking Pusey.

The game for the first three quarters was anybody's, the battle being mostly fought between the forty and fifty yard lines. Neither team got within scoring distance in the first three quarters, and what few breaks there were went to the Akron lads.

The game looked very much like it was to be a scoreless contest until Pusey's punt was blocked.

Neither goal line was much in danger after the Akronites had crossed the line for their touchdown and the teams continued to battle even until the end of the contest.

All the highs played heads up football all the way, Pusey and Bromby being their biggest ground gainers. For the Akron boys Keeney and Johnson were outstanding stars.

More hard luck struck the local highs when Dick Larkins was forced to leave the game on account of a dislocated shoulder. The loss of Larkins will be a severe blow to the team for Dick was the leading mainstay on the line and practically the brains of the eleven.

LEAGUE CHAMPS WILL BANQUET

Laughlin Players, Fans Will Celebrate Thursday.

Arrangements are nearing perfection for the baseball banquet and celebration to be staged by the Homer Laughlin 1926 City Industrial league champions on Thursday evening at Larkin's restaurant annex.

Players of the Laughlin club, which captured the league pennant after a spirited five game series with the Chester nine, together with league officials and fans will attend the banquet.

A number of entertainment features are billed for the evening, including selections by Red Mack's quartet and a string orchestra.

Tickets for the banquet are being sold to fans for $1.00.

Effete East Shocked By Little Geneva's Victory Over Harvard

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. — The effete east was still shocked today by Harvard's 16 to 7 defeat at the hands of little Geneva's strong football team, coached by Bo McMillan of Center college fame. However, supporters of Arnold Norween, Harvard's new coach, declared that the setback, Harvard's first opening-game defeat in 50 years, will go far toward conditioning the team for its big games.

Amherst furnished another surprise by holding Princeton to a 14 to 7 score, while Yale, the other member of the big three, slaughtered Boston university, 51 to 0.

The 6 and 6 deadlock between Pittsburgh and Georgetown revealed that these colleges have strong teams, with an especially powerful defense.

The Dartmouth-Hobart, Pennsylvania-Johns Hopkins and Syracuse-Vermont contests resulted in walkovers for the big teams, as expected. The Navy made an impressive showing in defeating Purdue, 17 to 13, while the Army, after being fought to a standstill for three periods by Detroit, finally got going and won, 21 to 0, with the aid of Harry Wilson.

THORPE SCORES TWO TOUCHDOWNS

With Jim Thorpe, old Carlisle star, proving a big factor in the attack, the Canton Bulldogs defeated the Louisville Colonels in a National league battle yesterday at Canton. Thorpe scored two touchdowns.

The Dayton Triangles barely defeated Buffalo, 3 to 0, at Buffalo, and Akron Pros won from Hammond, 17 to 0, at Akron, in other Ohio "pro" engagements.

MOUNTS DEFEAT HEIDELBERG, 14-0

Mount Union defeated Heidelberg at Alliance Saturday on a muddy field, 14 to 0. A fumble in the first period lead the way to the first marker. A forty-five yard run by Capt. Lamar Armstrong towards the close of the game brought the final count. The visitors failed to make a first down.

Stiff Program of Workouts Carded For Newell Eleven

A stiff program of practice sessions has been lined up for Newell Laughlin gridders for this week.

The pottery combine is billed for four workouts, the first of which will be held this evening. Additional drills are scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

The Laughlin eleven will take in not only pottery plant performers but football players from any place in the district. Membership on the club is not restricted to the pottery.

Players have been requested to report tonight or on any of the subsequent practice nights at 5:30 o'clock to Coach Ernest Bucher at Newell park.

Officials of the Laughlin eleven are in touch with several teams for the opening game.

CULLER VICTOR IN RIFLE SHOOT

Other scores were: George Douglass, 164; J. Springer, 162; S. Miller, 142; H. Stewart, 146; G. Menough, 104; F. Snowden, 135; Reynolds, 155.

Rymer had high score of 48 out of 50 on single target.

SALEM GRIDDERS TRIM AKRON TEAM

Salem high tore the Akron Garfield eleven to shreds Saturday at Reilly Field, Salem, winning by the score of 32 to 0. Salem scored in every period but the first.

With the game clinched, the Salem mentor used a large number of sub-

Second Game Sets New Receipts Mark

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A world's record was established yesterday when 63,000 fans paid $201,828 to see the second game of the world's series. The former record, made at Yankee stadium in the fifth game of the 1923 series, was an attendance of 62,817 and receipts of $201,549.

Counting "dead-heads" it was estimated that 67,000 saw the game yesterday. The official figures on both games are:

Attendance (paid), 125,258.

Receipts, $490,704.

Advistory council's share $60,105.

Players' share, $204,360.

Clubs' share, $136,238.

Only 67,000 persons present. One felt almost isolated, as it were.

CHICAGO SERIES EVENED AGAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The Chicago city series was all even today as the White Sox and Cubs prepared for the fifth battle of the championship flight. Each has now won two games.

The strong right arm of Ten Blankonship put the American league entry back on even terms with the Nationals in yesterday's pastime. The score was 4 to 0. Ted held the Bruins to six hits and won as he pleased.

Today's game will be played at Comiskey park, home of the White Sox. Red Faber and Charley Root, who opposed each other on the slab in the first game of the series, Root winning, may face each other again today.

Haskin's Letter

It seems almost fair to say that the piper of each outfit was the bravest man in it. When, at the zero hour, a regiment was ordered out of the trenches to charge across a no man's land raked with all manner of explosives and gas, the first man over the top was the bagpiper. The pipe is a rather unwieldy and ponderous instrument which meant that the piper, the first man to face the carnage, did so unarmed. With his pipes madly skirling Bonnie Dundee, D'ye Ken John Peel or some such inspiring tune he dashed toward the enemy and no Scot in the regiment would be slow to follow that pibroch.

It would be difficult to find a more dramatic tale than that of the relief of Lucknow in one of the uprisings in India. A British force had been cut off and invested in the city of Lucknow. The war drums of thousands of native rebels drew nearer and nearer. There was an iron ring around the city. Food and especially water ran low. The British force holding the city were too few to attempt a sortie. There was nothing to do but wait and defend the city until reinforcements came up and broke through the native beseigers. As time passed the situation grew desperate. The commander concluded to surrender and attempt to fix terms with the native maharajahs, despite the fact that he knew it might mean the treacherous massacre of his entire force. He was within minutes of hoist-away was heard the high, shrill skirling of bagpipes: The Campbells are Coming! An especially dramatic fact was that the relief force was made up almost entirely of Campbells, one of the largest clans in all Scotland. Needless to say, the commander altered his decision. The Campbells broke through the native lines, the pipes still playing, and the city was saved.

Scotland Never Conquered.

An interesting theory might be advanced in support of the contention that the Bagpipe is the most effective of martial music. Scotland is the only old country in the world which never has been conquered with the exception of China and Japan.

Two thousand years ago Rome conquered Gaul, which now is France, Spain, Germany, what now is Austria, Belgium, of which the present Holland then was a part, and then set sail for England. England was conquered and the Caesars held it for 480 years. Throughout that period the Roman legions tried desperately to take Scotland. Army after army was thrown against the border but not one ever effectively broke through.

The Danes conquered at least the eastern half of England at a later date. The section they held to this day is called the Danelaw. But when they attempted to take bleak Scotland they were thrust back.

William the Conqueror conquered England in 1066, long after the Romans had abandoned it and throughout the reigns of the Conqueror and his successors attempt after attempt was made to subjugate Scotland but ing a flag of truce when faint and far not one succeeded. To be sure, later attempts of the Scotch to take England by military onslaught of Rome land by military operations failed but throughout the centuries, from the first onslaught of Rome in the time of Christ, Scotland held her stony mountains against all invaders. Finally she took England. The son of Mary Queen of Scots became King of England as well as of Scotland and his descendants still reign. The present dynasty came to the throne because of the marriage of the daughter of James Stuart, King of England and Scotland, to a German Princess.

With all the wars that have gone in the world, with the fall of such mighty empires as those of Alexander the Great, of Rome, of Persia, and of Islam, Scotland has remained intact in the hands of the Scots. And of all these nations Scotland alone has the bagpipe. The train of historical facts might almost convince one that the pipes are the greatest martial instruments. Some wags who are prejudiced against the instrument have said that the explanation is that no one can stand the sound. The real fact is that it is so inspiring to its followers that they prove irresistible in warfare.

So far back as history goes some form of music has been used as a stimulus to fighting men. The most primitive people used rude drums. Later cymbals came into use; finally crudely made reed wind instruments. Through the centuries martial music has developed to the elaborately organized military bands of today.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912.

of The East Liverpool Review-Tribune, published daily except Sunday, at East Liverpool, Ohio, for October 1st, 1926.

STATE OF OHIO, COUNTY OF COLUMBIANA, ss.

Before me, a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared D. M. Krug, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of the East Liverpool Publishing Company, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, and business managers are:

Publisher—The East Liverpool Publishing Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

Editor—Frank R. O'Hanlon, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Business Manager—D. M. Krug, East Liverpool, Ohio.

2. Owners—names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of the total amount of stock are: The East Liverpool Publishing Co., T. S. Brush, K. I. Brush, of New York City, W. H. Vodrey, M. E. Golding, F. R. O'Hanlon, all of East Liverpool; L. H. Brush, M. L. Snowden, F. P. Pow, M. S. Brush, E. W. Silver, all of Salem, O.; Mrs. A. M. Brush, Canton, Ohio

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: The First National Bank, East Liverpool, Ohio.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appear upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders, who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the six months preceding the date shown above is 12,253.

D. M. KRUG, Manager.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of October.

AGNES O'HANLON, Notary Public.

SIDELIGHTS ON CARDS' VICTORY

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Alex wasn't any bargain for the first two innings. After that, he was a piece of Irish lace among the cotton remnants.

Ruth emulated the ostrich in the ninth when he buried his head in some gent's abdomen after a vain stab at Thevenow's liner in the ninth. Our Mr. Ruth finally regained the poise for which he is so famous, but by that time Mr. Thevenow had ambled around the bases for a trick home run.

The boys didn't seem to care much for Happy Henry O'Day's viewpoint on balls and strikes. Henry pacified the young men with his kindly, forgiving smile. That's Henry's way every time.

Our Mr. Ruth strove mightily at all times, but I might be pardoned for saying that the Cards were all against him, particularly Hornsby. Rogers made the best play of the series Sunday in spearing Ruth's smash toward right field in the ninth. There hasn't been a lot of good plays at that. And not a lot of bad ones.

It was outeast day at the stadium and the poor little waifs were happy for once. One of them was Grover Alexander. He fanned ten, allowed only four hits and retired the side in order in seven of the nine innings. Only one ball, in fact, was hit out of the infield during the last six innings.

Oh yes, the Yankees love speed. They love a punch in the nose, too.

Outcast No. 2 was Billy Southworth. Whereas Alexander was chased out of Chicago, Billy was sent forth into the world from New York itself. Billy broke McGraw's heart when he eased that homer of his into the bleachers.

I know why they call him sad. Jones was the saddest relief pitcher of the year.

Bottomley has been the hitting hero of the series to date. Neither Ruth nor Hornsby has hit their stride, although Rogers staked himself to a good afternoon yesterday with a double, a pass and a sacrifice.

Southworth, of course, was the big gun of the victory with a home run and two singles in five times up. It was enough to cause Mr. McGraw to break right down and weep on the nearest vest.

The Cards were just beginning to wonder how much the loser's share would be, anyhow, when they broke loose in the third inning. Those singles by Douthit, Southworth and Bottomley convinced the Cardinals that they were a ball club and this was a world's series.

Flying Gets Safer.

Between 1919 and March 31, 1926, air transport flying under British control covered a total of 4,563,000 miles with only four accidents, causing thirteen deaths. This is equivalent to one accident in every forty-six trips around the world.

Habana will spend $3,000,000 in repairing its streets.

Relics From 5000-Year-Old City Are Analyzed at Field Museum

Included in Chicago Collection is Perfect Specimen of Painted Pottery Manufactured by "Forgotten Art."

CHICAGO. — Relics from the ruins of a "lost" Sumerian city which was destroyed by fire more than 5,000 years ago, have been received from Prof. Stephen Landon, leader of the Field Museum-Oxford University Mesopotamian expedition, it was announced today by Stanley Field, president of the Museum.

Included in the large collection is a perfect specimen of painted pottery manufactured by a "forgotten art" and unearthed by Prof. Landon in the ruins of Jamdet Nasr, which he discovered recently and now describes as one of the earliest known sites of civilization. The pot is highly colored and is in the shape of a water container with three holes pierced in the top for the purpose of suspension.

According to Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of the Museum's department of anthropology, who is studying and classifying the relics, the painted ware and household utensils may serve to throw much light on unanswered questions regarding one of the world's first civilizations.

The collection also includes many finely wrought gold and carnelian beads, carved cylinder seals of lapis lazuli, onyx and carnelian, spindles and spindle whorls of bone and clay, "books" in the form of inscribed bricks, copper hair pins and dishes, small clay statutes of animals and mythical figures, and a number of beautifully carved bas reliefs of lions and other beasts. A score of human skulls, unearthed in the main cemetery of Kish and at Jamdet Nasr, were also received at the Museum.

Systematic excavation, which has been in progress for several years in the vicinity of Kish, has revealed the presence of not one but several "lost" cities, among them what may be the site of the "lost city of Opis," long sought by the early Greek geographers, Prof. Landon reports.

Actual field work was suspended during the hot summer months, but will be resumed in the late fall, it was announced.

Keep Pimples away

WHY do you let those unsightly pimples, blackheads and blotches disfigure your skin and ruin your appearance? You can keep them away if you keep your system full of rich, red blood. And not only that, but the very texture of your skin will be soft and velvet like—and the coloring radiant as a rose.

It's all in the blood. And S. S. S. will help Nature keep your blood rich and red and pure.

Yes, you can keep pimples away, simply by taking S. S. S. That's a fact. The kind of red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build makes your skin beautiful—clears it up just like it puts firm flesh on you—brings strength to weak, flabby muscles—gives you an appetite like you used to have and generates the energy and vitality of youth throughout your entire system. S.S.S.

Just try it and see for yourself! All druggists sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

"ACROSS THE PACIFIC!"

Three words swept with adventure! Three words of luring wanderlust that launch the heart on strange seas! Three words that give the soul wings and send it soaring into spice-laden lands! A title that teems with the vagabondage spirit! That tempts the senses with seductive pleasures. "Across the Pacific"! How it rings with a thousand unknown delights! New sounds. New sights. New tastes. New loves! The sorcery of the unseen! The spell of unlearned mysteries!
